CAMPBELL ORDERED BROUGHT TO DISTRICT BUT APPEALS RULING

Baker Case Figure Loses Fight at Alexandria Hearing.

SUSPECT'S LAWYERS ASK REVIEW BY JUDGE

Hold U. S. Commissioner Refused Testimony of Witnesses.

DELAYS PROCEEDING AT LEAST FORTNIGHT

Suspect's Guilt or Innocence Not Involved, Phillips Says of Hearing.

Federal Judge D. Lawrence Groner will be asked to ignore the recommendation of United States Commissioner J. Barton Phillips that Herbert M. Campbell be removed to the District to stand trial for the murder of Mary E. Baker.

The ruling of Commissioner Phillips that the Government had sufficient evidence to cause the removal of the suspect was given following a hearing yesterday before a large crowd in the Alexandria Corporation Court.

Charles Henry Smith, counsel for the accused, immediately filed notice that he would ask Judge Groner to review the proceedings, contending that Commissioner Phillips failed to abide by a previous ruling of Judge Groner that the likelihood of Campbell's guilt should be shown and that the commissioner also refused to permit rebuttal testimony.

Case Delayed Fortnight.

Mr. Smith learned that Judge Groner is on vacation and it is likely that the case will not be reviewed by him for at least a fortnight.

In declining the attempt of Mr. Smith to offer alibi testimony, Commissioner Phillips explained that he merits of the case or to decide as to had no authority to consider the the guilt or innocence of the prisoner.

The commissioner explained that the only testimony he could permit would be to rebut the only facts involved in the hearing. These facts were, he said, whether there was probable cause for removal, whether the defendant was the man named in the warrant, and whether he was in the District of Columbia on the day of the crime.

Admits Being in District.

On the witness stand Campbell admitted, under examination by Assistant United States Attorney Callom B. Jones, that he was the person named in the warrant and that he was in the District on April 11, the day of the murder.

Campbell pleaded not guilty to the murder charge, denied emphatically that he knew Miss Baker, and detailed the alibi upon which he rests his hopes for vindication.

Campbell was allowed to detail his movements on the day of the murder and upon completion of his testimony Commissioner Phillips upheld the objection of Mr. Jones that alibi testimony was irrelevant.

Mr. Jones asked Campbell if he was in the District of Columbia on the day of the murder. He replied affirmatively and was excused.

Detective Gives Testimony.

The prosecution rested its case after Detective Sergt. John Flaherty, of the Washington homicide squad, had testified to the technical facts that Campbell is the man named in the warrant and that he was in the District on April 11.

Mr. Smith tried in several ways to introduce testimony corroborative of Campbell's outline of his movements on the day of the crime. Coroner B. H. Swain, of Arlington County, the first defense witness called, testified concerning the finding of Miss Baker's body near a culvert close by Sheridan gate of the Arlington Cemetery on April 12.

It was apparent that the defense was planning to contest the Government's allegation that the crime was committed in the District.

Dispute on Technical Point.

Some delay in the proceedings was occasioned when Herbert S. Ward, associate defense counsel, entered an objection to the fugitive warrant under which the hearing was arranged.

The dispute was purely on a technical point, but the situation was remedied when Samuel W. Hardy, of the Department of Justice, swore out a new warrant in which the charges in the indictment against Campbell were repeated. It charged that Campbell shot and strangled the girl.

Mr. Ward's argument was that the original warrant had no connection with the indictment.

In the crowded courtroom where Mrs. Ruth Callahan Campbell, the prisoner's wife; Mr. and Mrs. Loudoun Campbell, his parents; Edwin Callahan, his stepson; Mrs. Alice Says: When sales in so many other directions have been decreasing, an increase of one and one-half per cent in the sales of life insurance for the first seven months of the year is wonderfully encouraging. It becomes all the more so when the stupendous amount involved of seven and three-quarters billions of dollars is considered. That means that the people of the United States, who already have over one hundred billions of insurance, are purchasing additional protection of over one billion dollars each month.

The number of policies issued considerably increased, showing that this is not confined to a few of the rich, but represents a movement of the people on an unprecedented scale.

This is a factor of the first magnitude and of far-reaching consequences in the advancement of economic democracy. Seventy million people on a sound insured basis has a financial and moral effect that can not be estimated. It is a demonstration of physical, mental, and material health. These people are committed to self-support, self-government, prudent investment and sound business through the increase and equitable distribution of capital. It is a long step toward abolishing poverty.

CHICAGO UNION CHIEF SLAIN BY GANG GUNS

Companion Is Near Death; Shots Are Fired From Slowly Moving Auto.

ZUTA DATA HUNT PUSHED

Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—One business agent for a plumber's union was shot and killed and another was wounded, perhaps mortally, late today when they were fired upon from a slowly moving, curtained automobile at the intersection of Addison and Northwestern avenues.

The man killed is Charles H. Mulcahy, one of the best known union leaders in the country. His companion, Bernard Ruberry, is reported dying of bullet wounds.

The shooting occurred at the site where construction was recently begun for the new Lane Technical High School, but the job had not yet reached the stage where plumbers are employed. A report recently circulated that gangsters were trying to take control of the plumbers union and that Mulcahy stood in the way was cited as a possible explanation.

Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Police investigating the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, set out tonight on a hunt for another of the safe deposit boxes of Jack Zuta, slain vice monger, who was accused of having instigated the killing of the reporter.

The raiders, who refused to make known their destination were accompanied, as in their previous forays, by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, who signed the search warrants. They declined to say if the box sought is believed to contain $150,000 worth of unset diamonds, to which they were led by notes already found.

A representative of an Eastern jewelry firm, from which the jewels were reported stolen, was called in for possible identification purposes, however, leading to the belief that the gems were the objective of the search.

The box, if found, will be the fifth of Zuta's many caches to be bared. One yielded two rubber bands. Two more gave up a number of checks.

MRS. HAISLIP HURT IN AIRPLANE CRASH

Noted Woman Pilot Flying Here From Atlanta to Enter Dixie Derby.

CRACKS UP AT LANDING

Greenwood, S. C., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. May Haizlip, of St. Louis, noted woman flier, cracked up her plane in an attempted landing eight miles east of here today and was injured seriously.

She was brought to a hopital here unconscious. Physicians said they were unable to make a complete examination because of her condition and could not determine the extent of her injuries. She was still unconscious four hours after the crash.

Mrs. Haizlip was flying from Atlanta to Washington to participate in the women's "Dixie Derby." She apparently lost her way and attempted to land in a cotton field.

One wheel on the landing gear broke as she came down and the plane nosed over.

Miss Vera Dawn Walker, of Los Angeles, was accompanying Mrs. Haizlip to Washington in another plane. She landed safely near the Haizlip craft.

Miss Walker had planned to enter the Dixie Derby, but said she would remain here with Mrs. Haizlip.

St. Louis, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mae Haizlip, seriously injured when her airplane crashed near Greenwood, S. C., today, is a veteran among women pilots, having started flying five years ago. She holds a transport license.

Mrs. Haizlip is the wife of James Haizlip, aviator and assistant to James Doolittle, head of the aviation department of a petroleum corporation here. She was on her way to Washington to participate in the women's "Dixie Derby." The Haizlips formerly resided in Tulsa, Okla.

Half a dozen or more light planes entered in the Washington-to-Chicago Woman's Dixie Air Derby will leave Washington Airport at 11 a. m. tomorrow, following a round of enter-

CHINESE REDS BURN WUSUEH; 6,000 IN PERIL

Pounce Down From Hills to Loot Historic City Near Kiukiang.

BRIGANDS IMPERIL MANY FOREIGNERS

Torrential Rains Cause Civil War to Lag, With Rebels Losing.

NATIONAL VICTORY IN SIGHT, IS CLAIM

Reunited Country Will Have Complete Sovereignty, Official Says.

Hankow, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The torch of Communism flared again today in China, to burn the town of Wusueh, 27 miles from the Yangtze River City of Kiukiang, with its large foreign settlement.

A red band charged down through the hills about Wusueh, looted its population of 6,000 and ruthlessly destroyed the town, made famous by the resistance there of the Taiping rebels more than 80 years ago. The Yangtze narrows at this place and across it the ucaiping religious fanatics stretched great chains, blocking passage of the imperial fleet.

As the Communists approached, refugees streamed out upon the countryside, fearing for their lives and abandoning their property.

A Japanese gunboat was ordered to Wusueh to protect foreigners. The town is a market for rock salt mined nearby.

Civil War Lags.

Communist armies which sacked and partly destroyed Changsha late last month and later threatened the other large cities of Hankow, Nanchang and Kiukiang, apparently were frightened away by foreign warships, which were rushed to the protection of their nationals.

Breaking into smaller bands, the Reds have been pillaging smaller places, avoiding cities where the Nationalist government has concentrated small bodies of troops withheld from its campaign against the northern alliance rebellion in Honan and Shantung provinces.

The civil war itself has lagged, hampered by torrential rains which turned canals into rivers and converted battle fields into quagmires. After three months of fighting during which battle lines moved south, then north, responding to the drive of the northerners and their repulse by government arms, the issue remains undecided.

Nationals Claim Victory.

Temporarily, at least, the Nationalists have the advantage. Thrusting the rebels from captured Tsinan, the

CITY-WIDE QUIZ DUE ON BENCH GRAFT CHARGE

Governor of New York Is to Probe Alleged Judgeship Sale.

APPELLATE DIVISION JUSTICES WILL ACT

Tammany Leader Quits Under Fire Following Ewald Scandal.

ALSO GIVES UP POST AS PARTY CHIEFTAIN

U. S. Attorney Again Seeks to Have Him and Others Cited for Contempt.

New York, Aug. 20 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Before noon tomorrow, it was practically assured tonight, Gov. Roosevelt will ask the presiding justices of the appellate division in the first and second departments if they will undertake a citywide inquiry of the reported buying and selling of appointments to the magistrates' bench.

The governor was at work tonight on letters to Presiding Justice Victor J. Dowling, of the first department, embracing New York, the Bronx, and to Presiding Justice Edward Lazansky, of the Second Department, embracing Richmond, Staten Island, Brooklyn and Queens and the remainder of Long Island.

He had been advised that under enlargement of its supervisory authority over inferior courts by law last winter, the appellate division can conduct its own inquiry into methods by which magistrates have obtained their appointments, as well as into their conduct after mounting the bench.

While the governor was preparing to take his next step, the following important developments came in the Ewald case:

1. Martin J. Healy resigned as deputy commissioner of plant and structures, and, it was reported, submitted also his resignation from his Tammany leadership in the Nineteenth Assembly District.

2. Healy, Mrs. Bertha Ewald, wife of the former magistrate, and Thomas T. Tommaney again refused to testify before the Federal grand jury, and United States Attorney Tuttle again asked Judge Burrows to cite them for contempt. The judge reserved decision until Friday.

3. Deputies of Attorney General Ward took over the papers in the Ewald case and began preparations to present it to the special grand jury at the extraordinary term of the Supreme Court to be convened September 15, before Justice Philip J. McCook, in accordance with orders of Gov. Roosevelt.

BEAN URGES REBUKE FOR 14 POLICEMEN IN ILLEGAL ARRESTS

Democrats in Illinois Denounce Rum Laws

'Dripping Wet' Plank Is Voted as Republicans Are Criticized.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Denunciation of prohibition, demand for repeal of the Volstead act, the Jones five and ten law, the Illinois search and seizure act, and enactment of legislation legalizing light wines and beer, were salient points of the platform adopted at the Democratic State convention today.

The dripping wet plank, sponsored by members of the powerful Cook County group headed by Anton J. Cermak, was presented after a bitter denunciation of the liquor laws by the party's senatorial standard bearer, James Hamilton Lewis.

"Prohibition," he said, "has deprived us of character as 'citizens of a State' and made us 'subjects of a province.' Such tyranny it was that parted us, as a country, from England."

Some opposition to an unequivocal antiprohibition platform had been

Two Slated for Formal Reprimands as Result of Shady Tactics.

ACTION PROMPTED BY HART'S DISCLOSURES

Pair of Privates Scored for Making Seizures Minus Warrant.

ONLY TWO CHARGES GO TO PROSECUTOR

Both Valid, Says Attorney Responsible for Inquiry by Inspector.

Reprimand of two patrolmen and the warning of two police lieutenants, a sergeant and nine privates, who took part in the raids and arrests for liquor law violations which were thrown out of court Monday by Assistant District Attorney David A. Hart, was recommended yesterday by Inspector T. R. Bean, who was assigned by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, to investigate the arrests.

Privates J. I. Mason and A. R. G. Houch, of the Sixth Precinct, were the two men recommended for formal reprimand in the report Inspector Bean submitted to Maj. Pratt.

Mason and Houch, the report said, applied to the District attorney's office for a warrant charging Robert V. Jones and his wife, Rose Mary Jones, both colored, with conducting a disorderly house at the home on B street northwest, near Second street. The warrant was refused, but the policemen on Sunday afternoon entered the Jones' residence and arrested him and his wife, charging them with possession of 41 bottles of home brew. Mr. Hart refused to issue papers when the case was brought to him Monday morning. The policemen said they entered the home after observing several white men enter.

Formal Charges Loom.

"Privates Mason and Houch," Inspector Bean said, "from their statement knew they were entering a private home against the orders of the department, without the proper warrant, and I recommend that they be reprimanded."

This will be done, Maj. Pratt said. Warning probably will be given each of the other officers involved in the other improper arrests, Maj. Pratt said. None of the men involved in the arrests was especially detailed to liquor law enforcement. Formal charges will be filed against the arresting officers in any case in which the persons arrested appear and make complaint, Maj. Pratt said.

The other cases, in which Inspector Bean recommended the officers be formally warned against repetition, were:

Policemen R. J. Barrett and J. Auffenberg, of the Fourth Precinct, who arrested John Delanye, colored, 53 years old, at a crab and fish market run by Delaney on M street southwest near First street, charging him with illegal possession of liquor when they saw a quart bottle of corn whisky on a table at which persons sat and ate crabs and fish.

Heard Women Fighting.

Lieut. John Fowler, Precinct Detective Jones and Private R. F. McCarty, of the Tenth Precinct, arrested Lee White, colored, at his home on Fairmont street northwest near Sixth street. Lieut. Fowler said that they had gone to the residence to see a man and when they arrived the door was open and they saw White putting a half-gallon jar of liquor into a trap at the head of the staircase and the police walked in and found 31 half-gallon jars of liquor.

Privates Williams and McEwen arrested Leonard Roscoe Harris, colored, of Eighth street northwest, near V street, when they entered the house

POLICE GET DETAILS OF GIRL'S KIDNAPING

Alleged Abductors Carried Child to Mt. Airy, Woman Tells Authorities.

IDENTITY HELD SECRET

The "big town" to which 16-year-old Retha Smith was taken by two men who kidnaped her August 10 from her farm home near Unity, Md., was identified yesterday as Mount Airy, Md., by the woman in whose care the girl was left.

The woman called yesterday on Chief of Police A. A. Moxley at Rockville, Md., and declared that Christopher C. Campbell and another man, both of whom police are seeking, brought the girl to her boarding house last Thursday and left her there.

The woman, whose name is withheld by police, said that Campbell had taken the girl first to a hotel at Mount Airy and without leaving the car himself, had given the girl $3 and sent her in to get a room.

However, the hotel had no unoccupied rooms and referred her to the boarding house nearby. Again Campbell allegedly remained in the automobile when he is said to have sent the girl into the boarding house for quarters.

The woman said that Retha had "no clothes," that she was wearing nothing except a pair of shoes and a grimy house dress. Her only funds were the $3 which, the girl said, Campbell had given her.

Chief Moxley explained that the woman told him she had given Retha a dress and used the money to buy the girl some underwear and had received no compensation for the girl's lodging.

On Sunday, she said, she saw the account of the kidnaping in The Washington Post and recognized Retha as the girl named and brought her home.

Campbell is sought by police on a charge of abduction, for which he may receive a sentence of eighteen years' imprisonment, and another charge of criminal assault, for which the penalty in Maryland is death.

His companion, whose name is withheld by Chief Moxley, is sought on an abduction charge for allegedly assisting Campbell in the kidnaping.

CAREY'S NOMINATION IN WYOMING CERTAIN

Has Large Lead Over Rivals in Republican Primary for Senate Contest.

DEMOCRATIC VOTE LIGHT

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Former Gov. Robert D. Carey continued to increase his lead in the Republican senatorial contest for the long and short term nominations, as additional precincts reported today from yesterday's primary election.

With 439 of Wyoming's 679 precincts reported, Carey had a lead of approximately 4,000 over Charles E. Winter, his closest competitor. The vote was: Carey, 13,050; Winter, 9,054; William C. Deming, 3,594; W. L. Walls, 2,146.

Returns on the short-term nomination came in slowly, but the rank of the candidates was the same as in the race for the regular six-year-term nomination.

Only a few of the 240 precincts yet to be heard from are large city polling places and it was regarded as unlikely the present standing of the Republican contests would be materially altered by the final returns. Carey led in all but six counties.

The Democratic vote was light in most counties, because there were no party contests.

Incumbents seeking renomination for state offices and for representative in Congress were believed assured victory. Gov. Frank C. Emmerson, who carried 22 of the State's 23 counties, led the Republican ticket with 20,642, to defeat W. R. Edelman, State treasurer, for the gubernatorial nomination.

Representative Vincent Carter had a lead of more than 6,000 over Harry B. Henderson, Cheyenne, his closest rival, in the three-cornered contest for the nomination for representative in Congress. The vote was Carter, 14,324; Henderson, 8,042; J. G. Hartwell, Lusk, 3,782.

Mrs. McPherson Given Ballot of Confidence

More Than 100 Leaders of Angelus Temple Declare Faith in Woman Evangelist Although Mother Asserts Illness Is "Just Blah."

Los Angeles, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—More than 100 leaders of Angelus Temple today adopted a resolution of confidence in their evangelist pastor, Aimee Semple McPherson, while Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, her mother, declared stories of Mrs. McPherson's illness and asserted blindness to be "just blah."

Mrs. Kennedy said the evangelist was recovering from a "face lifting" operation at a Malibu Beach cottage. "It was necessary to bandage her whole face and I think this is where the blindness story started," she continued.

Indication that all might not be entirely peaceful at Angelus Temple because of developments of the case was given by "Sister" Mary E. Sullivan, however.

Sister Sullivan told the gathering of leaders that "Aimee's prison girls are all giving her support. They all are praying for her, but I am having a hard time keeping them from forming a league against Ma Kennedy."

The announcement was greeted by applause and cheering. Sister Sullivan refused to answer newspapermen's queries concerning the identity of the "prison girls."

At the beach cottage it was variously stated Mrs. McPherson was suffering from a face-lifting operation, a nervous collapse, blindness and need of a rest. Mrs. McPherson herself was quoted as saying:

"I'm just a sick girl—but I'll be all right soon."

An official announcement at Angelus Temple said:

"The latest news from Sister McPherson is that she is somewhat improved this morning. Please continue to pray earnestly."

Members of the "Four Square Gospel" Church have been praying since the announcement yesterday by Miss Emma Schaeffer, Mrs. McPherson's secretary, that the pastor had lost her sight.

Dr. Edward Huntington Williams, psychiatrist and nerve specialist, after visiting Mrs. McPherson, said:

"She is much improved. Another day of rest and she will be all right. Certainly she can see all right. There's nothing the matter with her eyes. She has not had bandages on her face or eyes since last night."

Most of the talking for publication today about Mrs. McPherson's condition was done by Mrs. Kennedy. She reiterated her reference to a fist fight in which she said she was "floored" by her daughter with the result the mother had to go to the Brentwood Sanitarium to have some face lifting done over near her nose. Mrs. McPherson denied she hit her mother.

Mrs. Kennedy also said Mrs. McPherson had had her face lifted and would admit it and that she left Brentwood Sanitarium when Mrs. Kennedy arrived. According to Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. McPherson had her face partly lifted in Budapest and Mrs. Kennedy had hers lifted here. Mrs. McPherson liked the job done on her mother's face better than her own, the mother averred, and decided to have the job finished. That, purportedly had something to do with the bandages reporters said they saw, through cottage windows, being removed from the evangelist's face.

Tommy Armour, Wed Twice, Is Divorced by His First Wife

Decree Holds Golfer's Second Marriage Invalid and Awards Plaintiff, Recognized as His Only Living Mate, Custody of Child.

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—After years of litigation, during which time he married a second time, Tommy Armour, golf professional, has been divorced by his first wife. Supreme Court Justice Schmuck handed down the decree July 30, but it did not become known until today.

The decree not only divorces Mr. Armour, but declares invalid his marriage to Estelle Andrews, which took place after he had obtained a divorce from his first wife, Consuelo Armour, in Mexico.

The second wife was named by the first wife as corespondent in the action before Judge Wasservogel.

Armour's marital difficulties have been much in the public prints in the past few years. After the Mexican divorce, he was confronted with several suits brought by his first wife. She asked $670,000, but the suits were settled out of court.

The decree declared the first wife is the golfer's only living wife and awarded her custody of Thomas Armour, jr., 7, and $250 a month.

Tommy Armour was golf professional at the Congressional Country Club from the early part of 1926 until the latter part of 1928. During that time he won the national open golf championship at Oakmont, Pa. He left here to play exhibition matches.

Alex (Sandy) Armour, his brother, is the present golf professional at the Congressional Country Club.

Carol May Seek New Queen From French Royal House

Diplomat Partly Confirms Report Roumanian King Will Quit Trying to Make Peace With Helen; Political Situation Complicated.

Vienna, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A diplomat who arrived today from Bucharest partly confirmed reports that King Carol II of Roumania will abandon efforts to dissolve the divorce from Queen Helen and instead will seek another bride.

He said the king probably will seek marriage with a member of the Bourbon-Orleans house of France, whom he met in Paris while he was in exile before taking the Roumanian throne.

A local news agency, meanwhile, denied all such rumors.

A report from Bucharest said Queen Marie has left for Sinaia, the summer capital, in an effort to bring about a reconciliation of the king and queen, but added that the attempt probably will prove futile.

The stand-off between the former exile who now is a king and the woman who divorced him while he was gone has complicated the Roumanian political situation considerably. Julio Maniu, the premier, has announced that he will not preside at the coronation ceremonies unless Helen is crowned beside Carol; hence political circles consider that his attitude may produce a change in the government.

Some predict that in such case Nicholas Titulescu, Roumanian Ambassador to Great Britain, might undertake to form a coalition government. Titulescu, however, has hitherto demanded reconciliation of the king and queen before coronation.

and saw him attempt to dump a half gallon jar of liquor. They said they heard two women fighting and swearing in the house before they entered and arrested them, charging them with disorderly conduct and Harris with illegal possession of liquor.

James Ray Haden and William Cabell, colored, were arrested by Privates William McEwen and Herbert M. Smith in a lunch room on Seventh street northwest near S street when they saw Cabell go to the kitchen and start emptying a jar of liquor when the police entered.

Hart Has Two Cases.

Lieut. Jeremiah A. Sullivan, Sergt. H. C. Blackman, Precinct Detective J. F. Boxwell and Private E. C. O'Meara, arrested James J. Barry, in his near beer saloon on G street at First northwest when they entered the place and saw a pitcher said to contain liquor. When they entered, police said, a colored man jumped out of a window and the lights were put out. They found the liquor with a pocket light. Barry was charged with possession.

Private R. E. Thompson, Sixth Precinct, arrested Daisy Dumbry and Mary Scott, both colored, at a home on Fourth street northwest near G street and charged them with sale and possession. The police said they saw a white man enter the house and they walked to the door which was open and saw one of the women pour liquor into a glass. The policemen entered the house. The man said he had bought a drink from the women and they were arrested, the policemen said.

Mr. Hart had only two cases to consider in Police Court yesterday. Both were made by police and in each instance the defendant was arraigned on a liquor possession charge.

"They were good cases, or at least I considered them good," said the prosecutor.

Attitude of Prosecutor.

Mr. Hart threw the Police Department into a furore Monday when he threw out 13 of 25 charges of violating the prohibition law made by police over the week-end. Following that he revealed that he had advised police to assess only a nominal bond when they made arrests on liquor charges, leaving it up to the Police Court judges and his office to decide whether heavier bonds should be fixed.

"We aren't fighting the police and we aren't after the bondsmen," said Mr. Hart. "All we want is to have liquor raids made in a legal manner. It does seem preposterous, however, for police to assess bonds of $1,500 or $2,500 in a liquor case when they know that when the case reaches our court the bond probably will be reduced to $500."

Mr. Hart's revelation that he had suggested nominal bonds for liquor-law violators was made in response to a question as to whether he believed most of the liquor raids made by police and which were thrown out were not prompted by the fact that the raiders and professional bondsmen are in collusion.

Alleged Thieves Held For Grand Jury Action

Charged with housebreaking, Henry W. Brown, 23 years old, of Fourth street southwest, near I street, and Robert Walker, 22 years old, of L street northwest, near Ninth, both colored, were held for grand jury action yesterday following arraignment in Police Court on housebreaking charges.

The Negroes are alleged to have broken into the establishment of Sam Soloman, jeweler, at 1140 Seventh street northwest, on Monday night. They are said to have purloined several watches and many earrings.

ONE IS KNOWN DEAD IN ELEVATOR BLASTS

Many Workmen in Baltimore Grain Structure When Dust Explodes.

U. S. INQUIRY FORECAST

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A workman was killed and another was missing tonight as the result of a series of dust explosions, followed by fire, which partially wrecked a Western Maryland Railroad grain elevator terminal at the harbor today.

The fire had raged for several hours and nien injured had been sent to hospitals before the body of the dead man, tentatively identified as that of Sylvan Jordan, Negro, was recovered. Other injured were treated at the scene. The loss was estimated at $250,000 by J. A. Peterson, general manager of the elevator. The missing man was Carl Hammill.

Workmen High in Building.

More than a score of workmen were in the structure, some of them at the top, nearly 150 feet from the ground, when the first explosion came. Those not seriously injured climbed down the sides of the structure and the others later were removed in slings.

The elevator stands in two sections which were linked by a pair of frame bridges. One of these spans was shattered by the explosions and fell, carrying several men with it while they were running to safety. The other span was damaged.

Grain Believed Safe.

A total of 31,100,000 bushels of grain was stored in the wrecked section of the elevator, but most of it was believed to be safe.

Harold Anderson, of the United States Department of Agriculture, arrived on the scene early and said an investigation would be started. The elevator, he said, was regarded as one of the safest in the country.

When the fire had been brought under control, a police boat started to drag the harbor nearby for bodies. The bottom was littered with great blocks of concrete, making this operation difficult.

One of the workmen told police he had seen three men blown through windows and hurled about 20 feet from the elevator.

Funeral Dispute Settled Amicably

Body of Charles Nickman Will Be Buried in Washington.

Charles Nickman, who died in Washington Tuesday, will be buried this morning in the Tisserth Israel Congregation Cemetery at Fourteenth and Euclid streets northwest.

This was decided yesterday afternoon after Mrs. Bertha Shaman, of 4921 Georgia avenue northwest, a sister, had sought an injunction in District Supreme Court to restrain removal of the body to Youngstown, Ohio.

Bernard Danzansky, undertaker, of 3501 Fourteenth street northwest, who is in charge of the services and who was named a defendant in the injunction suit, announced that the matter had been amicably settled.

BURNET GIVEN COMMISSION

Underwood & Underwood.

David Burnet yesterday received his commission as Commissioner of Internal Revenue from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in the latter's office. Various other Treasury officials were present. Secretary Mellon is on the right.

BURNET TAKES OATH AS HEAD OF REVENUE

New Commissioner Assumes Duties as Successor to R. H. Lucas.

IS NATIVE OF CINCINNATI

David Burnet, named by President Hoover to succeed Robert H. Lucas as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, assumed his new duties yesterday after the oath of office had been administered at noon by F. A. Birgfield, chief clerk of the Treasury Department.

Mr. Burnet entered the Bureau of Internal Revenue in 1919 as an auditor in the income tax division. He was transferred to the field service as revenue agent in August of the same year, and in 1922 was made chief of the Cincinnati office. On August 1, 1929, he was appointed deputy commissioner in charge of the income tax unit.

The new commissioner is 44 years old, is married, and has three children. His legal residence is in Cincinnati. An informal reception was held in his office yesterday and numerous floral tributes were sent by friends.

Woman Poison Victim Removed to Hospital

A woman who yesterday was removed to Emergency Hospital after she had swallowed poison and who at first gave her name as Mrs. Elizabeth Hall later said her real name was Robinson. She was unable to say where she had lived before taking a room in the house on E street northwest near Second street, where she took the poison.

Though thought to be dying when taken to the hospital, attendants there last night said her condition was improved, although it was still serious. The woman would not give any reason for her act. She took the room Wednesday night and told the landlady she was married but separated from her husband. She also said she had a small son. Her condition is such that police have not been able to question her.

Wife Claims Beatings, Files Divorce Action

Alleging that her husband, Thomas Morrow, of the Eighth Precinct, beat her on August 8, Beatrice Morrow, of N street northwest near Thirtieth street, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to grant her a limited divorce and maintenance.

The wife states that she and Morrow were married October 1, 1924, and have two children. She states that since August 8 she has not lived with him but that on numerous other occasions he has assaulted her and alleges that as a result she has suffered ill health.. She states that she is dependent upon relatives for support in that she has no vocation at which she can make a living. Attorney William B. Wright appears for the wife.

$20,000 Damage Asked By District Policeman

William C. C. Wrenn, of 2626 Tenth street northeast, a member of the District Police Department, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover $20,000 from Adolphus McKenzie, of 5104 Norton street northwest.

Policeman Wrenn alleges that he was performing his duties directing traffic at Thirty-first and M streets northwest when an automobile owned by the defendant felled him.

Capital Optometrists At Ocean City Meeting

Two Washington practitioners are attending the convention of the Maryland Eastern Shore Optometrists at Ocean City today and tomorrow. The pair, Dr. Lewis H. Kraskin and Dr. Joseph Wagenheim, represent the Washington Society at the meeting, which will also entertain guests from Delaware and Virginia.

Three nationally known authorities on optometry will speak. The gathering will terminate with a banquet for the optometrists and the feminine members of their families.

Motorcycle Injures Girl.

A 5-year-old colored girl was injured seriously yesterday when knocked down by a motorcycle at Ninth and New York avenue northwest. The child, Margie Livingstone, of 5245 Karl place northeast, was taken to Emergency Hospital, where it was said she had internal injuries. Frank Kieffer, 43 years old, of 108 C street southwest, was said by police to be the operator of the motorcycle which struck the child.

DRY AGENTS TO PUT SIGNS ON MACHINES

Woodcock Orders Shields to Let Autoists Know Who Is Stopping Them.

MARYLAND CASE CAUSE

(Associated Press.)

An attempt to eliminate a sore spot of prohibition—the inability of motorists in some cases to distinguish Federal officers from robbers—was made yesterday in an order that dry agents on patrol duty must equip their machines with identifying insignia.

Prohibition Director Woodcock announced that the identification will be in the form of large metal shields, 17 by 20 inches. The shield will be hung over the right front door of the agent's machine and Woodcock said it must be displayed when automobiles are halted.

Agitation for some way to distinguish dry agents and other officers, particularly on dark roads at night, has been going on almost since the prohibition law went into effect, and a protest by an automobilist led to the decision yesterday.

While driving through southern Maryland recently, Edward C. Duncan, a State road engineer, was stoped by prohibition agents. Duncan claimed he and his wife were fired upon. He said he had no way of knowing the men were officers.

The Maryland Automobile Association took up the case and the announcement came after a conference between Woodcock and association officials.

It was suggested that the prohibition agents doing road patrol duty be put into uniform, but Woodcock disapproved this idea. The suggestion has been made before and while James M. Doran was prohibition commissioner. He said at one time that dry officers doing open patrol work on highways would be given uniforms. The plan, however, was never put into effect.

Lost Builder Is Found Wandering in Woods

A three-day search for Joseph T. Mills, 59 years old, of 30 Madison street northeast, ended yesterday with the finding of the building contractor wandering in a dazed condition in the woods just off the Conduit road, near Cabin John Bridge.

Mills, who was found by Montgomery County Policeman Theodore F. Vollion, of the Bethesda substation, could give no explanation of his disappearance. He was in a highly nervous state.

Georgia Woman Held In Capital Man's Death

Mrs. Ruth Cross, of Brunswick, Ga., held in the McIntosh County (Ga.). Jail in connection with the disappearance and alleged slaying of Frank Negail, Washington decorator, was held on a misdemeanor charge, that of accessory after the fact, at a preliminary hearing yesterday in Brunswick before two justices of the peace, according to the Associated Press.

The woman's bond was fixed at $500, which friends said would be posted today. She will be tried at the next session of the McIntosh superior court.

WILLIAM B. BECKER RITES.

Funeral Services Will Be Held Friday in Chapel.

Funeral services for William B. Becker, who died suddenly at his home at 1135 Tenth street northwest on Tuesday, will be held Friday at the Immaculate Conception Church at 9:30 o'clock. He will be buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. Becker, who was 61 years old, had been assistant accountant at Potomac Yards of the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad for 23 years. He worked up to the day of his death. He is survived by his wife, Rose M. Becker, two children, Francis M. and Gertrude, and there grandchildren.

Mr. Becker was born in Washington and had lived here all his life, save for a short period between 1908 and 1920, when he lived in Potomac, Va. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Modern Woodmen of America.

American Dies on Train in Mexico.

Tampico, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—H. C. A. Maisonville, publicity director of the Pere Marquette Railroad at Detroit, died early this morning aboard a special train en route to Mexico City and the body was started back to Detroit in a special baggage car this afternoon.

BOARD MAPS CREDIT AID FOR ARID AREAS

Machinery to Let Farmers Have Funds at 6 Per Cent Proposed.

BANKERS' CALL ISSUED

(Associated Press.)

A proposal to establish State or local credit corporations to arrange loans to drought-stricken farmers through intermediate credit banks at a maximum interest of 6 per cent was advanced at the initial meeting yesterday of President Hoover's national drought relief committee.

Banking representatives on State relief committees now being organized throughout the drought area were called to meet here next Tuesday to put the financial program in more definite form.

Meeting at the White House, the committee went over the situation with the President and appraised the relief facilities of each agency represented. All members were present except Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker. Secretary Hyde, the chairman, announced it also had been decided to use immediately for seed loans the $800,000 remaining of a $6,000,000 fund appropriated at the last session of Congress for relief in more than a dozen States.

States Are Specified.

As the act specified the States in which the fund was to be expended, Secretary Hyde said the $800,000 could be used in only a few of the drought States—Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri and Montana.

R. H. Aishton, representing the American Railway Association on the committee, said the emergency freight rates on feed and cattle now in effect in the East and South will be extended to Western territory tomorrow.

The idea of local credit corporations is similar to that followed in the Mississippi flood disaster. The Federal Farm Loan Board was asked to supervise the task of creating the organizations if the proposal is agreed upon at the bankers' conference next week.

Maximum Rate 6 Per Cent.

Under the tentative plan the local or State credit agencies would arrange for loans to farmers on easy security, indorse them and turn them over to the intermediate credit banks. The credit corporations would be permitted to charge 2 per cent more than the 4 per cent interest now charged by the intermediate banks, making the maximum interest to the farmer 6 per cent. Hyde estimated that approximately $20,000,000 would meet the loan demands of the corporation.

No evidence of profiteering was submitted to the meeting, but some fear was said to have been expressed that advantage might be taken of farmers in their feed purchases. In this connection the committee discussed the places where hay and wheat could be purchased at reasonable prices.

The movement of cattle to market, Hyde said, had not as yet reached "alarming proportions." He added that C. B. Denman, Farm Board member, was arranging for shipments of Montana cattle to sections where feed could be obtained.

Gastonia Rioting Sentences Upheld

North Carolnia Supreme Court Finds No Error in Trial of Seven.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Seven convictions of murder and four of rioting, growing from textile strike disturbances in North Carolina last year, were upheld today by the State Supreme Court.

The court held there was no error in the trial of seven labor leaders and Gastonia strikers found guilty of second degree murder of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police, and that Alfred Hoffman, organizer for the United Textile Workers of America, and three Marion strikers had been duly convicted of rioting. The defendants in both cases are now under bond.

Those convicted of slaying Aderholt were Fred Erwin Beal, of Lawrence, Mass., Southern organizer for the National Textile Workers Union and leader of the Gastonia strikes; Clarence Miller, of New York, organizer for the Youth's Communist League; Joseph Harrison, Passaic, N. J.; George Carter, Mizpah, N. J., W. M. McGinnis, Louis McLaughlin and K. Y. Hendricks, of Gastonia.

6,000 Singers to Take Part in Chicago Fete

Chicago, Aug. 30 (A.P.).—Six thousand singers and 1,800 musicians of 22 band, drum and bugle corps will participate in the Chicagoland music festival Saturday night at Soldiers Field, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune and 40 other newspapers of five Central States.

A chorus of 5,000 voices will sing "Hallulujah" from "The Messiah," and a chorus of 1,000 Negroes will sing spirituals. To achieve realism 25 electrically charged anvils, which will emit sparks when struck, will be used when the anvil chorus from "Faust" is sung and a detachment of soldiers will fire out over Lake Michigan when the bands near the conclusion of the "Overture of 1812," portraying Napoleon at Moscow.

G. O. P. AND OFFICIAL CORN FIGURES CLASH

Caraway Says Republicans Want Farmer to Think His Mortgage a Myth.

LEADERS MAP CAMPAIGN

While Republican leaders were getting under way their educational program for the fall campaign, the Democratic national committee yesterday issued a statement from Senator Caraway (Democrat), Arkansas, suggesting that teaching the Einstein theory would be child's play beside the task the Republicans have mapped out for themselves.

Senator Caraway, who is actually in Washington — which makes him unique among those whose statements have been broadcast recently by the two party headquarters—took some caustic shots at recent declarations by Representative Will Wood, of Indiana, and Senator McNary, of Oregon, who sought to educate the electorate in the benefits of a tariff on corn.

"Einstein's theory, which he said only twelve people in the world were competent to understand, has nothing on the mathematics of the eminent Republican spokesmen who are elucidating the tariff benefits to agriculturists of the country that the Grundy act has conferred," Senator Caraway said.

Import Figures Back Claim.

As to Mr. Wood's statement that the tariff has saved a half billion dollars for the farmer by keeping out a flood of corn from the Argentine, Senator Caraway pointed out that the total Argentine corn crop is only one-tenth of American consumption and that prior to the Grundy act corn imported from that country equaled one-fiftieth of 1 per cent of domestic production.

"But my esteemed colleague, Senator McNary of Oregon, chairman of the committee on agriculture, furnishes an equation beside which Einstein's hypothesis that a straight line is curved and that space is devouring matter is as lucid as the multiplication table," Senator Caraway went on.

He recalled Senator McNary's recent declaration that 30,000 tons of Argentine corn are used monthly in three Northwestern States, and cited Tariff Commission figures showing that Argentine corn imported into the United States in July amounted to 302 tons.

Scathing Comment Made.

"The answer must be that innumerable shiploads of South American grain are being smuggled through our ports in the false bottoms of passenger trunks, or, perhaps, like diamonds in the passenger's bootheels," Senator Caraway commented. "Nobody would, of course, challenge the statistics furnished by the customs houses. Figures can not lie—which might be a rather broad statement in regard to the gentlemen who are trying to tell the farmer that his poverty is an abstraction, his mortgage a myth, and his bankruptcy a mental state."

At Republican headquarters yesterday Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, of West Virginia, took over her duties as director of the women's division. Disregarding the precedent set last week when Robert H. Lucas became executive director of the national committee, Mrs. Yost took office without any blare of public statements.

She said her first job would be to get in touch with Republican national committeewomen and that "until I have learned from the Republican women in the States the needs for thus carrying forward the party work I, naturally, will not be in a position to outline full plans for the future."

ATTORNEYS REFUSE TO HALT RUM VOTE

American Bar Association Decides, 5 to 1, to Record Its View.

COPIOUS LAWS DECRIED

Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.). — The American Bar Association, opening the general sessions of its fifty-third annual convention today, refused, by a vote of 5 to 1, to withdraw its current referendum on repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The lawyers—more than 2,000 of them, from all parts of the country—also rejected a recommendation that they oppose farm relief and heard Chairman George W. Wickersham explain the progress of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission.

The convention was barely through the preliminary courtesies of welcome addresses, when Judge James F. Ailshie, of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, attacked the prohibition referendum as a political question upon which the bar association should not commit itself. He introduced a resolution demanding an immediate withdrawal of the poll without canvassing.

Resolution Unconstitutional.

Former President A. L. Newlin, of the association, declared the referendum could not now be withdrawn, since more than 1,500 ballots already had been circulated among the members, and he moved the Ailshie resolution was out of order and unconstitutional. President Henry Upson Sims, presiding, so ruled.

Ailshie appealed to the convention, and that body upheld the ruling of the chair. The referendum, launched last spring by the executive committee, is expected to be complete by November.

Mr. Wickersham thought it not unnatural that "the general attitude of mind of the average American is not law-abiding," pointing out the great number of State and Federal statutes being turned out annually and biennially, as well as laws already enacted.

Voluminous Laws Cited.

"With statute laws already in existence filling 3,500 volumes, with some million and a half pages, any general acceptance of statute law as imposing a moral obligation on the citizen could hardly be expected," he added.

"Good citizenship must acquiesce in the law as it is for the time being," he said. "There can be no individual right to elect what laws one will or will not obey."

Mr. Wickersham said a basic difficulty in the administration of justice "lies in the use of political influence, not only in the selection of prosecutors, court officials and judges, but in the performance of their duties."

Farm Relief Put to Vote.

The attack on the agricultural marketing act, which was rejected by the convention was contained in the report of a committee on American citizenship. Ordinarily this report would not have reached consideration of the convention until tomorrow, but members of the executive committee deemed immediate action expedient because the report had been already published.

The report had denounced the marketing act as a step toward a socialistic, Soviet government. It declared "Congress has become a national soup kitchen, where every mendicant industry, every greedy, begging group brings its empty bowl to receive its Treasury soup directly or indirectly."

"The avowed purpose (of farm relief legislation)," said the report, "is to raise the price of bread to 90 per cent of the people in order that 10 per cent may have more profit in producing it."

Another report which failed to find approval of the lawyers was that of a committee on lawless enforcement of law, which denounced the "third degree" as finding no warrant in law. This report was rejected by the section on criminal law and criminology and it did not reach the convention.

Thompson, Artist, Sues Former Wife

Asks $1,000,000 Damages for Arrest on Charge of Murder Plot.

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Frederick L. Thompson, artist and designer, has filed suit in supreme court for $1,000,000 damages against his former wife, Mrs. Caroline G. Thompson, and Col. Horace J. Brooks, of Martha's Vineyard, Mass. The suit results from his arrest on charges of attempted murder of Mrs. Thompson last fall.

Thompson said he was acquitted of the charge by a jury in Edgartown, Mass., after he had spent two months under observation in the Massachusetts Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Bridgewater.

Thompson's attorneys today filed a motion to strike out Mrs. Thompson's answer, in which she denied the charges and filed counterclaim for $1,000,000 on the grounds that he approached her on a New York street last June and threatened her life unless she would pay him $100,000.

U. S. Jury Clears Doyle On Two Perjury Counts

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A Federal jury today cleared Dr. William F. Doyle of two counts charging perjury in swearing to his income tax reports for 1927 and 1928, but could not agree as to a count alleging evasion in his return for 1929.

Federal Attorney Tuttle immediately announced the evasion charge would be laid before another jury at a second trial.

ENTRY LIST CLOSED FOR MODEL PLANES

Opening Meet of Series to Get Under Way Monday in Washington.

FINAL TESTS ARE HELD

The 1930 official lists for the District of Columbia model aircraft tournament are closed and all entrants are in readiness for the opening meet of the series next Monday morning at 9 o'clock, at Macfarland Community Center, when the first of the seven indoor events will be staged. On Tuesday and Wednesday, August 26 and 27, the six outdoor events will take place at Bolling Field and on Friday, August 29, the indoor events will be completed at Macfarland Center.

In final qualification tests held within the past week by tournament officials here, seventeen additional boys from various sections of the city and nearby Maryland have been successful, four of them making "C" class, and the rest entering "D" class for the forthcoming tournament.

These "C" class boys are Randolph Hughes, 515 Rock Creek Church road; Robert Kautz, 533 Randolph street; William Smith, Route No. 5, Rockville, Md.; and Francis Morris, 527 Randolph street.

The "D" class entrants are Harry Parker, 1925 Eye street; Arthur Copeland, jr., Silver Spring, Md.; Bob Burnett, 2737 Devonshire street; Buddy Murphy, 1725 Lanier place; Paul Tarver, 3,000 Connecticut avenue; John Edwards, 2712 Ontario road; Jack Friedman, 801 Twenty-first street; Joseph Dudley, 4430 New Hampshire avenue; Edward Grannis, 1330 Kennedy street; Raymond Bates, 426 Tenth street northeast; Bernard Griffis, 921 Kennedy street; Warren Wheeler, 725 Ninth street northeast; and Charles Baxter, 5405 Ninth street.

All the 200 entrants in the 1930 tournament have just received their "flying" numbers for all tournament events.

Firing Squad Executes Three Ukraine Bandits

Artemovsk, Ukraine, Aug. 20 (A.P.). Three notorious Ukraine bandit leaders named Chepulnoy, Yakovlev, Ivanitzky, were executed by a firing squad today after their appeal to the central executive committee was denied.

The three were charged with terrorizing villages and towns last year, and murdering many inhabitants.

Georgia Masonic Chief Dies in Lake Cottage

Stoughton, Wis., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Clarence H. Andrews, 62, Macon, Ga., deputy grand master of the Masonic Order of Georgia, died at a cottage on Loke Kegonsa, near here, early today.

Andrews, who had been visiting at the cottage for the last two days in the company of several friends, suffered a heart attack and died within 20 minutes. His friends arranged for the shipment of the body to Macon, and left for Chicago.

Bavarian Cabinet Resigns Over Tax

Quits When Bill Placing Levy on Killed Cattle Is Defeated.

Munich, Bavaria, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The Bavarian cabinet resigned today after the defeat in the landing of a bill which proposed to levy a special tax on slaughtered live stock.

The cabinet, constituted July 31, 1928, was composed of Dr. Held, premier and minister of foreign affairs; Dr. Goldenberger, minister of education; Prof. Fehr, agriculture and labor; Dr. Stuetzel interior; Dr. Schmelzle, finance, and Herr Gurtner, justice.

Cattle raising is one of the chief occupations of Bavaria, the census of 1928 showing 3,824,872 head. The tax proposed would have placed a duty on every head killed.

Man Determined to Die Carries Bottled Will

Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—John Bur, having twice failed to kill himself, is still determined.

He has made his will. It is in a whisky bottle, which Bur carries in his coat pocket.

Bur was poised to leap into the Chicago River today when Policeman Frank Clark snatched him back and took him to jail. No sooner had Bur been locked up than he tried to hang himself with his belt.

Foiled again, he denounced the law for interfering with his inalienable right to die if he wanted to, and he said that when—and if—he got out, he would carry out his intention.

If he persists, there at least is the will in the bottle, and a will in a bottle is quite rare.

J. H. BLAKE FUNERAL WILL BE TOMORROW

Boating Enthusiast, Who Died at Annapolis, to Be Buried Here.

STRICKEN AT REGATTA

James H. Blake, well-known among boating enthusiasts of Washington and Annapolis, will be buried in Washington in Glenwood Cemetery tomorrow. He died in a hospital at Annapolis Tuesday of heart disease after a brief illness.

Long a lover of boats and the water, he was stricken by the fatal illness while watching his craft in the Miles River Regatta at St. Michaels, Md., last week. He was 63, and the ferry trip to the Annapolis hospital was his last voyage.

For twelve years he had been retired, and his boat was a familiar sight along the bay and river. Before his retirement he engaged in the lumber business.

His love of things nautical was a heritage of his early youth, when he sailed extensively. Always his interest in seafaring things was strong, and it was natural that when he retired he should spend much of his time on the water.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Robley E. Blake, and two daughters, Miss Lucille M. Blake and Mrs. A. Cloyd Gill, all of New York.

Motorist Killed As Car Hits Pole

Two Slightly Injured When Auto Leaves Highway Near Meadows.

John Chiseldine, 25 years old, of Brookmont, Md., was killed and two companions were slightly injured about 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon when a car in which they were returning from North Beach left the road near Meadows and struck a telephone pole.

The car was operated by George Hayes, 33 years old, of 3142½ O street northwest, and was occupied also by Claude Foltz, 31 years old, of Alexandria, Va. Both sustained minor bruises and cuts.

The men were taken to Casualty Hospital by Bruce Bowie, of Riverdale, Md., who was passing at the time. Chiseldine was pronounced dead on arrival. The other two refused hospital treatment.

District Optometrists To Attend Convention

Dr. Lewis H. Kraskin and Dr. Joseph Wagenheim, of Washington, will attend the fifth annual convention of the Eastern Shore of Maryland Association of Optometrists at Ocean City, Md., tomorrow. Optometrists from Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia are expected to attend.

Among speakers scheduled to address the convention are Dr. Albert Fitch, dean of the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry; Dr. Clyde Nelson, head clinician of the Caulk Dental Laboratories, and Dr. J. H. Mayerburg, president of the Maryland Association of Optometrists.

Worker Badly Burned In Manhole Accident

William Lanahan, 23 years old, of 336 Thirteenth street northeast, was severely burned about the face and left arm, when a short circuit flashed into his face, while he was working in a manhole at Fifteenth and New York avenue northwest, yesterday morning.

Charles Parrott, 1002 Twenty-second street northwest, a fellow employe, removed Lanahan to the Emergency Hospital, where he received treatment. His condition is not believed to be serious.

PINCHOT WINS RIGHT TO MAKE G.O.P. RACE

Pennsylvania Supreme Court Rules 60,000 Disputed Ballots Legal.

CASE SETS PRECEDENT

Philadelphia, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Gifford Pinchot today won full title to the Republican nomination as Governor of Pennsylvania.

Four justices of the State Supreme Court ended months of litigations and political turmoil by affirming the decision of the common pleas court of Luzerne County, legalizing the 60,000 votes of that county.

Attorneys for Francis Shunk Brown, Pinchot's principal opponent for the nomination, had made an appeal, which, if granted, would have given the nomination to Brown by 6,000 votes. This appeal, argument on which was heard by the Supreme Court yesterday, was based on the perforation of paper ballots cast in Luzerne at the May primary. Counsel for Brown maintained the perforations, ordered by the county court in an effort to prevent fraud, constituted mutilation and therefore were illegal and should be thrown out. Pinchot carried the entire State by 20,000 plurality and Luzerne County by 26,000.

Although holding that the Luzerne court had exceeded its legal powers by ordering the perforations, the Supreme Court found that this was not sufficient reason for throwing out the paper ballots.

Never before in the history of the State had the verdict of a primary depended upon the decision of a court. The whole party machinery has been delayed in completing arrangements for the fall campaign while awaiting today's action.

Anticipating a possible reversal of the lower court, Pinchot aids had preempted the square deal party title and on this the former governor would have campaigned had Brown won the nomination. This title will not now be used and Pinchot will campaign solely as the Republican candidate.

Lunchroom Robbed of $140.

Thieves took $140 from the lunchroom at 1003 E street northwest, Demetros Horsoulas, the proprietor, told police yesterday. They entered the place by sawing bars of a rear window. The greater part of the money was taken from a hiding place under the cash register.

AVIATRIX HURT IN CRASH

Mrs. May Haizlip, noted woman flier, was seriously hurt yesterday when, while en route to Washington, she crashed near Greenwood, S. C.

Mrs. O'Donnell Holds Lead In Air Derby at Roswell

Connecticut Aviatrix Clings to Second Place in Long Beach-Chicago Flight; Mildred Morgan Third as Entrants Check in at New Mexico Airport.

Roswell, N. Mex., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Three hops half way across New Mexico today placed Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, of Long Beach, unofficially 26 minutes and 48 seconds in the lead of the Long Beach-Chicago national women's air derby.

Miss Marjorie Doig, Danbury, Conn., tenaciously clung to second place. At Douglas, Ariz., last night the Long Beach flier led her Connecticut rival by 16 minutes.

The unofficial elapsed time table from Long Beach to Roswell follows:

Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell	6:07:08
Miss Marjorie Doig	6:33:56
Miss Mildred Morgan	8:34:02
Miss Jean La Rene	8:48:58
Miss Ruth Stewart	10:54:35
Miss Ruth Barron	25:13:18

The fliers will take off tomorrow morning for Lubbock, Tex., from where they will continue to Amarillo, Tex.

The women had perfect flying weather over New Mexico today. The three laps—from Douglas, Ariz., to Lordsburg, N. Mex.; from Lordsburg to Deming and from Deming to Roswell—were made without accident.

tainment, including a dinner tonight at the Willard Hotel and breakfast at the airport tomorrow.

Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, and other high officials will watch the women fliers take off on their 1,575-mile flight, which will take them through Richmond, Atlanta, Columbia, S. C.; Memphis, Tenn., and a number of other cities. Cash prizes offered total more than $4,000.

One Washington flier, Miss Nancy Hopkins, is entered in the event, which will be participated in by Miss Phoebe Omlie, Vera Dawn and a number of other nationally known women pilots.

The pilots will be welcomed at the field at 9 a. m. today. After breakfasting at 9:30 their planes will be carefully inspected and warmed up for the start at 11. After the contestants take off an exhibition of balloon bursting and acrobatic flying will be staged for the benefit of the large crowds expected at the Washington Airport.

Other demonstrations of trick flying will be given at 4 and 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Plane Propeller Flies Loose, Killing Girl, 10

Lussino, Italy, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Emma Cosulich, 10-year-old daughter of the president of the Lloyd Triestino Steamship Line, was killed today by a propellor blade which, becoming detached as a trimotored passenger plane was taking off, crashed through a cabin.

One other passenger was injured and eight escaped unhurt.

Garfield's Daughter-in-Law Dies.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. Helen Newell Garfield, wife of James R. Garfield, of Mentor, Ohio, son of former President Garfield, died late today in Portsmouth Hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident Monday.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The fortune James Eads How, "millionaire hobo," inherited from his mother in St. Louis, had been given away before his recent death except for $125,000 which the foresighted mother left in a trust fund because of her son's philanthropic tendencies.

Nicholas Klein, attorne yfor How who died in poverty recently, said all that remained of his mother's original bequest of $500,000 were $4,000 in cash, a $18,000 home in Los Angeles and a $600 interest in two empty factory buildings.

Klein said he had resigned as an executor of How's estate in order to secure annullment of How's adoption of his divorced wife's son. The boy, Holger, 11 years old, was adopted last year. Mrs. Ingeborg S. Howe divorced How four days before his death.

Ryan Is Selected To Teach Indians

Swarthmore Man Expected to Play Major Part in Bureau Policy.

(Associated Press.)

The task of educating the Indian away from the reservation and into the ranks of steady job holders has been given to Dr. W. Carson Ryan, jr., professor of education at Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Ryan is expected to play a major part in the announced policy of the Indian Bureau of making the Indians self supporting.

The announcement by Secretary Wilbur of the appointment said he placed highest in the open competitive examination recently held to select the head of the Indian educational service.

FUTILE SEARCH ENDS FOR VAN LEAR BLACK

Body of Publisher Who Fell Off Yacht May Be Taken to Sea by Currents.

PASSING SHIP SLIM HOPE

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The sea lanes along New Jersey's coast, capped by high waves which billowed out into the deep, refused today to yield to searchers by air and water the body of Van Lear Black.

The hunt, pressed through every daylight hour from the time of the Baltimore publisher's disappearance from his yacht Monday evening became known was virtually abandoned at noon today, and tonight even the last of the Coast Guard boats had quit the scene of search.

Three planes which renewed the quest at dawn spent several hours flying over the water south of Scotland Light, around the spot where the wealthy Baltimore man last was seen sitting on a deck rail of his yacht Sabalo.

Offshore Current Strong.

Their pilots came back and reported the offshore current so strong there was no likelihood the body might be washed to the beach. Paul Patterson, editor of the Baltimore Sun and Mr. Black's associate, directed that they terminate their search.

Late today the last searchers circled over the water—Clarence Chamberlin and Rudolph E. Lent, Jersey City publisher, in Chamberlin's plane. They went out of friendship for Mr. Black, and scanned the endless whitecaps as vainly as had their predecessors.

Capt. Kelly, of the Sabalo, made a formal report of the accident today to the Steamboat Inspection Service and was directed to return tomorrow, in compliance with the law, bringing one more witness than the chief engineer, who accompanied him today.

Yacht Going to Baltimore.

As soon as clearance papers are granted to the Sabalo tomorrow it will quite Gravesend Bay, where today it lay at anchor, and return to Baltimore.

Mr. Patterson knew tonight of no plans for any memorial services for the dead publisher, in lieu of a funeral, and had formulated no further project for searching for the body.

There remained one meager possibility, that some small freighter or fishing boat, unequipped with radio, might have picked up the publisher, who was an excellent swimmer, after he fell from his yacht. It was a hope too slight, however, to be entertained seriously.

Permission to Remove Gutenberg Bible Given

(Associated Press.)

The State Department was advised yesterday by American Minister Stockton that he had concluded successfully negotiations for the removal of a collection of rare old printings, including the Gutenberg Bible, from Austria.

Congress has appropriated $1,500,000 for the collection for the Congressional Library. Reports from Austria were that the government had semiofficially objected to the sale and removal of the Gutenberg Bible.

Reward Offered For Lynch Mob

North Carolina's Governor Orders Sum of $400 to Spur Search.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A reward of $400, the maximum under the State law, was offered by Gov. Gardner today for arrest and conviction of members of the mob that lynched Oliver Moore, Edgecombe County Negro, Monday night. The reward was announced at the executive's office here upon the telephoned instructions of the governor.

Gov. Gardner cut short his vacation in the western part of the State and returned to his home at Shelby today to be in closer touch with the investigation into the outbreak of mob violence, the first with fatal result in North Carolina since 1921.

Moore, alleged assailant of two small children, was taken from the Edgecombe Jail at Tarboro by 200 masked men and shot to death. No arrests have been made.

Charred Body of Man Found in Burned House

Greenwood, S. C., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The charred body of Hugh Banks Cuningham, 55, well-to-do farmer, was found today in the burned ruins of his home, the 150-year-old historic Rosemont place, located 15 miles from Greenwood, in Laurens County. The Laurens County sheriff said he believed a faulty oil stove set the home afire last night.

Mr. Cuningham lived alone in the old colonial mansion. Surviving relatives include a son, Ross, of Detroit, Mich.

K. OF C. AGAIN HEAR CARDINAL'S ADDRESS

O'Connell Declares There Is Room for Work Among All Racial Groups.

OFICERS ARE REELECTED

Boston, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The Knights of Columbus, assembled here for their forty-eighth annual supreme convention, heard William Cardinal O'Connell today for the second time since the convention started.

An executive session was made public during the cardinal's speech. The prelate told the knights that "the welfare of the world is not depending on any one set of people—we must all work together."

"We must arouse ourselves to the fact that we are needed in life," he said. "And that there is room for work among all, Jew or Gentile. The Knights of Columbus is not only a religious organization, but a patriotic one, giving service to God, to church and to country."

Annual Report Indorsed.

The cardinal indorsed the annual report of Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody, of Grand Rapids, Mich., particularly that part which dealt with the importance of the lay apostolate.

Earlier in the afternoon the delegates visited Cambridge and Harvard. There they were assembled by Mayor Richard M. Russell, who said, "The Masons, the Elks nad other organihand in hand with the Knights of zations should fall in line and work Columbus to exterminate abuse of the God-given right to serve in public office without subjecting oneself to the slandering tongue."

Election of supreme directors and presentation of awards marked sessions of the forty-eighth annual convention of the Knights of Columbus here today.

Officers Are Reelected.

Five supreme directors of the organization were either elected to office or reelected. These were Daniel A. Tobin, of Brooklyn, N. Y., reelected; Francis Fanteux, of Montreal, state Deputy; John Heavel, of Asheville, N. C., state deputy, and James H. Carroll, o Lewiston, Me., past state deputy.

Four awards weer also announced by Supreme Knight Martin Carmondy for various achievements of merit. A diamond ring was awarded to State Deputy H. A. McNell, of Brandon, Manitoba, for the best jurisdiction. A gold watch and a free trip to the 1931 convention was donated to Grand Knight Alfred E. Malette, of Cochrane, Ontario, for the best council.

The supreme knight also named the eighth district of Iowa and the third district of Manitoba as the two best in the entire organization. Gold watches were presented to District Deputy William E. Smich, of Carroll, Iowa, and District Deputy Edward S. Barker, of La Pas, Manitoba.

Fliers in Two Derbies Land Closely Bunched

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 20 (A.P.). Three pilots, entered in the Miami-to-Chicago air derby, landed at the Municipal Airport here late today after a stop at Tampa. Art Killips, La Grange, Ill., landed at 4:41:50 p. m. (E. S. T.), and was followed closely by Art Davis, Lansing, Mich., at 4:45:16, and George Burrell, La Grange, Ill., at 4:51:37. They will remain overnight here and continue their flight toward Chicago tomorrow.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—John H. Livingston, Aurora, Ill., led W. G. Moore, Kansas City, into Fort Worth by one minute today in the Brownsville-Chicago air derby. Livingston held an advantage of more than one hour over his opponent in total elapsed time when they finished the second day of the derby at the night control point here.

Machine Gun Aids Capture of Three

Two Men and Woman Held in Colorado Military Prisoner's Escape.

Lamar, Colo., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Machine-gun bullets ended the flight today of Private Robert Houston, 30; Charles W. Mackey, 26; and a woman, believed to be Mrs. Sadie aBsett, 24, who, authorities say, assisted in the escape of Dalen Zook, Fort Logan military prisoner, Monday.

The trio was captured by Sheriff L. E. Alderman and a deputy after a chase over rough country roads near here. Machine-gun bullets were sprayed at the fugitives' motor car.

Zook is believed to have left the party near La Junta, Colo. Military authorities said they believed Houston, formerly an inmate of the guard house at Fort Logan, plotted the escape of Zook and Mackey, who were held for desertion.

A man accompanied by a woman overpowered a sentry, tok his shotgun and escaped from the reservation with Mackey and Zook. Alderman said a shotgun was found in the rear of the car captured here.

SWIFT SUICIDE QUIZ IS MARKED BY TILT

Deputy Attorney General and Sanitarium Head Clash at Hearing.

PROBE WILL CONTINUE

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—At a medical examiners' hearing today the head of the Park Avenue Sanitarium where William E. Swift, Chicago packer's son, killed himself last Saturday night, angrily accused a deputy State attorney general of trying to injure his reputation. The hearing was the day's development in an investigation of the circumstances surrounding Swift's suicide.

Sol Ullman, a deputy attorney general representing the State Board of Medical Examiners, appeared at the hearing conducted by Dr. Charles G Norris, chief medical examiner, and questioned Dr. Edward S. Cowles, head of the sanitarium.

Dr. Cowles became impatient as Ullman grew persistent in his demands for an explanation why Swift's death was not reported to the medical examiner until 11:22 p. m., although it had occurred an hour earlier.

Doctor Is Nettled.

"Are you trying to get information or hurt my reputation?" Dr. Cowles demanded a few minutes later as Ullman asked him if there had been any suicides previously in his sanitarium.

Before he left the stand Dr. Cowles received permission to make a statement in which he denied and resented "the implication in the public press and in the questions at this hearing that drugs were being used in an unlawful manner in the institution."

After the hearing Dr. Norris said a stenographic report of the proceedings would be forwarded to the district atorney's office, and Ullman announced that he would continue his investigation of the sanitarium.

Dr. Cowles, Rudolph Heitmanek, the attendant with Mr. Swift when he shot himself, and Miss Inger Engel, a nurse, told the story of the suicide.

Nurse Discovers Gun.

Miss Engel said that Mr. Swift returned to the sanitarium intoxicated at 4 a. m. two days before his death, on Saturday, she said, she caught a glimpse of a gun under his mattress. This she reported to Dr. Cowles who instructed Heitmanek to remain in the room with Mr. Swift Saturday night until he was asleep and then take the gun.

Heitmanek said he was in the room for an hour before Swift shot himself.

"Keeping my eyes on him, I quietly looked about also for the gun," Heitmanek said, "but did not find it. Mr. Swift was lying on the bed in his pajamas and dressing gown. Suddenly he swung himself off the bed, saying:

Suicide Is Described.

"'I'm going out that window and you can't stop me.'

"I caught him, pushed him back on to the bed and had just let go of him and turned away when he said:

"'I'm going out.'

"As I turned back I saw the gun. He had the muzzle over his heart. I jumped back and was standing over him when it went off."

Prisoner Builds Fire In Cell to End Own Life

Warren, Pa., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Building a fire in the county jail, Frank McKoon, 28, succeeded in a second attempt at suicide today by standing in the flames until he was burned fatally.

McKoon was awaiting trial on a charge of first degree murder for the killing of Mrs. Mabel Lindquist at Sugar Grove last Memorial Day. He first tried to kill himself at the time Mrs. Lindquist was slain. He recovered from a bullet wound in his left breast.

West Palm Beach Sued for $2,620,000

West Palm Beach, Fla., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Damages totaling $2,620,000 are asked in thirteen suits against the City of West Palm Beach, filed in circuit court here today by A. B. Morrison, vice president of the Guardian Detroit Co.: Malvern Hill and Kenneth M. Keefe, constituting a committee representing holders of the ytci's special assessment bonds.

ne of the suits seeks $1,000,000 damages, another asks $850,000, while the others seek amounts ranging from $300,000 to $5,500. City officials believe the actions were brought in an effort to collect interest and principal payments on bond issues on which the city has defulted.

THE term "blue-white" frequently used to describe "color" of a diamond has been so much abused that the public generally is misled by it. A diamond is neither white nor blue. The finest color diamond can best be described as being like a drop of pure distilled water—reflecting all colors but really possessing none itself. Degree of perfection, color, exact carat size—all three factors—are the basis for determining the true value of a diamond.

CHINESE REDS LOOT AND BURN CITY, TERRORIZING 6,000

Nationalists pursued them through the Shantung capital and chased them across the Yellow River to the border of Chihli Province. There the rebels have made their stand.

In another area, northern Honan, Nationalist attack and Rebel counter attack continued along the Haicho-Tungkwan Railway.

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The Kuo Min News Agency, representing the Chinese national government in the United States, said tonight that victory was in sight for the Nationalists and that a complete reorganization of provincial governments was planned following upon conclusion of the campaign against a Northern coalition.

Points to Rebel Losses.

Wang Chung Huin, president of the Judicial Yuah, cabled the agency of the reorganization plans and added that China soon would be reunited. He said the Chinese, furthermore, would have complete sovereignty in their country, nearly all foreign powers having agreed to abolition of extraterritoriality.

The agency at the same time was notified by Sun-Fo, minister of railways, that all government forces along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway had occupied Tsinan, the Shantung capital, reported captured several days ago.

He said the Shensi army had been hopelessly disabled, the rebels losing more than 7,000 men in attempting to escape the Nationalist forces.

WASHINGTON UTILITY TO USE NATURAL GAS

A. G. Wood Announces Step Arranged in Company's Expansion Program.

LOWER RATES PLANNED

Natural gas is to be brought into Washington before the end of the year, George A. G. Wood, president of the Washington Gas Light Co., announced to the Public Utilities Commission yesterday.

A contract has been agreed on between the Washington company and a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas & Electric Co., which is to supply natural gas, and awaits only completion of a few details before the contract is signed, Mr. Wood said.

Both the Washington Gas Co. and the Columbia Gas & Electric Co. are controlled by the United Founders Corporation, a nationally powerful utilities holding company.

The name of the subsidiary of the Columbia company, with which the Washington company is to make its contract, was refused by Mr. Wood.

Commission Asks for Data.

Announcement of the imminence of the completion of the contract for natural gas was met with a request by the Utilities Commission for a copy of the contemplated contract and full information regarding it. This request was not granted, however, and it is not certain that it will be, although an official of the company said that, after conference with the powers that be among the new owners of the gas company a copy of the contract will be given the commission for its information before it is signed.

Introduction of natural gas in Washington will not interfere with the company's plan to submit to the Utilities Commission a new rate schedule providing lower gas rates. This schedule, Mr. Wood said, has been about completed and will be submitted to the Utilities Commission for approval before September 1.

The new rate schedule will not necessitate a reduction in the present standard of quality for gas in the District, Mr. Wood said. This has been fixed at 600 British thermal units, which is about the highest standard required for manufactured gas in any large city in the country. It is contended by manufacturers that to get a gas of 600 b. t. u. quality increases the cost out of all proportion to the cost of producing a gas of 500 b. t. u. The loss in heat is about proportionate to the reduction in b. t. u.

Despite the extra cost of making the higher quality gas, however, it is believed by company officials that any effort to reduce the quality would stir up such a protest as to injure the good will the new owners want to build up with the consuming public. It is, therefore, planned to accept the present standard for the time being, but experiments are being conducted with Bureau of Standards experts looking to converting them to approval of a lower standard.

Introduction of natural gas will not mean a lowering of quality, because the contract will call for a gas of between 1,050 and 1,100 b. t. u. This high quality will be reduced by mixture with lower quality artificial gas and by other processes.

The price at which the natural gas is to be bought was not made public, but Mr. Wood said that it will be a little less than 36.03 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, which was the cost of manufacturing gas in the Washington company's plant last year. This figure does not include distribution costs.

Economies of operation and improved methods of manufacturing are in contemplation, however, and an expenditure of $1,000,000 on the plant on the Eastern Branch, near the navy yard, is contemplated in the near future, Mr. Wood said. This expenditure will mean a saving in manufacturing costs of $500,000 a year, he said.

New Pipe Line Planned.

Introduction of natural gas will necessitate the laying of a new pipe line from the District line across the city to the eastern plant, from which the gas will be distributed. This pipe line will cost $200,000, it was estimated.

The Columbia subsidiary is expected to turn the gas over to a subsidiary, operating in Montgomery County, Md., at a point about two miles from Rockville. The Montgomery County company will pipe it to the District line, where the Washington company, proper, will take it. New lines probably will be required to be laid by the Montgomery subsidiary of the local company.

An idea of the expansion planned by the new owners of the gas company is gleaned from the fact that it is planned to lay 120 miles of new mains. "Much additional territory" is to be supplied by the local company and its subsidiaries, and a hearing is to be held today in Baltimore before the Maryland Utilities Commission on a plan to carry gas service to Seat Pleasant, Tuxedo and other nearby Maryland towns. The new owners already have extended their business to Falls Church in Virginia and have made only a beginning in carrying out their plans of expansion, Mr. Wood said. The Maryland and Virginia subsidiaries will be supplied with the finished product by the parent Washington company.

A gas by-product plant also is to be built as a part of the general plan. This plant, Mr. Wood said, "will loom large in the development plans."

Mr. Wood's statement to the public about the natural gas contract follows:

"We hope to sign a contract which will bring natural gas to Washington and environs.

"Manufactured gas still will be used, but natural gas will be mixed with it. Natural gas probably will reach Washington the latter part of this year or the early part of next year.

"The proposed contract is for five years and is on a satisfactory price basis.

"This is only the first step in a program of expansion which the Washington Gas Light Co. has undertaken. The District and outlying sections are considered outstanding potential fields for the consumption of gas.

"Natural gas will be brought in to take care of anticipated immediate increased gas consumption as a result of new rate schedule and the taking in of much additional territory.

"Eventually it is likely that more gas will have to be manufactured to accommodate the tremendous gas load that the new management anticipates and at that time a by-product plant will loom large in the development plans.

"Contrary to popular belief, natural gas is not necessarily cheaper than gas manufactured under favorable conditions with up-to-date equipment, but having in mind our whole situation we thought it advisable to make this natural gas arrangement.

"Under the present plan no one who is an employe in the plants of the Washington Gas Light Co. or of any of its subsidiaries, the Rosslyn Gas Co. or the Georgetown Gas Light Co., will lose his job as a direct result of natural gas coming here."

HIDE IN THE DARK

Took the Wrong Turn.

Sherry, thrusting his way through the crowd in the hall, said suddenly: "I took the wrong turn, I'm telling you. What's the matter with all of you, anyway? What are you gawking at that darned phonograph for?"

Chatty answered in a small, hushed voice, too charged with awe to even tremble:

"Sherry, it was playing * * * Sherry, it was playing Sunny's tune."

"Never mind the phonograph for a moment, please, Chatty. Let's find out first, Sheridan, why you took that wrong turn now and didn't take it at midnight? At midnight if you remember, you were a long sight farther from the room than you were this time * * * you'd managed to waft yourself through a locked trap door into some remote corner of the attic itself—and yet in the pitch dark you got yourself out of the attic, down the ladder, through all those corridors, down two other long flights of stairs, and into this room, straight as a homing pigeon, in a little over a minute flat, according to the estimate of some of us here—in under two minutes, according to the most generous of us. Why couldn't you repeat that distinguished performance of yours, Sheridan?"

Sherry said in a voice too weary for bravado: "I told you why, twice. I got balled up on the turn."

"You're balled up on more than the turn, I'm afraid. You won't blame me later for not reminding you that candor is your surest refuge in time of trouble, will you? Because I'm reminding you of it now." He paused, waiting expectantly, his chilled eyes on Sherry's sullen and disordered countenance. After a moment he said smoothly: "Very well, then, I think that as we aren't to be vouchsafed any assistance on your part, we'll manage to get on excellently without it. Tom, I want you to go on an errand for me * * * Or no, wait a moment. Are you all standing just where you were at ten minutes past midnight?"

A Trap for Sherry.

Trudi said wearily: "Of course we're not. In the first place, that phonograph thing brought us all in here on the run, and in the second place you told us to stand still exactly where we were when you spoke. Why didn't you turn on the lights, without all that chatter about not moving a hand or foot?"

"Because I was performing this experiment for a perfectly definite purpose, Trudi. It was, I regret to say, a trap to catch Sherry, and phonograph or no phonograph, I couldn't spring that trap for at least two minutes. My watch has a luminous dial, you know, so I simply held off the lights until the time was up."

Joel demanded excitedly: "Yes, but after all you can't laugh that phonograph off, can you? How does that fit in, for Pete's sake? What's it all about anyway?"

"It strikes me as fairly simple. It means that some one was moving about in this room who had no earthly business to be here, and that for some reason of their own they were very near the phonograph. Suppose we check up on who is in the room now. You, Lindy, naturally. And Tom—you came in from the chapel, didn't you? That leaves Jill to be accounted for. How did you happen to be here, Jill?"

She said, clinging to the back of the chair by the door, her face turned so that she could not see Larry's astounded eyes: "I thought I was meant to be here."

"And what makes you think that?"

"Because—because this was where I was when it—happened."

"But, Jill, I told you perfectly distinctly that you were to be up with Larry in the linen-presses. And you were certainly there when Ray and I were checking up on positions."

"Was I? I don't remember * * * I don't remember anything very well."

She swayed slightly, and something in the blinded pathos of the small, sad face tempered the steel in Dart's voice. "Just try to tell us what happened, will you? We all want to help you."

"I can't tell you."

Larry asked from the hall, his face drained of every vestige of color:

"Let me get in there to her, will you, Dart? You can see for yourself that she isn't fit to answer questions. I'll tell you anything you want to know, I swear."

An Errand for Tom.

Gavin Dart dropped the arm that still formed a barrier across the door, and Larry went straight to the girl in the green smock, gathering her up and putting her into the nearest chair.

"It's all my fault, Blessed. I shouldn't have let you go. Don't shiver like that—nothing's going to hurt you."

She whispered: "Larry, Larry, it was Sunny * * * she came back to finish the tune—to tell us——"

Gavin Dart said gravely: "I'm afraid that it wasn't Sunny, Jill. Now, Redmond, perhaps you'll be good enough to tell us what all this means?"

"The whole thing's my fault. Jill went completely to pieces after you left us out in the presses; she was out of her head with terror at the idea of being in the dark up there, and she'd got the idea that there was still blood on her hands and on her dress. She told me that unless she could get to her room and get rid of that blood she'd go stark, staring mad. * * * I knew that the knife had been found, and there didn't seem any point in keeping every one in under surveillance, since that was so—so I let her go."

"Did you go with her?"

"No—she wouldn't let me come with her; she said that I'd be expected to go through this test and that if I didn't it might get me into trouble."

"I see. Now, Jill, will you tell us why you didn't go to your room?"

"I can't tell you. It was Sunny—it was Sunny's tune——"

"But you must have started down the stairs the moment I put the light out, even before Lindy screamed—certainly before you could have heard the tune. You were in the room when I told every one to stand still?"

"Was I?" The blue eyes stared at him piteously.

"Dart, go easy with her just for a bit; can't you?" Larry kept his own voice level with an effort that tightened every muscle in his body. "Give her a chance to get hold of herself. She won't be any good to you if she goes out of her head, will she? She's in a state now where you could get her to say absolutely anything. You could probably get her to say that she did it herself. Is that what you want?"

Gavin Dart said slowly: "No, no, that's not what I want."

And the frozen voice from the chair said: "You couldn't make me say that, Gavin. Not that—not ever."

"No, I don't believe that I could. Very well, Jill—only just remember when you're ready that we'll all be grateful for any help that you can give us. Now for the errand—Tom, will you run up to the third floor and see what kind of a lock that trap-door at the head of the ladder to the attic has on it? You know your way about, don't you? Thanks."

He paused on his way across the room to call after the disappearing figure: "Turn on any lights that you need up there, naturally."

Just short of the phonograph resting small and dark and inscrutable on the little stand to the left of the fireplace he halted and stood surveying it for a moment with compressed lips. The irrepressible Joel bounded after him, the puppy off the leash motif still apparent.

Two Explanations.

"Now, how do you size that thing up?" he demanded eagerly. "Look, I'll tell you how I've doped it out."

He moved forward, swinging the arm of the machine back into position and drawing a triumphant finger down the long gash across the record. "That's where Kit dragged it across when he stopped it tonight while Lindy was dancing with Doug, see? Only the gash stops about an inch or so before the record ends, and it was that inch and a half that some one started playing. That's why it ran on smoothly, without jarring over the scratch. The only question is—why did they start it?"

Dart commented with a somewhat grim smile: "Well, hardly the only one, I'm afraid; still, it's undoubtedly one of them. There are two possible explanations for the thing starting off; there may be more, for all I know. It might have been started deliberately in order to create a distraction that would permit some one to accomplish a purpose that we can only guess at. On the other hand, some one may have set off the release catch accidentally while they were trying to accomplish something quite different—and again it's a pure matter of speculation as to what the objective was. Which strikes you as the more plausible, Baird?"

"Either," said Kit Baird. He came toward them from the doorway with that long, light stride, measuring the distance between the door to the service quarters and the stand by the fireplace with an appraising eye. "The stand's very low—still, some one crossing over from the service quarters to the hall might have brushed against it—or some one crossing from the hall to the service quarters. What should you say could have been the object in deliberately starting it, Dart?"

Pure Speculation.

"Oh, your guess is as good as mine. To bring us all back earlier, perhaps? To cover up some noise that it was essential to keep unheard? To spoil what some one guessed to be the object of my plan? It's all pure speculation. Well, one of the first things that we can do is to narrow it down to the people who actually had access to this room. Lindy was here already, of course—and Jill—and Tom could haven reached it from the chapel. Does that cover it?"

"Well, hardly," murmured Kit, and for a moment his eyes danced. "You aren't forgetting your honorable self out in the hall."

"Thanks for reminding me." A somewhat wintry smile replied from the gray eyes. "Fortunately for me, Ray had my wrist in an iron grip during our entire sojourn in the hall. You'll back that, Ray?"

"I never let go once—not once."

"There remains, of course, the possibility of practically any one in the house coming down these stairs as Jill did, while Lindy was counting. Or some one might have found it more convenient to slip down the back stairs * * * and through that way. I hadn't counted on anything of the kind for a minute. Though I swear I'm still in the dark as to why any one should have wished to return to this room."

"Maybe to get something that they'd left behind," suggested the indefatigable Joel. "Or else to leave something that they wanted to get rid of. Or——"

"I hardly think that they'd choose this general rendezvous of ours as a particularly attractive dumping ground for incriminating debris," commented Gavin Dart drily. "But there may be something in your first suggestion. Of course it was running a desperate risk of discovery * * * Lindy, did you hear anything out of the way in the room between the time that the light went out and the pronograph started?"

"I'm not sure, Gavin. I did hear sounds of some kind, but I thought that probably it was you and Ray in the hall. I wasn't paying much attention, you see, because I was counting. Gavin, why don't you make Hanna come over here and sit down? She looks absolutely worn out. You come, too, Ray, and Larry will push Jill's chair closer. We might as well sit down, surely * * *"

Kit, eyes still on the phonograph, inquired pensively, "Did you hear any one out in the hall, Gavin? Before Lindy screamed, I mean?"

"Yes. I heard some one running down the stairs; as it turns out, it was probably Jill."

"But you didn't try to stop her?"

"I was particularly anxious not to stop any one. One of my objects in this performance—outside of the necessity of proving the fact that Sherry was lying—was to give every one just a little more rope than they needed. I thought that the resuls might prove illuminating.

A Second Too Late.

"A little more than we needed," repeated Kit Baird slowly. "Enough to hang us with, perhaps? We should be grateful to you, Dart." He picked up a log, and placed it skillfully on the embers, the enigmatic smile still flickering. "And you didn't hear any one pass you in the hall?"

"No," said Gavin Dart curtly. "I heard no one. Nevertheless, some one passed me. When I told you all to stand perfectly still and asked Ray to help me make a barrier across that door, I spoke just a fraction of a second too late—some one had already brushed by me coming out of this room."

"Very, very indiscreet of the brusher, if you ask me," Kit mocked. "The poor devil probably didn't know about that rope. You haven't figured out yet who it was?"

"No. I've figured out exactly nothing—except that you were in the writing room off the library."

Kit's eyebrows went up.

"I? Dart, you aren't telling me that it's I that you've caught in this trap that you set for Sherry?"

Gavin said wearily: "I'm telling you that it's beginning to look as though every last one of us is so deep in this that it would take more than a lifetime to get us out of it."

Joel, still hovering over the phonograph, lifted an imperious voice. "Hey, Dart, how about this? Why mightn't some one have hid something near this darn thing, and come back when the lights were out to get it?"

Gavin inquired drily: "What kind of a thing?"

"I haven't worked that out yet. Something darned incriminating, anyway, that it was up to them to get hold of good and quick. This stand is too low for any one to brush against so that you'd start it up accidentally, shouldn't you think? But you certainly might catch a cuff or a sleeve in it if you were poking around trying to get something out of this cabinet part down here. Or even if you were trying to stuff something in it * * * Hey, how about that for an idea? Suppose there's something in it right now——"

Woman Severely Hurt As Car and Taxi Crash

When her husband's car was in a collision with a taxicab early yesterday morning, Mrs. Wallace L. Redwine, of 1746 Columbia road, received severe lacerations and several of her teeth are reported to have been loosened. The accident occurred at Twenty-ninth and Q streets northwest.

Mrs. Redwine was taken to Georgetown University Hospital for treatment, where 30 stitches were required to close her wounds. The driver of the taxi, L. E. Wetmore, of 1019 Eighth street, was held by police pending an investigation of the crash.

River Bulletin.

Harpers Ferry, W. Va., Aug. 20.—Potomac, clear; Shenandoah, very cloudy.

NEW PUMP STATION PLANS NEARLY DONE

Water From Patuxent to Be Used to Supply Two Maryland Counties.

WORK WILL START SOON

Plans for a new 10,000,000-gallon pumping station to replace the present plant at Burnt Mills have practically been completed by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission in order to meet more adequately the demands of the sanitary district of Montgomery and Prince Georges counties for water.

Water will be diverted from the Patuxent River into the headwaters of the northwest branch to supply the additional water needed. The new plant will use the same reservoir, but will require new filters. Work on the project is expected to start within a few months and to be completed before spring.

T. Howard Duckett, chairman of the commission, said yesterday, however, that this plan does not mean that the commission plans this to be the ultimate source of supply for the water needs of the counties. He said that he believed a study of at least five years will be necessary before a definite decision can be made.

The commission must plan ahead for at least 20 years when the area served will have a population of approximately 250,000 persons instead of the present 60,000, he said.

Mr. Duckett said that he did not look with favor on the use of Potomac River water, as he did not believe two large communities should draw their water supplies from the same source because of the danger of contamination, drought or other emergency. He said that he did not believe it to be feasible to continue purchasing water from the District at $65 per million gallons, which would require a raise in the price to the consumer. The commission in normal times can filter and serve the same amount for $40 a million gallons, he said. The Maryland communities are served adequately now through the connections with the District despite the raising of restrictions on sprinkling.

DEATH-PLOT HEARING IN FLORIDA DELAYED

Fourth Man Is Hunted in an Alleged Conspiracy to Kill Governor.

PROSECUTOR MAPS CASE

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Investigation into an alleged plot to assassinate Gov. Doyle E. Carlton went forward slowly today as county authorities concentrated on preparing evidence for presentation at a preliminary hearing next week for three men charged with conspiracy. The preliminary hearing, originally set for next Monday, was postponed today until Wednesday by County Solicitor L. D. Howell, in charge of the prosecution.

It was explained that the postponement was decided upon because of criminal court opening Tuesday. Meantime authorities continued their search for a fourth man, believed to have been implicated in the alleged plot. His identity was not made public.

The other three men arrested in the case are Fred O. Eberhardt, Tallahassee publisher; Frank Ralls, former Carlton campaigner, and Henry Halsema, real estate operator, who also faces a liquor charge. All are at liberty under $500 bond. They stoutly have maintained ignorance of any alleged plot since they were taken into custody here Saturday night.

Editor's Contract Canceled.

Announcement was made today that the Duval County Board of Commissioners had voted to cancel a contract with Eberhardt whereby the editor was to collect from the State a "certain sum of money due the county, of which the board knows nothing." The contract was given Eberhardt last Friday.

In announcing cancellation of the contract the Commissioners said they did not know what funds Eberhardt intended to collect or how he was to collect them, but had agreed to give him half, provided the funds legally were due the county. Eberhardt assured them, they said, that the collection would not be embarrassing "to the commission, to the State, or to the Governor."

Gov. Carlton requested a copy of the contract and then advised J. J. Redevats, chairman of the board, at a conference at Tallahassee yesterday: "Tell your board that it will fare better if it deals directly with State officials."

Agreement Called Legal.

Commenting on the board's decision to cancel the contract, Eberhardt declared he had a legal contract with the county, which was entered into in good faith.

Eberhardt, who has waged a bitter editorial attack upon Gov. Carlton since the latter took office last year, declared, "It is very evident that the governor is determined to injure me in any way possible." He added that he may make another statement regarding the matter.

Pending a preliminary hearing for the trio arrested in the alleged assassination plot, county authorities announced they would not divulge any information about the case.

Marshall Fields To Live in England

Chicagoan and Bride Go to Cottage at Sandwich; Plan Big Game Hunt.

London, (Thursday) Aug. 21 (A.P.).—The Daily Mail says today that Marshall Field, of Chicago, and his bride, the former Mrs. Dudley Coats, are spending the first several weeks of their honeymoon in England and eventually will make their home in this country.

Although it was believed after their marriage Monday that the Fields had gone to the continent, they went instead to the quiet little town of Sandwich in Kent, where they are occupying a bungalow overlooking the famous Sandwich golf course.

Mr. Field told a reporter for the Mail that he and his bride will go to Egypt in two or three weeks and then go on a big game hunting expedition by airplane. He added that afterward they will settle in England, but will make frequent visits to the United States.

Billings Pardon Plea Attorneys Rest Case

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—After vainly requesting that Police Capt. Charles Goff be cited for contempt, defense counsel today rested in a Supreme Court hearing on a pardon application by Warren K. Billings, under life sentence for bombing the San Francisco preparedness day parade in 1916.

Publication of a defamatory letter received by Associate Justice Preston and charging a frame up existed to obtain the release of Billings and Thomas Mooney, under similar sentence, brought the demand from McKenzie that Goff, who gave the letters to newspapers, be cited for contempt of court.

Captor of Fugitive Is Warned by Phone

An anonymous telephone call threatening his life failed to frighten W. E. Stein, superintendent of the Occoquan wharf, yesterday. Stein on Tuesday had captured Steven Jones, 31-year-old Negro fugitive from the North Carolina State prison at Raleigh.

"You'll pay for that," Stein was warned.

"I expect to get paid for it," he replied.

The Negro is being held at the Fourth Precinct station for North Carolina authorities. He was serving 30 years for murder when he left the prison.

CAMPBELL APPEALS FROM BAKER RULING

Hawkins, his sister, and his brother Frank G. Campbell.

Campbell was dressed in the same clothes which his attorneys said he had worn on April 11. He wore a plain dark blue suit, a blue shirt, a polka dot tie and carried a tan Fedora hat. Witnesses of the Ellipse attack said the man the assailant of Miss Baker wore a gray suit.

Among the defense witnesses called but who were not permitted to testify were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Wood, witnesses of the attack on Miss Baker, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Parsons, with whom Campbell on the afternoon of April 11 parked near the culvert where Miss Baker's body was found.

"Going Back to Jail."

Others were Miss Inez Eyre, who left Miss Baker near Fourteenth and G streets on the afternoon of the killing, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green, who visited Campbell at his home on the night of the murder at about the time when the slain girl was last seen alive.

At the adjournment of the hearing relatives of the accused gathered about him to wish him well. As he was being escorted from the courtroom, he was asked what he was going to do next.

"Well," he replied smilingly, "I am going back to jail."

DRY ACTS DENOUNCED BY FOES IN ILLINOIS

voiced by downstate leaders in committee, but the differences were ironed out and the vote of approval was unanimous.

In equally vigorous language, the platform condemned the campaign expenditures of Ruth Hanna McCormick, Mr. Lewis' opponent.

"We believe," the platform read, "that the Senate's verdict against the sale of Senate seats to the highest bidder, confirmed by the court of public opinion, will be reaffirmed at the polls in November.

"The precedent established by the United States Senate in cases involving Vare, Smith and Newberry indicate that the Republican nominee for senator from Illinois will not be seated, even if she were elected."

The platform assailed the Republican party for the tariff and unemployment. The tariff section read in part:

"We denounce the Republican party for its action in saddling additional burdens on the farmers of America by a vicious tariff measure which was recently passed at a session primarily called for relief of the farmer. We denounce it for deceiving those who trusted upon it."

Bigger Enrollment At Academy Urged

Jahncke Would Have Men Educated at Annapolis for Merchant Marine.

(Associated Press.)

The recommendation that the Naval Academy enrollment be increased to provide Navy-trained men for merchant vessels in time of peace and service ships in war was made in a radio address last night by Acting Secretary Jahncke of the Navy. Mr. Jahncke said the academy could accommodate from 150 to 160 students in excess of the Navy's needs.

He added that while it cost about $350,000 to graduate 115 students from three State nautical schools, the number of graduates at Annapolis could be increased 500 at an expenditure of about $475,000.

"The necessity for some such plan to educate officers for the merchant marine is readily apparent when one considers that ships are progressing in size and equipment as well as in numbers," Jahncke said.

100 Persons Arrested In State Dry Drive

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 20.—More than 100 persons were arrested and placed in jails for trials under charges of violating the Jones five and ten law by selling moonshine whisky in a series of raids conducted over Preston, Barbour, Upshur, Randolph and Tucker Counties this morning by 50 Federal, State and local enforcement agents.

Harry Ruble, of Fairmont, director of the Federal forces, said more arrests would be made before the sweep was concluded.

notes, letters and other documents connecting Zuta with figures in political life and gangdom. The fourth, opened by Pat Roche, chief investigator yesterday, contained papers as yet undisclosed.

Although the documents thus far made public showed contact between Zuta and numerous political leaders and public officials, they were of such distant date as to preclude possibility of legal action due to the statute of limitations. The records were probably kept by Zuta to intimidate persons named who feared the resultant notoriety, Roche believes.

NOVEL CONSTITUTION INDIA NEED, IS VIEW

Unique Type of Federalism Also Wanted, Institute of Politics Is Told.

ESSENTIALS ARE CITED

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Lord Meston, of Agra and Dunottar, former lieutenant governor of the United Provinces of India, asserted before the Institute of Politics tonight that any future constitution for India "will have to be one of a type entirely novel."

Touching on possible measures "to generate a true spirit of nationalism," he said: "We arrive inevitably at the question of what form of constitution will give India the freest play for its own genius and the greatest facility for drawing into its own mechanism whatever it can usefully take and adapt from Western methods and practices."

Three propositions are essential to clarify the issue, he explained. The constitution "must be one which ultimately makes for national freedom;" it "must be so framed as to give all the people of India the opportunity of deciding how far and how fast they wish to convert orthodox Hinduism into a genuine nationalism;" moreover, it will "have to be of a type entirely novel in history."

He said, "A unique type of federalism was needed in India where there are 75,000 square miles with 65,000,000 inhabitants not under British rule. These," he explained, "comprise 200 different states, ruled by chiefs and princes, with varying degrees of sovereignty. Nationalism has made very little impression on these states, and the presence of those large and powerful autocracies in the midst of British India will not make for simplicity in the constitution," he said.

"India under the Mahatma," Lord Meston said, "has been almost consistently used as a catspaw by cleverer and less scrupulous brains in the orthodox camp."

Summarizing the Simon commission recommendations, Lord Meston said that he did not agree that the boycot and lawlessness of the last six months are answers to the question of how the report appeals to the peoples of India.

9 WOMEN, 20 BOYS HELD IN INDIA RIOTS

Police Charge Mob in Front of Government School for Girls; Many Hurt.

FLAG RAISING IS CAUSE

Ahmedabad, India, Aug 20 (A.P.).—Nine women and twenty boys were arrested following a charge by police upon an excited crowd in front of a government school for girls today. Early reports said that hundreds of persons were injured and taken to hospitals.

The trouble began when a number of girl students attempted to hoist the Nationalist flag in the school yard, despite a police prohibition. A crowd soon gathered and the police broke up the ensuing disturbance.

Pandit Malaviya and V. G. Patel, former president of the legislative assembly, arrived soon after the charge of the constabulary.

Those arrested included Mrudala Ben, daughter of the million-ire mill owner; Seth Ambalal Sarabhai, and Khrushed Ben, granddaughter of the late Dadabhai Naoroji, former member of the House of Commons.

Fair Wages Held Employment Aid

Steady Annual Income Would Stimulate Buying, Green Says.

(Associated Press.)

The real hope for cure of unemployment conditions now prevailing, in the opinion of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, lies in guaranteeing a fair annual wage to workers.

"Some progressive employers are now giving consideration to that sort of plan," Mr. Green said. "It is obvious that industry should be so stabilized that workers could enjoy wage security and that plans of production ought to be so systematized as to balance output and consumption.

"If a steady annual income could be assured workers it would greatly stimulate buying. It would enable them to take advantage of credit facilities to maintain their outlay. The establishment and maintenance of pay systems that would assure annual income would go far toward restoring prosperity."

Minnesota Rain Halts Drought Rummy Match

Fairmont, Minn., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Rain did things to Fairmont today. It ended a seven weeks' drought and broke up a card game of rummy started Monday by members of the Fairmont Recreation Club.

Club members vowed to play rummy night and day, in relays, until rain fell. Early today nearly half an inch of rain fell and the players, farmers and business men, went home.

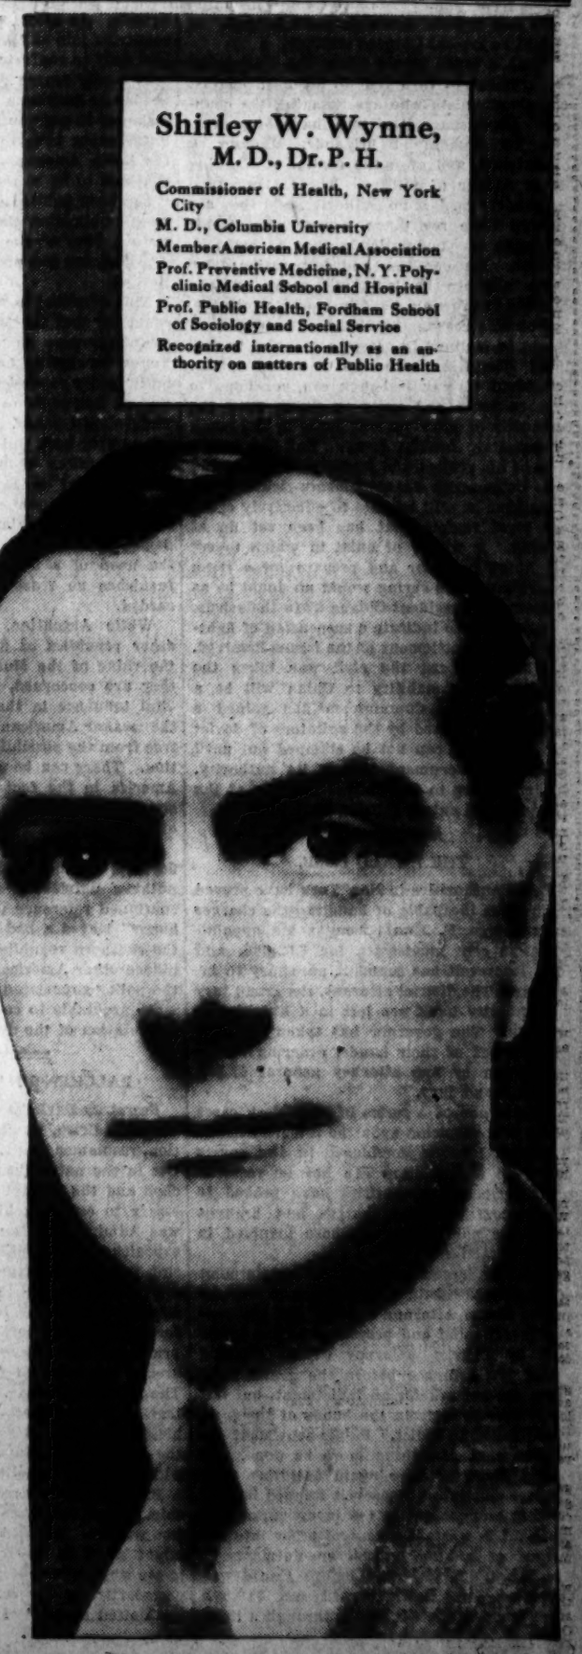
"Colgate's is most efficient cleanser"* says Dr. Shirley W. Wynne
Commissioner of Health of New York City

RESPONSIBLE for the health of six million Americans, Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, Health Commissioner of New York City, singles out Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream as "the most effective cleanser" of those examined. His approval is undeniably impressive. Interested as he is in all branches of public health, Dr. Wynne recently made a careful study of the difference in dentifrices. He examined tests made by some of America's greatest analytical chemists.

Dr. Wynne's conclusion is based on the recent research of such eminent authorities as Dr. Hardee Chambliss, Dean of the School of Sciences, Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Philip B. Hawk, M. S., Yale, Ph. D., Columbia; Jerome Alexander, B. S., M. S., internationally famous among consulting chemists and chemical engineers; Dr. H. H. Bunzell, Ph. D., University of Chicago; and others, retained to make analytical tests and report their findings.

All agree that Colgate's is supreme because of its penetrating foam. This active agent flushes out the decaying food particles which lodge between the teeth. Colgate's thus cleanses completely—in a way impossible with sluggish tooth pastes which merely polish the outer surfaces of the teeth.

Shirley W. Wynne, M. D., Dr. P. H.
Commissioner of Health, New York City
M. D., Columbia University
Member American Medical Association
Prof. Preventive Medicine, N. Y. Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital
Prof. Public Health, Fordham School of Sociology and Social Service
Recognized internationally as an authority on matters of Public Health



Dr. Wynne says:

"The sole function of a dentifrice is to thoroughly cleanse the teeth and gums. To be an effective cleanser a dentifrice must have low surface tension in solution. Low surface tension is, therefore, the true scientific indication of cleansing power on the part of a dentifrice in actual use.

 "I have examined the reports of laboratory tests made by eminent chemists who have compared Colgate's with other prominent dentifrices and I find that Colgate's rates the lowest surface tension of those examined. This means that Colgate's is the most efficient cleanser because it gets into the crevices between the teeth, thus removing and flooding away decaying foods."*

The price is important—but the quality—not the price—has held Colgate leadership for 30 years.

WHAT NEXT IN CHINA?

Events in China seem to be moving toward a climax, but the Chinese have an uncanny propensity for avoiding crises, and the end of their multilateral chaos is not yet in sight. Enthusiastic over its capture of Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province, the Nationalist government is predicting the end of the civil war on terms dictated by itself. But the rebel armies do not agree to the importance of Nanking's recent movements, and apparently they are in condition to prolong the war for many months.

The public is not interested in these military movements, which is well, because dispatches from China are frequently misleading and so meager that only the general trend of events can be determined. But in the outcome of China's struggle for a stable government, the whole world finds interest. With China peaceful and progressive one of the great potential markets of the world would be opened to commerce. The chief question is: What hope of stability does the present campaign of the Nationalist government offer.

A hint that hostilities may be suspended before long may be read between the lines of dispatches from Shanghai. The northern rebels have encountered many reverses, and it is not the custom in China to prolong a struggle when one is on the losing side. Last year the rival generals composed their differences until winter was over, and it is probable that they will do so again. A request for a truce from Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang within the next few months would surprise no one. It would be typical Chinese strategy.

Such a truce would allow the Nationalist government to turn its full strength against the Communists who are ravaging the country. Changsha and vicinity have been overrun by Communist brigands, Hankow is threatened, and even the capital at Nanking is in danger of pillage. These Communist marauders respect no authority, and they are offered little resistance, except what feeble attempts the population makes at self-protection. Hunger, fear and desperation drive thousands into the Communist ranks, and the menace is growing steadily more formidable.

For this reason the Nationalists would no doubt be inclined to accept a proposal to suspend hostilities with the northern rebels. President Chiang Kai-shek can not hope to restore peace and unity to China until the authority of the rival war lords in the north is definitely broken down. But the condition of his armies, the financial situation and the Communist encroachments leave little hope that he will be able to effectively crush the rival regime that has been set up at Peking. A winter of quiet in which to set his house in order and prepare for a fresh campaign in the spring would no doubt be as welcome to President Chiang as to the rebels. Events seem to indicate a suspension of fighting without settlement of the issues involved.

Whatever turn the civil war takes the restoration of stability to China will be a long struggle. Communism has gained a stronghold, backed by the agitators of Soviet Russia, and it can not be stamped out until a strong government asserts its authority. What appears to be a slight clearing of the skies may be only a shifting of the clouds.

THE EWALD CASE.

Local authorities in New York have proved themselves incapable of handling the charges that George F. Ewald bought his appointment as city magistrate for $12,000, and Gov. Roosevelt has found it necessary to intervene. The district attorney, the grand jury and the city itself are left in a humiliating position. The governor has taken the case entirely out of their hands, ordering an investigation by the attorney general and a special grand jury.

This is one of a series of New York cases which cast suspicion upon the integrity of the judiciary. Public confidence in the courts has been shaken, and can not be restored until competent authorities have probed to the bottom of these charges and brought about the punishment of those involved in corrupt practices.

Apparent irregularities in the appointment of Magistrate Ewald were brought to light by United States Attorney Tuttle. But the case was investigated and presented to the grand jury by District Attorney Crain. Having placed the evidence before the grand jury, Crain did not ask for an indictment, but left the matter entirely in the hands of the jury, which failed to indict. Public sentiment demanded that something more be done, and local authorities were again dawdling with the case when Gov. Roosevelt stepped in.

Facts brought out in the investigation are sufficient to warrant a general probe into the method of making judicial appointments in New York. A few days before Ewald was appointed, Mrs. Ewald turned over $10,000 to a Tammany district leader through a third party, ostensibly as a loan to acquire a new house, which, incidentally was not acquired for several months. The note given for this "loan" was "lost." The money was to be used for three years without interest. Is it the regular practice for prospective appointees to make "loans" to Tammany leaders without charging interest? To leave such questions unanswered after what has been revealed in this case would be to undermine public confidence in the whole municipal administration. The investigation undertaken by the State can not be dropped consistently without exposing every fraudulent connection between politicians and the judiciary.

VAN LEAR BLACK.

Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher and financier, had flown as a passenger in airplanes probably a greater distance than any other person in the world. Since 1927 he had been almost continuously on the wing. Only a few months ago he returned to Baltimore in a plane that had carried him from England to Japan and from California to the Eastern Seaboard. He met death not in an airplane, however, but in the chill waters of the Atlantic into which he had tumbled from the deck of his yacht, Sapalo. Van Lear Black, who had dared death frequently in long and venturesome flights, died a comparatively prosaic death.

This Baltimorean was beloved of many friends, his associates, his employes and his fellow citizens. He started life with a moderate competency that, by force of sheer ability, he pyramided into a great fortune. He was interested in a dozen or more enterprises, but he won fame principally as a banker and a publisher. His papers, the Baltimore Evening and the Morning Sun, are held in high regard by the citizens of that substantial community.

With all his responsibilities, Mr. Black was a man who loved life and lived zestfully. Of recent years he became a citizen of the world but his first love was for Baltimore and the Free State of Maryland and he was ever active in advancing the interests of the City and the State. His many devoted friends, in Europe and America, mourn his death and honor his memory.

MONROE DOCTRINE MISINTERPRETED.

Dr. James Brown Scott's suggestion before the Institute of Public Affairs that each nation of the Western Hemisphere adopt the Monroe Doctrine as a national policy has caused varied reactions in Latin-American countries. Opinion is almost unanimous, however, in opposition to the proposal. A leading newspaper of Argentina expresses the opinion that the Monroe Doctrine now has "only historical value." Sentiment in Brazil is to the effect that the doctrine belongs to the past. Chilean opinion seems to be that the doctrine should be forgotten.

This response suggests the impracticability of Dr. Scott's proposal. The Monroe Doctrine is distinctly a policy of the United States. In 1823 the Government declined to make a joint declaration of this policy with Great Britain. An attempt to have Latin-American countries join in the traditional policy could lead only to confusion and friction.

The only reason for Dr. Scott's suggestion is that he considers the doctrine "a badge of dishonor to our southern friends." It is most unfortunate both for the United States and for Latin America that the doctrine should continue to be so interpreted. Only recently it has been pointed out in an official Government publication that the doctrine does not state a case of the United States vs. Latin America, but one of the United States against Europe.

It is admitted in all of the Latin-American countries that the Monroe Doctrine served a useful purpose in the nineteenth century. Young struggling nations were seeking stability under republican forms of government. Europe was eager to gain a foothold in these undeveloped lands. Had the Monroe Doctrine never been put into effect, some of the Latin-American countries might be still under the heel of European powers. These countries have now become stabilized and are capable of maintaining their own independence. They have lifted themselves above the need of a Monroe Doctrine. But that furnishes no reason why it should be discarded.

While Argentina, Brazil, Chile and the other republics of South America feel that the value of the Monroe Doctrine, so far as they are concerned, lies in the past, it is a vital influence in the protection of some of the weaker American nations that are not yet free from the possibility of European domination. There can be no humiliation for South America in the fact that the United States stands ready to prevent the encroachments of overseas powers.

A more enlightened attitude toward the doctrine is much to be desired. It contains nothing unfriendly to Latin America, but continued reference to it as a "badge of dishonor" leaves a bad taste in the mouths of the southern republics. Instead of trying to induce other American governments to adopt the policy enunciated by Monroe, it would be more profitable to correct the popular misinterpretation of the doctrine.

BALCHEN'S NATURALIZATION.

Secretary Davis has written a letter to Raymond F. Crisp, Commissioner of Naturalization, recommending the waiving of technicalities in the naturalization case of Bernt Balchen and the prompt issuance of papers necessary to establish his citizenship. Balchen was Admiral Byrd's pilot on the South Pole expedition. He applied originally for citizenship in 1927 and expected to receive his final papers in 1931, but the immigration law specifies that absence from the United States for a continuous period of one year or more prior to the filing of the final petition breaks the required continuity of residence. The Immigration Service had notified Balchen that he might expect difficulties in obtaining his final papers. A similar situation arose in the case of John Buys who served as seaman with the Byrd expedition.

Balchen richly deserves American citizenship. That fact should be sufficient excuse for waiving any technical difficulties that might stand in the way. But it is difficult to see why Balchen's service with Byrd should necessarily be construed as "absence from the United States." In the two years he was with Byrd he was constantly under the American flag. Whether or not the area explored and discovered by Byrd is to be claimed in the name of the United States, and whether or not Little America itself was part and parcel of the United States while the Byrd flag was planted in its bleak surface, does not seem to be so important as the fact that Antarctica is No Man's land and that even though Balchen may have been technically out of the United States he certainly was not sojourning under another flag.

Even though the Balchen and the Buys cases may be smoothed over, as they should be, there would still seem to be need for new legislation on the subject of the residence requirement in the naturalization laws. A bill was introduced in the last session specifying that applicants for citizenship absent from the country on scientific or research missions "under employment by or contract with the Government of the United States or an American institution of research" would not be held amenable to the five-year residence rule. The bill was passed over in the final rush of business, but since Americans are beginning to turn more and more to exploration and scientific research in far climes there will probably be future cases similar to those now in dispute. There exists a need for legislation that will prevent such disputes.

Dr. Riddle finds that the female is able to resist more heat than the male. This is doubtless the reason why women leave their husbands in town and spend the summer at the seaside.

Meteorologists say that the navies of the world could be floated in the rainfall that normally should have been registered during the drought. But how about the navies of the pre-London conference era?

THRIFT

From the Christian Science Monitor.

That old-fashioned virtue—thrift—is having its renaissance. One might think that savings are the more readily accumulated during the piping times of prosperity when a modicum of the prevalently generous wage would far overbalance the thin, carefully measured slice of the weekly stipend set aside by the worker in times of business stress. But this hypothesis was not true in the United States in the twelve months ended June 30, 1929, when for the first time in two decades—and apparently on the peak of a prosperity wave—savings deposits in the United States as shown by figures of the American Bankers' Association, dropped $195,305,000, compared with an average increase in the six previous years of $1,805,600,000. Few persons were taking care of their dollars, much less of their pennies.

It may not do to subscribe too wholeheartedly to the theory that it takes "hard times" to send the mercury in the national savings thermometer skyward, but it can hardly be doubted that the thrift habit is fostered by "setbacks" in general business or in the personal fortunes of individuals.

The figures made public last week by the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, which hold more than 30 per cent of all bank savings in the United States, showing a gain of $273,766,807 for the six months ended June 30, 1930, are significant evidence that capital is again being accumulated probably faster than it is being absorbed. These banks showed aggregate deposits of $9,145,891,859, representing 12,272,956 depositors, an increase of 293,683 savers in one of the most uncertain economic periods for years. The trend toward saving is also reflected by the increase in postal deposits, which show a gain of 10 per cent in seven months, and from life insurance, a form of thrift which is running about 3 per cent ahead of a year ago.

These savings represent latent potential buying power, which will turn kinetic, in part at least, when people are assured of steady work or the maintenance of the wage scale. A most important reservoir of capital is being built up, which lends confidence to the deduction that stabilization of America's great purchasing power is proceeding steadily.

In fact, some may argue from these figures with increased force that a sane renewal of spending will work greater benefits to trade, industry and employment in the present situation than will a further filling of the reservoir by frugality. There need be no conflict between wise spending and wise saving. They can go together. One makes for the other. Thrift is a matter of balance between what one uses now and what he lays aside for future income and opportunities. Timorousness is a counterfeit of thrift. Those who have planned needed improvements or expansion will hardly find a more opportune time to get their money's worth than now.

Yet increased savings are encouraging when account is taken of the numbers who need no incentives for loose expenditure and who can profit by looking judiciously to the morrow. The installment system which renders the buying of anything from a suit of clothes to an automobile as easy as answering the call to dinner is regarded by some as mortgaging one's future earning power. This is probably a harsh judgment. The easy credit plan has done its share toward keeping factories busy and men employed. But installment buying and installment saving can be two angles of the same business picture. Wise saving really furnishes a basis for wise spending.

That is poetry. And it is also inspiring practical advice—as good poetry so often is.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE STRANGER.

He walked his way among us, and because his face was strange,
Some thought his coat was shabby and a thing he ought to change.
Some saw he was unshaven, some noticed that his skin
Had rather curious wrinkles, which care had furrowed in.

Because he was a stranger small heed to him was paid.
We thought he wasn' like us, of different stuff was made;
Perhaps had different habits; and all we thought to see
Was that his clothes were shabby, and odd he seemed to be.

Some looked at him with scorning,
some made of him a jest.
But that he was a neighbor, I fancy,
no one guessed.
Because he came a stranger, we thought him rather queer.
And likewise as a stranger we let him disappear.

And yet we might have noticed had we but looked to see That he was just as like us as human folks can be.
As wise as us, or wiser, preferred what we prefer,
But thoughts like these of strangers to us don't oft occur.

The Bootblack Doesn't Favor Hanging the Rich If He Hopes to Be Rich Next Year.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

EVERY youth in America should understand communism. It will play a large part in shaping the destiny of his race. To dismiss it as unworthy of interest is like refusing to discuss a plague or a shifting of continents that threatens to change the whole order of civilization.

A communistic state is one in which the earnings of all are placed in a common treasury and expended for the good of all.

Naturally enough, the system is opposed by all who fare well under our present plan of free competition and favored by those who fare ill.

That being true, a communistic state can not be established in a selfish world except by seizing the property of the rich and disposing of those who will not cooperate.

Russia is not a true communistic state, any more than America would be if the trade unions seized the Government, killed the rich, and ruled the country by force of arms without the cooperation or consent of the farmers.

Yet the Russian experiment is enough like communism to show how men would adjust themselves to communism itself.

It is frequently said that ideal communism is impossible because men of superior ability will not work if denied the reward they earn—that no man will do his best if he has no hope of getting rich.

Wealth, however, is merely a means to an end.

An American investigator, after long study in Russia, reports that the incentive which fires the Soviet worker is not desire for money but for power.

That is easy to understand. The doughboy in the trenches did not crave money. He wished to be a mess sergeant, so that he might have soft security and enough to eat.

In Moscow the housewife must stand long in line, precious "food book" in hand, to buy the monthly allowance of 25 pounds of potatoes for each member of her family.

Where food is rationed, power is worth more than money.

Soft security and enough to eat is the universal ambition of man; and no matter what political system he may devise, he will covet and strive for the thing that will bring him these blessings.

America has communistic parks, schools and clinics, irrigation dams and highways. The trend of civilization is in the direction of greater cooperation.

But the individual's right to get and hold what he can will not be denied in America while the majority fattens in free competition.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

HINTS FOR HOME TOM THUMB GOLFERS.

Home No. 1—Get one of father's rubber boots and cut a hole in the foot. On one side of the hole place a lighted candle, on the other side an uncorked bottle of gasoline. Three feet away lay a derby hat upside down. The idea is to get the ball through the boot into the hat in the fewest possible strokes and without causing a fire. Par three.

• • • •

Hole No. 2—Run an ironing board from the floor to the bridge table. Load the table with cocktail glasses, preferably filled. Suspend a section of drain pipe from the table to baby's crib. The problem is to get the ball up the ironing board, across the table and into the crib without upsetting the cocktails or arousing the baby. Par four.

• • • •

Hole No. 3—Take three one-foot sections of stovepipe and lay them on the floor. One foot from the last section cut a hole in the floor. Just beyond the hole, to catch any excessively hard putts, place an upright mirror. The idea is to get the ball through the three sections of pipe and into the hole in the floor without seven years' bad luck. It's a par two.

• • • •

Hole No. 4 — Water hole. Tee off from the piano. Four yards from the piano place an oil painting of an honored ancestor flat on the floor, with a hole cut over his right eye. Between the piano and the painting place the bowl of gold fish. A good player should be able to tee off without hurting the piano keys. Divots dug in the piano case must be replaced. The penalty for killing a gold fish by a direct hit is one stroke and distance.

Hole No. 5—A dogleg. Stretch a yard of fire hose from the fireplace along the floor and up the floor lamp. From the top of the floor lamp suspend a table leaf between it and the library table. At a right angle to the library table place an old shoe. See if you can play the ball out of the fireplace, through the hose, down the table leaf and into the old shoe for a par four.

• • • •

No. 6—Hidden green hole. Tee off from the kitchen sink, playing the ball from between a cocktail shaker and an empty glass. The second shot is from the spot where the ball lands to a small fern dish atop the rabio cabinet. From there the task is to loft the ball across the room and into the face of a guest asleep on the divan with his mouth open.

(Other holes by request.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

"In God We Trust"—But Do We? Charles Hooper Thinks Not.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: One of the worst droughts, if not the worst, in the history of the Nation, has been afflicting the Middle West and the Southeastern States. The drought has been so bad that the President has called a commission to devise measures of relief for drought sufferers.

In all past ages of the world's history national calamities like drought, famine, earthquake and pestilence have been regarded as divine punishments for sin and wickedness. Present-day science scoffs at such an idea. But what reason have we to think that science knows more about God, man and the universe than the ancients knew? Science did not create the forces of steam, electricity, &c. It merely harnessed and applied these already existing forces and put them to work to move things. Such purely utilitarian and mechanical service as science performs does not qualify it to speak authoritatively upon those profounder matters that lie outside its purview.

No doubt the ancients would have been able to build motor cars and airplanes if they had been interested in utilitarian things. But they were more interested in God, in man, and in man's spiritual life and destiny. Having studied these more carefully than do the men of our age, the ancients spoke with more authority. With almost one voice they proclaimed that punishment follows upon sin.

Many thousands of people are convinced that the calamities of the past quarter century or so in the United States are a fulfillment of prophecy and a direct visitation of divine wrath upon our people for our sins and wickedness. Instead of calling a commission the President should proclaim a day of national prayer and fasting.

What a mockery it is to stamp upon our coinage the words, "In God We Trust!" CHARLES HOOPER.

Charles Bell, of Boonville, Mo., Keeps His Head Up, Plants Turnips and Rye and Tells the World That the Farmers of Cooper County Are Able to Take Care of Themselves.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: We had a good rain this morning, and the weather is cool. The drought is broken, and prospects are good for all who will make the best of present opportunity.

I have just sown a large patch of turnips, which will make food for man and beast. Rye and other food for stock may still be sown for this year's harvest.

I understand our county agricultural agent has wired to Secretary Hyde that 500 families will need help in Cooper County. This is an insult to our farmers, and I hope the Secretary of Agriculture will pay no attention to it.

I have lived in Cooper County since 1854 and have never known a complete failure of farm crops.

Yes, we have had quite a dry spell, but it might have been worse. There is no need to become beggars or unduly alarmed. CHAS. C. BELL.

Merchants Should Be Furnished Printed Material for Mails, Advertising Washington Bicentenary.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Down in the National Press Building there is an office on the main thoroughfare of the city advertising Los Angeles. Some group of men in that Western metropolis have been farsighted enough to place the necessary funds in the hands of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles to advertise their city in the National Capital.

It has been said that we are to have some kind of a Washington celebration in 1932. As far as any one in the National Capital knows there has been no literature prepared to be mailed out to the cities at large telling about this exposition, yet in a short time 1932 will be upon us. There is not a retail establishment in Washington, to say nothing about the wholesalers and jobbers, who would not be pleased to mail out an inclosure with their mail each day, advertising the National Capital and the exposition in 1932.

Are we really covering our territory properly? Are we really doing justice to the possibilities of the National Capital? A. S. W.

H. W. Bleacher, the Model Baseball Fan, Has His Say Regarding the Sale of Score Cards.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I flatter myself that I am a well seasoned baseball fan. I enjoy a good game, win or lose, while a winning streak by the Griffs elevates me to a blissful pitch. I do not lose heart every time the club happens to slump; always remember that errors are bound to happen, giving credit to fielders for trying to do the best they know how, and hardly ever roast the umpire. In a word, I cheerfully hand in my admission price to the grandstand, grateful that I usually get more than my money's worth. But there is one thing in connection with the ball yard by which I am peeved. I inwardly kick like a steer every time I pay 5 cents for a score card. Theaters and other places of entertainment furnish programs free, and what is a score card but a program? Were it not for this grievance I think you might call me a model fan so far as relates to unmixed enjoyment of the game. HENRY WARD BLEACHER.

Another Slap at All-Night Parking.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: "Property Owner" might have gone much further than the owners of homes in naming the opponents of all-night parking, and have included all citizens who have any desire to see a clean city; also, all doctors, the Fire Department, all citizens who do not own or operate a car, and owners of the 140,000 cars in the District who do not use public property for storage purposes.

Furthermore, a ban on all-night parking will prove beneficial in helping the Traffic Bureau rid the city of unsafe cars. JOHN HENRY.

Wives Aiding In Campaign For Congress

Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Gerry, Mrs. Gore and Mrs. Schall Help Husbands.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE ladies will do a lot of campaigning between now and the November elections, some taking to the stump in their own behalf or their husbands', others contenting themselves with silent roles. To the workers rather than to the speakers belongs Mrs. John Philip Hill, who has been her husband's right-hand man in his previous campaigns and who will do her bit to bring about his election, now that his hat is again in the ring.

Mr. Hill, quondam leader of the wet bloc in Congress, filed this week his papers qualifying him as Republican candidate for the House from the Second Maryland District. He will be unopposed in the Republican primary on September 8, but in the election faces a fight against Representative Vincent L. Palmisano, Democrat, in which Mrs. Hill will join with enthusiasm. She remembers the election two years ago in which Mr. Palmisano defeated Mr. Hill—only to be denied his seat after a protest on the plea of fraud. The House decided that Mr. Palmisano wasn't elected legally and Mr. Hill wasn't elected at all, so the seat has been vacant pro tem and now the two men will fight it out again.

Mrs. Hill doesn't go in for speech-making, but she is a most efficient organizer, usually taking charge of her husband's campaign headquarters in Baltimore when he is up for election, answering mail, meeting constituents and generally making herself useful. Incidentally she is highly ornamental, being a picturesque person with a gift for wearing good clothes and wearing them well.

Before her marriage Mrs. Hill was Miss Suzanne Carroll, of Baltimore. She belongs to a family which has helped make history in the Maryland Free State since the days of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, and the Hills make their home when in Baltimore in the old Carroll house, which came to Mrs. Hill from her forebears. They always have a house or an apartment in Washington and commute between the two cities.

Another distinctly ornamental lady who is making herself useful to her husband in his campaign is Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry. She is a first-rate speaker and has been very much in the political picture in Rhode Island all summer. An accomplished linguist, Mrs. Gerry can speak to the French Canadians, a strong element among the Rhode Island voters, in their mother tongue. She was Miss Edith Dresser, and before her marriage to Senator Gerry was the wife of the late Mr. George W. Vanderbilt.

Former senators, by the way, are numerous among those striving for election to the Senate in November. Not only does former Senator Gerry aspire again to the seat he once held, but others campaigning to come back are former Senator Thomas F. Bayard, Delaware; former Senator James "Ham" Lewis, Illinois; former Senator Gilbert N. Hitchcock, Nebraska; former Senator M. M. Neely, West Virginia, and former Senator Thomas P. Gore, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Gore has gone out to Oklahoma to help her husband in his campaign. Blind for many years, he leans heavily on his wife, who has long been his political lieutenant. Out in Minnesota Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, whose husband has also achieved distinction in the field of statecraft despite the handicap of blindness, is literally "running" the senator's race for reelection. For many years Mrs. Schall has served her husband as official secretary, hostess and campaign manager while supervising a home for their family and delving into the profession of law until she is nearly as well versed in legal procedure as Senator Schall.

Representative Ruth Baker Pratt landed in New York yesterday from the liner Olympic, accompanying the Undersecretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills. She went abroad when Congress adjourned. Mrs. Pratt was for a while the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mills aboard the Duke of Sutherland's yacht, Sans Peur, for a Mediterranean cruise and accompanied them to Albania, where they were received by King Zogu. Mrs. Pratt plans to remain in New York until after the elections, organizing her campaign for reelection to the House of Representatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Tumulty are staying at the Willard.

Mrs. Netherwood, wife of Maj. Douglas B. Netherwood, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton, Mrs. Benjamin D. Foulois being among her guests.

Mme. Nano, wife of the Counselor of the Roumanian Legation, is in New York for a few days.

Mrs. Frank B. Freyer has returned to Swampscott, Mass., where she is passing the summer, after a brief visit with Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose at Sea Rocks, her estate at East Gloucester, Mass.

Capt. and Mrs. Wilbert Melville have returned to the Wardman Park Hotel after a visit in New York. Capt. and Mrs. Melville will leave shortly for their home in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell Wallace 3d will sail on September 5 to join Mrs. Wallace's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sanderson, in Paris. They will remain abroad for a short visit.

Mrs. John Allan Dougherty will return to the Mayflower this evening from a two weeks' visit in New York.

The marriage of Miss Fanny May Huff, of Parrottsville, Tenn., and Dr. Everett Monroe Ellison, of Washington, on Friday in Parrottsville has been announced by the bride's brother, Mr. Joseph Alexander Huff.

Dr. and Mrs. Ellison will be at home at 1720 M street after October 15.

Baroness van Boetzelaer van Oosterhout, wife of the former Secretary of the Legation of Netherlands in Washington, who was a guest at the Mayflower when she was in Washington closing their house at 1401 Thirty-first street, returned yesterday to Rehoboth Beach. The Baron has already taken up his duties as first secretary of his country's legation in Brussels, and his wife and their children will sail for Belgium early in September. They have been at Rehoboth Beach for the summer.

Baroness van Boetzelaer van Oosterhout is the former Miss Ethel Litchfield, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Litchfield, of Pittsburgh.

The Minister of South Africa, Mr. Eric Hendrik Louw, left last night for New York, where he will be for several days on official business.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stuckey and small son, John Richard, are again at the Cavalier after a short absence.

Will Be Married

Harris & Ewing.

MISS MARY E. HAMILTON, whose engagement has been announced to Mr. Nelson N. Alexander, of New York, has set January for the date of her wedding. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hamilton, of the Rockville Pike.

Devores May Acquire Home In Washington

Have Acquired Lot at Twenty-fourth Street and Wyoming.

Col. and Mrs. Daniel Devore, whose estate, Chatham, near Fredericksburg, is one of the show places of Virginia, are apparently contemplating building a house in Washington, for they have purchased a fine big lot at Wyoming avenue and Twenty-fourth street. Heretofore, when in town, they have stayed with Mrs. Devore's mother and sister, Mrs. Alexander Stewart and Mrs. Mary Stewart, at their home in Massachusets avenue, spending the greater part of the year at Chatham.

Mrs. Devore's sister, Mrs. Stewart, has also been buying land—a tract at Belmont road and Massachusetts avenue, next door to the Keith Merrills' charming house. She is said to intend to build, but whether for a home or for an investment remains to be seen.

Since Col. and Mrs. Devore purchased Chatham a dozen or more years ago, they have lovingly restored one of the most beautiful old places of the Fredericksburg region and have made the gardens a dream of beauty. It was at Mrs. Devore's solicitations that Miss Frances Benjamin Johnston, famous for her garden photographs, undertook the pictorial survey of the architecture and gardens of Fredericksburg, old Falmouth and nearby Virginia towns, which is now in the keeping of the Library of Congress.

It was her desire to preserve a record of these quaint spots as they are today, with the hope that the collection of photographs, turned over by Miss Johnston to the recently organized division of fine arts of the Library, may be extended to include pictures of other equally historic towns.

Prochniks Arrive From Mexico City.

The Minister of Austria and Mme. Prochnik arrived yesterday morning from their journey to Mexico City, where the Minister went to present his credentials as Minister to Mexico. The Minister and Mme. Prochnik will go immediately to Rehoboth Beach, where they will be until the middle of September.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kennedy, of Baltimore, are spending the week-end with Dr. and Mrs. Norvell Belt at their home in Edgemoor, Md.

Commander and Mrs. William A. Heard entertained a small party at the dinner dance Tuesday evening at the Plage Deauville at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Miss Francesca McKenney has gone to Sayville, Long Island, to be the guest of Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell. Before her marriage in the early summer, Mrs. O'Donnell was Mrs. Lilie Roosevelt Lee. Her mother, Mrs. Robert Roosevelt, is in Europe and Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell are occupying her country home on Long Island for the summer.

Miss McKenney will meet her cousin, Miss Frances Miller, in New York on the latter's return from Europe early in September and they will go to Hot Springs, Va., for a fortnight.

Capital Will Greet Foreign Law Visitors

Wives Are Included in Receptions and Dinners Planned.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hamilton will entertain several hundred guests at a buffet lunch on Wednesday, August 27, at Stone Ridge, their country home, for a group of the distinguished foreign visitors who are coming to Washington under the wing of the American Bar Association. They will have with them for the conference Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Bird and Miss Margaret Ann Bird, of London, who visited them here before taking a trip to California and who will return to Washington on Saturday.

Plans for the luncheon announced for August 26 to be given at the Wardman Park Hotel in honor of the wives of the visiting barristers who will arrive in Washington as guests of the American Bar Association are rapidly being completed. Mrs. William P. McCracken, jr., chairman of the committee, and her assistants have named a group of hostesses for the tables on the afternoon who include Mrs. McCracken, Mrs. Frank S. Bright, vice chairman; Mrs. F. Regis Noel, treasurer; Mrs. Frank S. Hogan, Mrs. John Lord O'Brian, Mrs. Frank S. Mondell, Mrs. Sidney Taliaferro, Mrs. J. Miller Kenyon, Mrs. William Roy Vallance, Mrs. Charles F. Wilson, Mrs. Ralph Van Orsdel and Mrs. Howard S. LeRoy.

Senator R. B. Howell, of Nebraska; Senator John B. Kendrick, of Wyoming, and Senator John Thomas, of Idaho, members of the Alaska Railroad investigation committee, are now in Alaska on an inspection tour. They were guests of the Juneau Chamber of Commerce at luncheon on Monday.

Representative and Mrs. James M. Beck, who recently landed from the S. S. Bremen after spending the summer in Europe, have gone to their summer home at Seabright, N. J. While abroad Representative and Mrs. Beck visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. Pinckney Tuck, in Budapest.

Mr. Sidney S. Alderman is passing some time at the Grove Park Inn at Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. P. M. Jones entertained at luncheon yesterday in the garden restaurant at the Carlton.

At a luncheon given yesterday for Mrs. Thomas Watlington Miss Mary Martha Wrenn had as guests Miss Janet Murray, Miss Margaret Filson, Miss Elizabeth Dunlop, Miss Lalia Harrison Lynn and Mrs. Francis C. Jameson, who was Miss Mary Lee Phillips before her recent marriage.

Has Your Mattress the Mid-Section Spread?

TAKE a moment to look at the mattresses in your home. Have they packed so that there is a sink in the middle, as in the top picture? It is inevitable that mattresses in nightly use become compressed like that and in time lose their buoyancy. All do.

We can take those mattresses of yours—sterilize them—clean them—give the felt, hair or kapok all the springiness of new material—put on a charming, new ticking. See lower picture.

The cost? $4 to $9. Time required, one day. Box springs and pillows renovated or made to order at factory prices. Just phone National 9410.

The fullness concentrated at the side in soft cascading flare is clever means of giving the figure length. It provides necessary width to the hem without detracting from its slim, straight lines.

You will instantly recognize the smart pinched-in waistline that gives the figure a well-balanced appearance.

It's fascinating in sweet olive green dotted crepe silk. It takes but 3 yards of 40-inch material with ¾ yard of 36-inch contrasting for vest and ⅝ yard of 36-inch for bows in the medium size.

Style No. 8185 is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Black crepe silk with Vionnet pink vest is very chic.

Navy blue crepe silk, printed voile in black and white, coral red shantung and printed dimity in yellow and white tones are tempting suggestions.

Armour Official Hurt As Car and Bus Crash

Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—G. M. Willetts, vice president of Armour & Co., was injured, perhaps fatally, and 20 passengers of a Greyhound Lines bus from Kalamazoo, Mich., to Chicago, were shaken up in a collision between the bus and Willetts' automobile on South Parkway today.

Willetts is 60 years old. His skull is believed to have been fractured. The collision resulted when the Willetts chauffeur made a left turn directly in the path of the bus. A. Beger, of Chicago, driver of the bus, was held for questioning pending the outcome of Willetts' injuries.

Two Iowa Bank Robbers Get $5,000 and Escape

Luverne, Iowa, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The Bank of Luverne was robbed of $4,000 in cash, $1,000 in Liberty bonds and an undetermined amount in travelers' checks today by two men, who escaped in a stolen automobile.

Only three employes were in the bank, but a fourth arrived as the pair fled and obtained the license number of the car.

Bandits in Fort Wayne Get $4,000 From Bank

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Five men armed wth sawed-off shotguns invaded the Broadway State Bank shortly before noon today and, after intimidating six employes and customers, fled with $4,000.

Theodore Rudy, of Churubusco, Ind., a customer, was shot and seriously wounded, and George W. Clark, cashier, was slugged when they were slow in obeying commands of the robbers to lie down on the floor.

Egypt Legation Denies Rumors on Government

The Egyptian Legation yesterday issued the following statement:

"Acting under special instructions, the Royal Egyptian Legation in Washington officially denies the reports charging the Egyptian government with the intention of effecting an immediate change in the constitution or the electoral law and establishing an autocratic regime. The legation affirms that the actual Egyptian government is penetrated with the constitutional spirit, and that its actions will always be inspired by this spirit."

Lutheran Pastor Voted Out for Banning Legion

Iron Ridge, Wis., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The board of directors of St. Mathew's Evangelical Lutheran Church today voted the dismissal of its pastor, the Rev. John Henning, because he refused to admit several American Legion members to communion service.

However, the board's action is not final; the pastor's case now will be laid before the congregation for approval. No date for the hearing was fixed.

Three Killed as Auto Hits Tree in Bay State

North Andover, Mass., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Three persons were fatally injured here today when their automobile crashed into a tree. They were Edwin G. Nash, of Cambridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Plummer, of Melrose, who had been married only a few weeks.

Mrs. Plummer was found dead in the wreckage. Plummer was dead upon arrival at the Lawrence General Hospital, while Nash, who identified himself as an instructor at Harvard University, died at the hospital two hours after the accident.

DIAL FLASHES

BECAUSE there are areas in the Pacific so far distant from shore stations that the signals transmitted on the present international SOS channel, 500 kilocycles, can not be heard during daylight because of the variable conditions governing the carriage of radio impulses, Capt. S. G. Hooper, director of naval communications, has recommended more adequate radio coverage. It is probable that there will be a discussion of this matter before the radiotelegraph conference to be held in Madrid in 1932.

The 500-kilocycle channel, which under international agreement is guarded at all hours by major stations of every country, ashore and afloat, is not ideally adapted as the international SOS frequency for ships at great distance in unfrequented waters, in Capt. Hooper's opinion.

Based on experiments conducted by the Navy in the past two months, Capt. Hooper will advocate the adoption of a supplemental distress frequency in the short waves.

CAN you hum the little melody that is played by the string quartet during station breaks on the Columbia network? If so, you have a particularly good ear for music. This signature was composed with the definite purpose of bewildering the music mind. This was to prevent the theme from becoming a tiresome melody that would bore listeners by its constant repetition, as is the case with several theme songs now used to identify programs.

Bill Mahoney, whose piano is heard every day during the health exercises from WRC, plays the piano 6 mornings a week, 50 weeks a year, and has been playing for 5½ years. Each morning he plays one new number never before used on the program, or more than 1,600 new piano selections in the time he has been on the air.

The formal opening of the Canadian National Exposition in Toronto will be described over the air tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 1:30 o'clock).

DISASTER almost overtook Toscha Seidel's 216-year-old violin during a broadcast recently. Mr. Seidel had laid his Stradivarius on top of a piano, when a 40-pound hanging microphone crashed within 6 inches of the instrument. Mr. Seidel refused an offer of $45,000 for it only a few weeks ago.

Freddie Rich, heard through WMAL several times each day, played a piano in an old-fashioned "nickelodeon" on Second avenue when he was 12 years old.

The annual address of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, this year will be broadcast from the New York State Fair at Syracuse over national networks at 2:30 p. m. on Labor Day.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

JELLIED SLICED PEACHES WITH ADDED PECTIN AND ACID.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

2 cups (1 pound) sliced peaches.

3½ cups (1½ pounds) sugar.

½ cup apple pectin extract, extra strength, or ½ cup lemon or orange pectin extract.

Use sweet, fully ripened fruit of rich flavor. It is essential to use fruit of the highest quality, if a superior product is to be obtained, since the flavor of the cooked preserve can not be expected to excel that of the raw material.

Peel the peaches and remove the pits, then slice very thin, about one-eighth inch in thickness. Measure this sliced fruit, add the sugar and mix carefully. Heat slowly over a low flame or at the back of the stove, stirring constantly until the juice flows freely and the sugar is dissolved. Then increase the heat and bring to a vigorous boil as rapidly as possible. A very short time of heating is essential if the fresh flavor is to be preserved. Boil hard for one minute with continual stirring. Remove from the fire and add the pectin. Mix well, skim if necesary and pour at once into glasses.

The merit of this recipe lies in the fact that the characteristic flavor of fresh peaches is not destroyed by the short cooking and is well preserved when the peaches are embedded in jelly. Even in those cases where the jelly fails to set well because of excess of juice or lack of pectin, the product should still be found worth while because of its superior flavor.

Jane Interprets the MODE

Pale blue and pale pink achieve sophistication by a silver edging and a gracious silhouette. (Courtesy of Martial et Armand, Paris.)

Paris, August 20.

TIERS again! No, not tears, although there have been rather plenty of those around here for a few days * * * ahem * * * yes, getting ready to go away again.

Tiers, on skirts. I have counted at least a dozen tiers on one skirt, and eighteen, no less, on another * * * although this latter is an exception rather than a rule. On another gown with tightly fitted hip, three flounces made the rest of the skirt.

And then there was that gorlicious triple georgette made in that rich brown-violet color that promises to be such a success this winter, with its beautiful brooch of Spanish paste in topaz and amethyst, which had gathered flounces placed in such a way on its skirt that it formed almost a tunic effect, tiers, really. Yes, tiers cut the severity of the longer skirt, and are flattering, therefore why not? So says the Haute Couture, and answers that question in his own way with tiers.

* * * *

Some of the newest evening coats are of a quaint 1830 cut, shaped from a single gore back and two simple fronts; their old-fashioned "coat sleeves" are set low on the shoulders and approach the melon-shaped elbow, or the gently flowing wrist. And don't be surprised if handsome velvets are trimmed with what seems an almost skimpy cuff of elegant fur, for that carries out the idea, see?

* * * *

Better carry out a good idea this minnit and send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet that tells you how to gather together several single pieces of skirt, coat and some things you never even thought of, and make fifteen or so fall ensembles for the price of one or two. It's a Dah-ray idea, and it's good, too, honestly—and how much money-saving!

* * * *

And oh, wasn't she luve—l-e-e-e! She whispered "Martial et Armand" to me as she passed, and I noted the details and just sketched them for you today. For the gown was pale pink, and blue lined—no, it was blue reversible, so that the blue part of the material showed in the bolero and as the front flares swayed open. And then, to save it from sugariness, maybe, it had bands of silver for trimming.

* * * *

'N' then I selected a kind of a shoe I thought could be worn with it, in a deeper shade of pink crepe, with silver kid trimming, and an odd modernistic dainmante necklace—what?

* * * *

A Goofus Suggestion

Get rid of your goldfish and turtles,
Give away your dog and white rat,
And ask your Aunt Milly to buy you
A Goofus Accordion Cat.

Gay are the tunes she will play you
By employing her musical knack
Of stretching out to her full length
And then sharply arching her back!

A WELL PLAYED HAND.

The above hand would be played at one No Trump with South the Declarer at Auction Brdge; and at three No Trumps (South one, North two, South three) at Contract Bridge.

When it was played West led his fourth best Spade, East won and returned the suit, South taking the trick with the Queen. The chance of the game seemed somewhat desperate from the Declarer's standpoint. He could get two Spades, two Hearts and Three diamonds; but how could the two Clubs needed for game be established before the adverse Spades were made good and run? West had led the Four of Spades and played the Deuce on the second round, so he was marked with exactly five Spades—South having had the Trey. The adversaries must make the Ace and King of Clubs and would save game if they could win three Spades.

If both the Ace and King of Clubs were in the East hand, Declarer could force them out without any danger that East would continue Spades (North held the Ace against East's only remaining Spade); but if West held the Club Ace-King, there would be no way to stem the Spade tide. However, Declarer saw a chance for game if the Club Ace and King were divided, as they probably were, and played for it as follows:

Dummy was put in the lead with a Diamond, and a small Club led; the expectation being that if the high Club honors were divided, the one held by West would be forced out. Of course had East known where all the Clubs were, he could have saved game by playing the Club King and leading a Spade; but this was not double dummy, and East naturally played a low Club which enabled South to force West's Ace and left West with no reentry and his Spades unestablished.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HAVE AN EXAMINATION.

R. M. writes: Recently you wrote that one of the symptoms of diabetes is the passing of large quantities of urine. I have that trouble, but none of the other symptoms mentioned. I have tried to control it, but it gets the best of me. I am a business woman, 40 years old, weighing 123 pounds, and 5 feet 3 inches in height. Is there any relief for that condition?

REPLY.

Have your urine examined as the basis for a diagnosis as between sugar diabetes and diabetes insipidus. If you have sugar diabetes, proper dieting will lessen the annoyance from the symptoms noted. If you have diabetes insipidus dieting will not help, though drinking less water is of service.

The treatment of diabetes insipidus may consist in the use of some ductless preparation, or in procedures to lessen spinal fluid pressure.

The symptom complained of is often due to nervousness. In that case, training is the proper treatment.

HAZARD IN THE TRIP.

Mrs. T. writes: I am nearly seven months pregnant. My husband wants me to take an auto trip from New York to Maine for two weeks. We would leave at 4 a. m. and ride all day, reaching there, if all goes well, at 8 p. m. Would you advise this trip?

REPLY.

There is considerable hazard for you and your child in taking so long and arduous a ride.

APPLES, EGGS AND CHICKEN.

F. R. writes:

1. Are apples beneficial?
2. Are they fattening?
3. Are eggs beneficial?
4. Are they fattening?
5. Of what benefit is chicken?

REPLY.

1. Yes, as a rule.
2. One can eat only a few at a time.
3. Yes, as a rule.
4. Same as 2.
5. Chicken is a good protein food.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO."

IF August twenty-first is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:40 p. m. and 9 p. m. to 10:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:40 a. m. to 9 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

It will be shown on this date that it is futile to reckon without Fate. A surprise, and possible change are in store for you; also a disappointment. Take comfort in the old English proverb, "If the sky falls, we shall have many larks."

The child born on this August twenty-first will have a stable and reliable character, although it will be proud and somewhat arrogant. It will be intensely enthusiastic, idealistic, and imaginative. It will be quick in its motions, as well as mentally alert.

You are unfortunately one of the worriers. You are haunted by shadowy fears. Your imagination runs wild and fills your mind with gruesome pictures which Time and Fate will never paint as realities. You are not a coward, you face anything and everything with fortitude and courage. No real trouble or misfortune will ever down you—your imaginary ones may. You are able to bury the past, you can bear the present, why not let the future take care of itself? "Keep to the present little inch that is before you, and accomplish that in the little moment that belongs to it." You allow your work to harass you, you let trifles irritate you because you let worry enter into all the phases of your life.

You have much social ambition, a sense of dignity and personal worth, and considerable regard for appearances. You are rather carried away by outward show and taken in by people's insincerities and superficialities. Bodywork is impressive, but it is engine power that really counts. Behind your little ostentatious ways and self-importance, you possess a really homely and quiet nature. You may have higher ambitions than circumstances or your nature can sustain. You are not a born leader, and you should be satisfied to accept a lesser role, and to play it with credit and ability. You can execute better than you can plan—you can copy better than you can originate. The influences in your life are good for home, family and children.

Successful people born August 21:

1. Oliver H. Perry—Naval officer.
2. William D. Gallagher—Poet and journalist.
3. William Pepper—Physician.
4. Frank A. Munsey—Publisher.
5. William H. Dall—Naturalist.
6. John William Draper—Physician.

Behind the Screens

—With NELSON B. BELL—

IN view of the present violent controversy that is being waged, not only in Washington but throughout the land, on the comparative values of living and "robot" music and precisely what mechanical reproduction does to sound, I am happy to have come to hand almost simultaneously with the time for writing this column the following personal expression on the subject by Sigmund Romberg, the noted composer:

"There exists a common delusion that the microphone possesses the faculty of changing the character of a singer's voice. Through misunderstood publicity about the wonders performed by the 'mixer,' people have come to believe that the croaking of a bathroom tenor can be transformed into the brilliant tones of a Caruso.

"I feel urged to contradict this widespread, erroneous impression. Just the opposite is true—a voice must have better qualities for the microphone than for personal transmission.

"In the first place, there is lacking on the screen the intimate personal contact with the singer which helps us forget the little shortcomings of his voice. A tremolo, for instance, in an emotional moment on the stage, may touch an audience, whereas a tremolo transmitted by the impersonal microphone beats a tattoo on our eardrums.

"We know that no mechanical recording apparatus can give us such a true tone as a perfect musical instrument. The normal human voice contains a mixture of tones and noises. In listening to a singer in person, we do not consciously hear most of the interfering sounds—unless they are especially pronounced. A singing voice is the better the more of one basic tone it contains and the less of accompanying sounds.

"The microphone, registering only physical facts, gives us an accurate account of the accompanying noises just as well as of the basic tones.

"Therefore, a voice must be more perfected for the microphone than for the stage.

"Besides the quality of the voice, the musical instinct of a singer must be especially good, for the microphone—with cruel veracity—records the slightest deviation from pitch.

"The real character of a voice can not be changed by the microphone. What can be changed is its volume. This we can regulate as we need it. A fine voice which is too small for the concert hall or stage, can be increased in volume by the recording device to fill a large auditorium, or vice versa.

"A still greater advantage of this new medium of song presentation is the possibility of cutting and editing the continuity of a song. A singer who becomes tired or indisposed on one day can finish his song later when in better voice. In this way, only the best efforts of the singer finally reach his audience."

Address your complaints, if any, to Mr. Romberg—he said it, not I!

Again two holdovers in the downtown, first-run houses and it is still August, the month for whose benefit that imposing mirage of "Greater Movie Season" was devised some years back!

At the Fox, it has been definitely announced, "Common Clay" will continue through a second week, with the supporting bill retained intact—except, of course, for the substitution of late news pictures and a change of the "Know Your Government" lobby exhibit. "Common Clay," by the way, is in its third week at both the Roxy Theater in New York and the Fox in Philadelphia.

The Fanchon & Marco "Eyes" idea, first contemplated as the auxiliary stage attraction for the second week of "Common Clay," will proceed from Philadelphia direct to Atlanta and the "Trees" unit will remain on F street.

At RKO-Keith's "Dixiana" will pursue its merry way, cracking all of the house records hung up by "Rio Rita," which featured many of the same principals.

And while we are at it, the complete roster for next week will be as follows: Columbia, Lon Chaney in his first talking role in "The Unholy Three;" Metropolitan, Walter Huston, Dorothy Revier and Sidney Blackmer in "The Bad Man;" Palace, Jack Oakie, Jeanette MacDonald and William Austin in "Let's Go Native;" Earle, Clara Bow, Stanley Smith, Skeets Gallaher and Mitzi Green in "Love Among the Millionaires;" Fox, Constance Bennett in "Common Clay," second week; RKO-Keith's, Bebe Daniels, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in "Dixiana," second week.

Just by way of presenting its own evidence in the matters of financial depression and hard times, the Fox Film Corporation, through its president, Harley L. Clarke, makes public its statement of earnings for the first six months of 1930, ended June 28, showing net profits, after all charges including interest and provision for Federal taxes, of $7,175,415, as against $5,137,075 for the corresponding period of 1929, a gain of $2,038,340, or 40 per cent.

Very sad, this pinch of poverty!

Stop me if I am wrong, but as I understand it Battling Brylawski and Hammering Hayden are still shadow boxing.

And what a swell gal Sister Aimee would be to follow on to glory, she picks such tranquil trails!

Woman Leaves Estate Valued at $65,000

An estate valued in excess of $65,000 was left by Miss Mary Cassin, who died August 16 at Alexandria, according to the petition for the probate of her will filed yesterday in District Supreme Court.

After making a number of specific bequests Miss Cassin left the bulk of her estate to her sister, Fanny M. Cassin, and her brother, William D. Cassin.

30-Year Term Imposed Upon Slayer of Wife

William Carter, Negro, was sentenced by Justice William Hitz in District Supreme Court yesterday to spend 30 years in jail on a charge of second-degree murder.

Carter was indicted on a charge of first-degree murder in connection with the slaying of his wife, Marion Carter, but recently United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Assistant United States Attorney James P. Hughes accepted his plea of guilty to the second-degree charge.

$8,000 Damages Asked From Oil-Burner Firm

The Domestic Service Corporation, of 1706 Connecticut avenue northwest, and the Griffith-Consumers Co., of 1319 G street northwest, were named defendants in a suit for $8,000 damages filed yesterday in District Supreme Court.

Zullime W. Summers and Milo C. Summers appear as plaintiffs. They state that they contracted with the Domestic Service Co. to install an oil-burning heating system and that they were advised to use a certain grade of oil sold by the other defendant. As a result, they allege, the walls and ceiling of their property at 314 Seventh street northwest, were discolored, as were rugs, furniture and other fixtures.

Man Is Cut While Playing.

"While playing in the kitchen," according to a police report of a fight yesterday at 714 Twenty-third street northwest, William Benther, colored, 31 years old, of that address, was cut on the right side of the face by Gertrude Benther. The injured man was treated at Emergency Hospital, where it was said his condition was not serious.

NATS SCORE 10 RUNS IN FIFTH TO DEFEAT BROWNS, 14-4; CONSIDINE AND MITCHELL CLASH TODAY IN U. S. TOURNEY

Miss Palfrey Defeated in Net Upset

Dorothy Weisel, Coas Girl, 17, Wins in U. S. Women's Play.

Betty Nuthall Winner Over Edith Cross, 6-0, 6-3.

By TED VOSBURGH.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The dramatic downfall of 17-year-old Sarah Palfrey at the hands of a California youngster of her own age featured the third round of play for the national women's tennis championship at the West Side Stadium this afternoon. Leading at 4—1 in the final set, the little Brookline, Mass., stylist suddenly weakened under a steady fire from the racquet of her western rival, Dorothy Weisel, of Sacramento, and went down to unexpected defeat by scores of 6—2, 6—8, 6—4.

In the previous set the Eastern player had turned the tide after facing match point twice and apparently was well in command of the situation when she struck an unaccountable slump. Her shots missed the lines or buried themselves in the net with the result that her imperturbable opponent took five straight games for the match. In those fatal five games, two of which were won at love, Miss Palfrey was able to score a total of just three points.

The result was set down as a major upset, although Miss Weisel has been playing brilliant tennis in her first trip East.

Miss Weisel Not Among Seeded Players.

Miss Palfrey was the No. 4 seeded player in the tournament, while Miss Weisel, a slender girl with an eyeshade and a ranking as the second-best player in northern California, was not included in the seeded list of ten.

Another young Californian, Helen Marlowe, of Los Angeles, learned how fleeting tennis fame can be when she lost to Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., after having provided the principal sensation of yesterday's play by eliminating Eleanor Goss, of New York. Miss Anderson's greater experience carried her to victory today by scores of 4—6, 6—2, 6—4.

Except for Miss Weisel and Miss Anderson all of the players who reached the quarter-finals were members of the seeded group.

Miss Nuthall Easily Beats Miss Cross.

Betty Nuthall, 19-year-old English challenger, continued her steamroller progress through the field by overwhelming Edith Cross, of San Francisco, 6—0, 6—3. Miss Cross was ranked third in the country on her play last year, but has not been going so well this season, and she was able to offer little real opposition. Miss Nuthall's hard-hit drives, often sharply angled, had her on the defensive in most of the interchanges.

In one of the outstanding quarter-final matches tomorrow Miss Nuthall encounters Miss Weisel, and in the same half of the draw Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, Mass., will meet Ethel Burkardt, of San Francisco. Miss Morrill, for the second time in two days, won in straight love sets, this time from Dorothy Workman, of Los Angeles, while Miss Burkardt de-

2 CAPITAL NET ACES GAIN QUARTERFINALS IN NATIONAL TOURNEY

Both Score Victories With Ease in Third Round of Play.

Jennings Advances; D. C. Women Lose by Default.

By JACK ESPEY.

WASHINGTON'S warmest tennis rivalry will flare anew today when Bob Considine, District of Columbia champion, engages Dooly Mitchell, local municipal parks champion, in the singles quarter-finals of the United States public parks championships in progress on the Rock Creek courts, Sixteenth and Kennedy streets northwest. This match, which undoubtedly is the high spot of today's card, will start at 1:30 p. m.

In their numerous clashes of the past, Considine has gained the edge in victories, the most recent being his conquest of Mitchell in the 1930 District of Columbia tournament at Edgemoor Club last month, but always Mitchell has given the lanky one a terrific struggle and the rule has been decisions by small margins.

Considine, because of previous results and the fact that he is seeded fourth in this tourney, is favored to win. Mitchell, however, has his supporters and is known to be on his game.

Considine and Mitchell Win Easily.

Yesterday in the third round, both rang up easy victories, Considine defeating Edward Nowak, Buffalo, 6—3, 6—2, 7—5, and Mitchell overwhelming Monte Tiller, Louisville, seeded seventh, 6—3, 6—2, 6—4.

George Jennings, jr., Chicago, defending his title for the second year in succession, advanced to the quarterfinals with another impressive triumph, this time running over J. C. Miller, jr., Birmingham, Ala., 6—2, 6—3, 6—0. Jack Delara, Los Angeles, seeded second, who, like Jennings, is a left-hander, again narrowly averted elimination, having to come from behind to win three straight sets to gain a decision over Leo Lejeck, Chicago, 4—6, 3—6, 6—4, 6—2, 6—1.

Ted Drewes, St. Louis, winner of the title from 1924 to 1927, inclusive, continued the forward march by beating Leo Kronman, of Buffalo, 6—3, 6—2, 6—3. This veteran has been improving with each match and may be the one to furnish strongest contention for Jennings' crown.

LeJeck Beaten in Day's Biggest Upset.

In the biggest upset of the singles, Alex Kelles, of Baltimore, defeated Charles Le Jeck, of Chicago, seeded sixth, by staging a late rally to take the match by scores of 2—6, 3—6, 6—3, 11—9, 6—3. Another surprise was registered by Thomas "Bud" Markey, Indianapolis representative and coholder of the Washington parks doubles title, who swamped Robert Hall, of Louisville, 6—1, 6—1, 6—0.

Arnold P. Simons, of Louisville, who eliminated the third seeded player, Jack Castle, of Buffalo, in the first round, was the other third-round winner, his victim being Robert Norton, of St. Louis, by scores of 3—6, 6—3, 6—1, 8—6.

While Considine and Mitchell are having it out in today's quarter-finals, Jennings will meet Drewes, Simons will oppose Kelles and De Lara will engage Markey. Second-round doubles also will be played this afternoon.

Markey and Yeomans Advance in Doubles.

In a first-round doubles match yesterday, Markey and Eddie Yeomans, his partner in the local parks doubles championship, easily conquered Richard Ramsburg and A. L. McCardell, Frederick, Md., 6—2, 6—1, 6—3.

Washington's chances for honors in women's doubles were seriously hurt when Dorothy Kingsbury and Louise Omwake, local parks champions, failed to appear on scheduled time and lost by default to Ethel Haas and Lydia Kayser, Buffalo, in the first round.

Mrs. Ruth Martinez, the Capital's

Former Ring Champion Sought in Cop's Death

Portland, Me., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Johnny Wilson, of Boston, former middleweight boxing champion, today was sought for questioning in connection with the death of Patrolman Michael T. Connolly, whose body, the wrists manacled with his own handcuffs, was found on the waterfront last Friday.

Authorities said Wilson had been in Portland for several weeks previous to the patrolman's drowning, but that they did not know if he was still here.

Wilson was questioned during the investigation into the slaying in New York three years ago of Frankie Marlowe.

Kremer Blanks Braves As Pirates Win, 5-0

Pittsburgh, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Despite wobbly support, Ray Kremer shut out Boston today in the series opener, yielding but five hits, while the Pirates acquired nine off Seibold for a 5 to 0 victory. The Pirates erred five times.

The victory was Kremer's seventeenth of the season.

CUBS BEATEN BY PHILS' 5 HOMERS

League Leaders Bow, 5-4, Despite 17 Hits Off Benge.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Philadelphia sprayed Wrigley Field with home runs today to defeat the Cubs, 10 to 8, in the play-off of their twice-tied game. The defeat, however, did not damage the National League champions' lead over New York, which lost to St. Louis, 5 to 4.

Although the Cubs peppered Ray Benge for seventeen hits to thirteen obtained by the Phillies off Lynn Nelson and Bob Osborn, the Easterners mixed in five home runs. Davis got two, the second one with a pair of runners on, while Chuck Klein, Frank O'Doul and Don Hurst got one each.

Benge Effective Late In Game.

Al Shealy pitched the last inning and a fraction and held the Phils hitless, but the Cubs could do no damage to Benge in the final stages.

Chicago won three of the five-game series, which with three out of four over Brooklyn, and a whole series over Boston, gave the Bruins 10 victories in 13 games of the home stand.

Anzac Cricketers In lead Over British

London, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The Australians entrenched themselves in a strong position in the cricket test match with England today, scoring 695 runs in their reply to the homeland's first innings total of 405.

The match is for the Anglo-Australian championship and is being played to a finish. Australia batted for most of today leaving England to open their second inning in the waning light of the late afternoon.

England lost the wicket of the veteran Jack Hobbs before close of play. Hobbs, probably playing in his last test match and on his home grounds, was clean bowled by Fairfax when he had scored nine. England's second innings total when stumps were drawn, was 24 runs for one wicket.

Three Shoot Titles Won in National Meet

Vandalia, Ohio, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Three additional trapshooting champions were crowned in the third day's meet of the grand American handicap tournament here today.

E. F. Woodward, Houston, Tex., a tried veteran of the trapshooting world, won the "champion of champions" title in the race between State champions. Representing Texas, Woodward broke 197 out of a possible 200 targets to tie with Ohio's title holder, H. F. Roberts, of East Fultonham. In the 25-target shoot-off, Woodward had a perfect run, while Roberts missed once. Third place went to the champion of Indiana, Steve McCook, jr., who finished with 196.

The veterans championship, opened to those 70 years of age and over, was won by F. D. Kelsey, 78, of East Aurora, N. Y. He shattered 181 out of 200 targets. Ohio's No. 2 squad won the State team championship with a total of 977 targets out of a possible 1,000.

GROVE GAINS 21ST WIN, 10 TO 6

Allows Tigers 7 Hits; Hoyt Batted Out in Second.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Lefty Grove won his eighth straight and twenty-first victory of the season today, pitching the Athletics to a 10-to-6 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. Grove's four passes and his own wild throw helped the Tigers make the most of their seven hits.

Hoyt started against the star southpaw and was relieved after being battered for three runs in the second inning and three more in the third. Guy Cantrell was solved for the balance of the victors' tallies. Dale Alexander hit a home run with one on base in the seventh.

FUSILLADE OF 11 HITS SENDS COFFMAN AND KIMSEY TO SHOWERS

WHATTA FRAME

Manush, Cronin, Rice Each Get 2 Safeties in Big Inning.

Crowder Blanks His Former Mates Until 6th; Is Relieved.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IT really is a pity that the Nationals are unable to scatter their runs more judiciously. Against the Tigers and Earl Whitehill Tuesday, they were beaten, 2 to 1, while yesterday, in taking the opener of the four-game set from the Browns, they had nine runs to spare, copping the verdict, 14 to 4. They kept pace with the Mackmen and gained half a game on the idling Yankees, now being eight and a half games out of first and holding the runner-up position by a game and a half.

Discarded players have a way of bouncing back like boomerangs toward the manager who let them go and it must have made Bill Killefer, St. Louis pilot, sick when he watched "General" Alvin Crowder and Outfielder Heinie Manush beat his team almost single-handed, while Goose Goslin, obtained in a trade for this pair, cracked out but two useless hits.

Nats Give Crowder 13-Run Lead.

Crowder faced his former mates on the slab and held them to two widely scattered hits until after the Nats had given him a 13-run lead. Then he let down and the Browns knicked him for four more hits and a run before he was relieved in order to save him for future duty. Carl Fischer finished the game and three of the alien runs were molded from his offerings in the ninth.

All Manush did was to crack out four safeties in five trips up, one a double. These propelled four mates past the registering station, while Heinie scored three times himself.

Dick Coffman, a former Nat, started on the alien hill and, after granting three runs in the first session, went along nicely until the fifth, when the Nats suddenly pounded him all over the lot, scoring ten runs. Chad Kimsey, his relief, was even worse, the only four Nats to face him singling, and he hurried to the showers right behind Coffman. "Lena" Stiles finally stopped the onslaught, although he granted another run later in the game.

Eighteen hits were credited the Nationals, with Cronin, Judge and Rice running second to Manush with three each. Two of Judge's safeties and one of Rice's were doubles, the first-sacker quite conspicuously reentering the game after a short layoff. Only Jimmy McLeod and Pitcher Fischer, who did not come to bat, went hitless.

Fifth Inning Tells Story of Game.

After scoring three times in the first, the Nationals were fairly quiet until the fifth when they broke out in a rash of hits. The story of this inning is practically the story of the game. Fifteen Nats went to the swinging block, and eleven of them hit safely, McLeod being the only member of the Johnson cast not credited with a bingle in this round, while Rice, Manush and Cronin obtained two each.

Rice opened with a two-bagger and Hayes sacrificed him to third. After Manush singled Rice home, Cronin singled and Judge was hit to fill the sacks. West singled two across and another registered and West advanced on McLeod's infield out. Ruel singled another in and Crowder then poled a triple over Schulte's head to score two more.

Coffman quit by request at this stage and Kimsey took up the St. Louis pitching burden. It was like sending a boy to do a man's work, for Rice and Hayes singled, Manush doubled, and Cronin singled, and Kimsey, too, heard the shower call. Judge greeted Stiles with a one-baser, but the round ended when West rolled to Melillo.

Browns Break Ice In Sixth.

While the native lead was small, Crowder managed to keep the Browns

BLACK TONY COLT BRINGS TOP PRICE AT SARATOGA

Yearlings Net $98,800 at Auction

Tryster Colt Bought for $7,700 for Belair Stud.

Only 3 Other Juveniles Bring More Than $5,000.

Special to The Washington Post.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 20. — The yearlings of Carr & Platt and the Mapleton stud of Carstairs & Pierce were disposed of here tonight before another shivering gallery. In all, 50 head were sold for a total of $98,800, an average of $1,976. Only five of the yearlings were from the Mapleton stud, but they brought the best prices of the evening.

Top price of the evening—$9,000—was paid for a Mapleton stud brown colt by Black Toney out of Bal Masque. This colt was marked with a round star in the center of his forehead and is out of a sister of Tripping Toe, a filly which has raced well for W. R. Coe. Andrew Jackson Joyner, trainer for George D. Widener, was the successful bidder. Mr. Joyner has raced here in his own silks this season and did not announce whether he was purchasing for himself or for Mr. Widener or another.

Tryster Yearling Nets $7,700 Bid.

The second highest price also was for a Mapleton yearling, James Fitzsimmons was at the ringside and paid $7,700 for a yearling by Tryster out of Byebye. Mr. Fitzsimmons trains for the Belair Stud, where Gallant Fox is his most important charge at the moment, and the Tryster yearling was purchased for Belair. While the Belair Stud breeds many horses, racing most for its own use and even having enough left over to sell some, the yearling tonight was deemed a desirable acquisition because of his blood lines. He will, of course, be raced but it is bceause of the strains that he represents that Mr. Fitzsimmons purchased him.

Two yearlings were sold for $6,000 each. Both were from the Carr and Platt consignment. One was sold to Max Hirsch, trainer of a public stable, and the other was acquired by Miss M. E. Altemus, fiancee of John Hay Whitney. Miss Altemus purchased a bay or a brown filly by Bunting out of Bonnie Carrie. She is a sister to the stake winner, Wacker Drive, and a half sister to Carol, another stake winner.

Macaw Colt Bought By Max Hirsch.

Mr. Hirsch purchased a chestnut colt by Macaw and out of Palestra. Macaw is the horse which ran a dead heat with Nedana in the Carter Handicap of 1926. His colt tonight was a good looking youngster and is a half brother to Highland Chief, Stealaway and Crepe Satin. Palestra is an imported mare.

Only one other horse brought over $5,000. This was a black colt by Tryster out of Salubria: Andrew Jackson Joyner was the buyer here and bid the youngster in at $5,500. He is unmarked and bred somewhat like Equipoise.

LADY LEGS, away on her toes, rushed into the lead, displayed good speed, saved ground and held on gamely. HARLEM, away fast, showed more early speed than usual and closed fast. MEEK got away flying, followed pace and ran a good race. HIGH GO broke slow, went up with a rush on inside and was weakly ridden at the end. PLAMM was in close and had no excuse.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $1,200; selling. The Forest Lane Steeplechase. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:32½. Off at 3:33½. TORREADOR II, much in front from the start, was allowed to rate for a turn of the field, moved up fast in last half mile and took lead to win galloping. THE WORKER was a stout factor for entire trip and finished fast. BOOTLAND jumped well and had a brief lead in last mile, but weakened badly. STALKER had plenty of speed, but jumped poorly, making several bad landings. THE ACE II ran a miserable race. He jumped poorly and lacked speed and never a contender. FLOWER ROCK fell at the second jump and SUNCHEN and SONG AND DANCE MAN fell over him.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs (second division). Purse, $1,000; claiming. The Cohoes. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 4:06½. Off at 4:09½. Winner, Belair Stud's b. g. MR. SPONGE was much the best. He broke a bit slow, worked his way up on inside in first half mile, took lead in stretch and drew away to win nicely in hand. JUDGE SCHILLING finished in front, showed excellent speed and held on gamely. FINITE lacked his early speed, but came through on inside in stretch and was third in last stride. DINAH DID UPSET broke well and was forced very wide all the way. She finished fast and would have been third in another stride. SARAZEN II tired chasing the pace. POLYGAMOUS tired badly after showing early speed.

ROBINS LOSE TWO GAMES TO REDS

Beaten Twice by 2-1 Scores and Drop Farther Behind.

REDLAND FIELD, Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The Reds pushed the Dodgers farther back in the National League race here today when they took both ends of a double-header, winning each contest by a 2 to 1 score.

In the second game the Reds scored their winning run in the ninth when Lucas batted for Durocher and doubled, sending Heilmann over the plate. Phelps and Kolp were the rival pitchers. The Reds scored their Victors to Represent Government Loop in Title Series.

THE Naval Hospital Nine won the Government League championship yesterday by defeating the Navy Yard Club 10 to 9, in the deciding game of the play-off series. A crowd, estimated at 5,000, one of the largest to witness a sandlot game here, saw the battle.

Pete Ingram was the outstanding hero of the Sailors' uphill fight. He not only held the Navy Yard sluggers and got credit for the victory, but his single drove home what proved to be the winning run in the seventh inning.

The rival managers elected to start the pitching heroes of last Tuesday's 1-0 victory of Naval Hospital. Ray Harover climbed the hill for Navy Yard and Columbus Sams for Naval Hospital. Both showed the effects of their hard grind the day before and neither lasted.

Naval Hospital Enters Week-Day Series.

By virtue of their triumph the Naval Hospital Nine will carry the colors of the Government League into the week-day leagues championship series. Naval Hospital was forced to rally to take the Government title. The Sailors won the first series with Navy Yard finishing in the ruck. However, Navy Yard came back in the second series and beat out Naval Hospital. The Sailors lost the first game of the play-off but came back to win the other two battles.

Naval Hospital was first to score, counting a run in the first inning on hits by Schuster and Roberts, with a sacrifice in between. Navy Yard got that run back and two more in the second. Mattingly's double, singles by Lattin, Ryan and Harover, together with Hornsberger's sacrifice, figured.

The fourth inning saw the passing of Sams and the gaining of a 6-1 lead by Navy Yard. Lattin doubled and Ryan singled. Hornsberger sacrificed and Heil scored the two runners with a single. Ingram replaced Sams. An error and a fielder's choice netted another tally.

Harover Gets in Trouble.

Harover got in his first serious trouble in the fifth. Naval Hospital counted four runs on singles by Howk, Ingram, Munson and Tate, together with Roberts' double. The Sailors got rid of the fast-tiring Harover in the next inning and took an 8-6 lead. Harover walked Howk and Ingram and Bridges singled to fill the bases. Kuhnert took up the task and after Howk was put out at the plate on an infield tap, Ingram scored on a wild pitch and Bridges and Munson counted on Tate's single.

Navy Yard, not to be outdone, came back to lead 9-8 with three runs in the seventh as the result of hits by Caudle, Mattingly, Ryan, together with an error and a fielder's choice.

Naval Hospital won the game in its half of the frame. Payne singled and Piller sacrificed. Howk singled, scoring Payne, who went to second on the throw-in. Howk scored the winning run on Ingram's third hit.

Ryan, Navy Yard, carried off the individual hitting honor of the day with four singles in as many trips to the plate.

Week-Day League Series Opens Today at Union Sta.

The week-day leagues championship series will start today with the Tile Setters, Industrial League, meeting the Capital Traction Nine, Terminal Y. M. C. A. Morning League, on the Terminal Field at Union Station, starting at 4:15 o'clock. Frank DiNenna will do the pitching for the Tile Setters while Capital Traction will depend upon Left White.

Last-minute warnings to teams in the series have been issued by the board of managers. Only fifteen minutes will be allowed teams to take the field. Umpires have been instructed to forfeit after that period.

The umpires to be selected for each game by President McClure, of the District Umpire Association, will not be disclosed until game time.

The list of umpires who will officiated in the series follows: E. G. "Ping" Purdy, George Watt, Jimmy Green, Irving L. Shoemaker, James Y. "Shorty" Hughes, Willie Watt, Paul "Bottle" Cox, Jimmy Jones and C. Bussius.

Singer Signs to Fight McLarnin, Canzoneri

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Al Singer, world's lightweight boxing champion, today signed two contracts with Madison Square Garden Corporation, one to meet Jimmy McLarnin in a nontitular bout at the Yankee Stadium, September 11, and the other to defend his title against Tony Canzoneri in the Garden Arena on November 14.

Hymie Caplin, manager of Singer, signed for the young Jewish champion for both of the bouts. McLarnin is expected here from Vancouver, British Columbia, about the 29th of the month to officially sign his part of the contract. Frank Bruen, general manager of the Garden, said, however, that McLarnin had agreed to the fight and that they would meet at 142 pounds with each fighter taking a cut of 25 per cent of the gate receipts.

The bout with Canzoneri, former featherweight champion, will be the first championship contest for Singer since winning the title from Sammy Mandell in the Yankee Stadium last month.

MUNY TENNIS RULES TO BE CHANGED

Eligibility Lines to Be Tightened at Today's Meeting.

SEVERAL radical changes in the rules and regulations which govern the national public parks tennis tournament will be under consideration at the meeting of the National Public Parks Tennis Association this morning at the Roosevelt Hotel. Eligibility, a topic that has long held sway at the annual meetings, again will be featured.

At a session of the executive committee, held earlier in the week, the proposed changes were first discussed.

The executive committee will seek to rid the realm of public parks tennis of mushroom tournaments, the type that permits the winner to represent an obscure suburb on the edge of a city in whose sanctioned tournament he has participated and been defeated. It also will seek to curb the growing tendency of certain cities to designate representatives, regardless of whether they have won sectional tournaments or not.

With the injection of woman's play into national public parks tournaments, the matter of proper chaperonage was bound to crop up. Because of the inability of the local hostesses to be constantly at the side of the women and girls entered in the local tournament, a motion to restrict women's competition to players no younger than 18 years will be presented.

Another proposed change involves the question of two singles players from separate precincts combining forces to enter the doubles. Some officials of the association maintain that national public parks competition must remain intercity. City governments, they aver, defray the expenses of their representatives and the cities in turn should receive due credit, undiluted.

The association is expected to recommend Detroit as scene of the 1931 tournament, with Louisville and Chicago following.

St. Joseph Loses Plea Before Protest Board

The protest board of the Capital City League gave a hearing to the St. Joseph Team last night on the Woodmen of the World game, which was awarded to Woodmen after a controversy regarding a ball hit over the fence at the Plaza. The board decided that the original decision stands.

The Lionel and Bethesda Nines of the junior class will replay their game of last Sunday by agreement. Bethesda admitted using a player beyond the age limit.

Mercer Would Pay Gridmen's Expenses

Macon, Ga., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Brown Nicholson, president of the Macon Chamber of Commerce, told the Lions Club at a meeting here that "money is necessary to suport good athletic teams, and unless we can pay the expenses of football players at Mercer, they will keep going to Georgia and Tech."

Mercer is a Baptist instiution, and a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Georgia and Georgia Tech are members of the Southern Conference.

"There's no use beating around the bush, Mr. Nicholson said. "If we don't pay the expenses of athletes at Mercer, they'll go somewhere else.

"We've got a good bunch lined up this fall, but we've got to pay their expenses. Think what $50,000 per game would mean turned loose in Macon during the fall—and that's what would happen if Mercer had a real football team."

HUMPHREYS CLINCHES TITLE

Beats Ft. Meade, 3-1, in Area League; Medicos Win.

TWO exceptionally interesting and hard-fought games resulted in the northern district of the Third Corps Area League yesterday. Fort Humphreys playing host to Fort Meade and turning in its seventh successive victory in one, while the Army Medicos journeyed to Fort Washington to beat that team, 8 to 7, in the other. A home run by Whitt with two on in the seventh gave Humphreys a 3-to-0 triumph in its game, the victory assuring it the title and an opportunity to met the group 2 winner.

This four-base clout decided a pitching duel between Rahn and Wagner, who granted but five and six hits, respectively, while the former struck out twelve. Rahn and Whitt were carried off the field on the shoulders of their enthusiastic mates when the game ended.

Medicos Tie in Ninth; Win in Tenth.

Ten innings were needed to decide the Medico-Fort Washington game, with the Medicos knotting the count at 6-all in the ninth and scoring twice in the extra frame on an error, a timely triple by Isom and Norman's single. Fort Washington came back with one run in its tenth on three hits off Pitcher Lewis, the latter then giving way to Woods, who stopped the rally. Slattery was the batting hero of the game, getting a homer and two singles in five trips to the plate.

TILDEN TOYS IN BEATING SUTTER

Lets Foe Carry Match to 5 Sets and Then Defeats Him.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The top ranking William T. Tilden, greatest showman that American tennis has produced in its half century of existence, today put on one of the most amazing exhibitions of his colorful court career when he defeated the rising young Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, intercollegiate and Eastern grass court champion. The score was 7—5, 4—6, 6—3, 2—6, 8—6, and Tilden thus entered the quarter-finals of the current Newport Casino Invitation tournament.

The seven times national champion, who has been limping about with a painful hip injury during the past week, dramatized his match with the Louisiana youth who was the party of the second part recently when Tilden upset the tennis world by defaulting from the Eastern grass court championship after being annoyed by a few hostile spectators.

Tilden Carries Match To Five Sets.

When Tilden withdrew from the courts at Rye, N. Y., he was hopelessly trailing young Sutter. During today's match, however, he revealed enough of his old-time form to convince most of the gallery that he could defeat Sutter, a capable youth who has not yet acquired a good finishing stroke, in straight sets. Yet Lanky Will, to give the gallery a thrill, allowed this match to run through five exciting sets before he called upon his wonderful assortment of strokes to clinch the victory.

During this match, Tilden enacted every role possible in tennis. He ranged from comedian to tragedian and during the last game he went into his favorite role of heroic lead to blast Sutter out of the tourney with a few well played strokes.

The other seven fourth-round matches, though hard played were not very exciting. This play ran true to form and the six remaining seeded players were victorious.

George Lott, determined Chicago player who shared Tilden's Davis Cup singles duties, romped into the last eight by defeating Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, Calif., 6—1, 6—2, 6—4. Wilmer Allison, Texan member of the Davis Cup double team, advanced as easily over E. R. Avery, of England, 6—2, 6—1. The other Britisher to reach today's play, F. J. Perry, bowed to Johnny Van Ryn, of Orange, N. J., Allison's partner, 6—2, 7—5, 6—3, 6—3.

Mt. Rainier-Dixie Pig Game at Byrd Stadium

The crucial game of the Prince Georges County section of the Capital City League on Sunday between the Mount Rainier and Dixie Pig Nines has been shifted to the Byrd Stadium at the University of Maryland, it was announced last night. Mount Rainier can clinch the league title by a victory while the Pigs can stay in the race by winning.

Hagen Tops Western Open, Qualifying With Record 67

By PAUL MICKELSON.

INDIANWOOD GOLF CLUB, Orion, Mich., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Reports of Walter Hagen's complete downfall from the ranks of golfdom's mighty appear to have been grossly exaggerated.

The once royal flush of the links, minus an important golf crown for the first time in 17 long years, spiked these reports for once any way today, when he swept over the Indianwood Golf Club course with a blistling, record-smashing 67, five strokes under par, to lead a field of 142 in the qualifying round of the Western open golf championship.

Not only was the total a course record but it marked the second day in a row that the "Haig" toured the course in the sixties. He carded a 66 in practice yesterday, but the score was not accepted as a record.

Leads Farrell By Stroke.

Sir Walter's great round gave him the lead by one stroke over another far famed stylist, Johnny Farrell, of New York, and a three-shot lead over Charles Guest, Detroit professional and present Southern California open champion, who finished third.

On his record-breaking round today, Hagen played a flawless game except for his second shots. Had they been a trifle stronger he might have trimmed even three or more strokes from his advantage over par.

All told, he speared one eagle, three birdies and played all the remaining holes, with one exception, perfectly. Hagen's eagle came on the first hole, a 460-yard stretch. A 30-foot downhill putt accomplished the trick.

Another 30 foot downhill putt netted him a birdie 3 on the 404-yard second. The next seven holes were played perfectly, and he whistled around the turn with a 32, 3 under par.

The "Haig" was forced to one-putt the eleventh, twelfth and fourteenth for his next collection of birdies, because his second shots stopped short. His only upset by par on the round came on the thirteenth, where he muffed a short putt.

Today's qualifying round, staged for those who failed to place among the low scorers in the 1929 tournament, turned out to be something of a "joker," except for Hagen's return to form. Out of the 142, who tried, 121 qualified by shooting 84s or better. Among the "big shots" who were not forced to qualify and who will open their first drives in tomorrow's first 18-hole round of the 72-hole medal fight for the title, were Tommy Armour, of Detroit, defending champion; Horton Smith and Gene Sarazen, of New York; Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del.; Jock Hutchison, Harry Hampton and Al Espinosa, Chicago professionals; Densmore Shute, Lima, Ohio; Henry Ciucci, Stratford, Conn., and Emmett French, Southern Pines, N. C.

Farrell, who, like Hagen, was forced to qualify because he did not compete last year, had rounds of 33 and 35 today, and led the field until Hagen posted his score among the final finishers.

Because of the big room for qualifiers there were no upsets today. Charles (Chick) Evans, jr., of Chicago, former champion, qualified easily with a 74, as did Tony Manero, New York professional and runner-up in the recent St. Paul open, who tallied a 78.

Other low scores today were: Johnny Fischer, Fort Thomas, Ky., amateur, 71; Emerick Kocsis, Detroit, 71; Al Watrous, Detroit, 71; Jimmy Noonan, Chicago, 72; Al Marchi, Urbana, Ohio, 72.

Middle Atlantic Regatta Entries Will Close Tonight

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 20.—All entries for the thirty-ninth annual Middle States Regatta, which will be held here Labor Day under the auspices of the Old Dominion Boat Club, must be in the hands of C. Fred Muller, of New York, secretary-treasurer of the association, not later than Thursday at midnight, or bear a postmark of the date August 21.

Upon receipt, the entries will be forwarded to Magnus W. Bales, chairman of the association's regatta committee, who has arranged a meeting of the committee in Baltimore next Monday night for the purpose of examining the entries and arranging the program. Announcement of the entries will be made at this meeting.

Regatta Is Open to All Comers.

Indications are that the entry list will be the largest in years drawing clubs from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Richmond, Washington, this city and some few clubs from smaller cities in the vicinity of New York and Philadelphia. The regatta is open to all amateur rowing clubs, schools and colleges in the world.

There must be two entries from different clubs in order to insure the race. The entry fees are $5 for singles, $10 for doubles, $15 for fours and $25 for eights. The winner of any event in any class may, upon payment of the entrance fee, enter the next higher class.

A meeting of the Iroquois Athletic Club will be held at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the high school grounds for the purpose of organizing a football team for the coming season. Last season this team won the 135-pound championship of Northern Virginia. Cuddles Owens, coach, requests that all members and those wishing to join attend Sunday's gathering.

Basketball Planned By Celtics.

The St. Mary's Celtic Basket Ball Team met tonight at Hurshman's for the purpose of formulating plans for the coming season. Adviser Edward Harlow presided at the meeting and spoke of the coming activities. Practice will be held in the near future as soon as a suitable hall can be found.

Long List Closes Up 1 to 3 Points and Specialties Climb Higher.

OIL DIVIDENDS PASSED

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Strenuous efforts to make a bull market were pushed forward by professional operators in today's stock market, with a tinge of cheerfulness in the weekly steel trade reviews and firm commodity markets helping the cause. The advance encountered considerable opposition, however, and confirmed bears hammered at some of the oils, coppers and specialties. Nevertheless, a long list of important shares closed with net gains of 1 to 3 points, with a few specialties up 4 to 20. Trading about approximated yesterday's pace, with total sales of 3,817,580 shares.

Omission of dividends by Shell Union and Warner Quinlan prompted selling of the oils, but reduction of Hudson Motors annual rate from $5 to $3 was less drastic than expected, and some short covering developed in the motor group. Hudson closed up more than a point, and Auburn 4½.

Steel Operations Gain.

Iron Age placed steel mill operations at 53 per cent of capacity, a gain of 1 per cent over last week, and the first upturn reported by this publication since the week after the mid-year closings.

Steel pointed to firmness in the scrap market, with an advance of 50 cents a ton at Pittsburgh, as of favorable augury. The demand for structural steel, and for steel for railway equipment, ship building, pipe lines and machinery shows a little more activity, while inquiries from automobile manufacturers remain light. Both U. S. Steel and Bethlehem rose more than 2 points, but lost part of their advance before the close.

The coppers were depressed by continued slackness of demand for the red metal. Producers and consumers appear deadlocked, over the price which continues 10¾ cents bid and 11 asked. Kennecott sagged 2 points to a new low for the present stock, and Federal Mining, a comparatively inactive issue, most of which is held by American Smelting, sold at 11⅛, the lowest in three years, and off 35 from the last transaction.

Razor Stocks Soft.

Other soft spots included the safety razor stocks, recently strong on merger rumors. Autostrop lost about 6, and Gillette half as much. In the oils, Royal Dutch, which controls Shell Union, recorded a new low, as did Warner Quinlan.

Diamond Match was a buoyant feature, rising 20 points in a small turnover. Case gained 7, Warren Bros. and International Business Machines, 4. Stocks closing 2 to 3 points higher included Loews, Radio Keith, United Aircraft, American Tobacco B, American Telephone, American Power & Light, American & Foreign Power, Columbian Carbon, Westinghouse Electric, Paramount, and American Can.

The commodity markets were generally firm, with the exception of sugar. Refiners cut the price of granulated .15 of a cent, to 4.35 cents a pound. Bullish weather and better prices in foreign markets influenced a rise of 1½ to 1⅞ cents in wheat and 2¼ to 2⅝ in corn.

Hog Quotations Good.

Hog prices were quoted at Chicago at the best levels since August of last year. Cotton fluctuated rather erratically, but was well bought on declines and closed 45 to 55 cents a bale higher.

Standard Statistics Co. estimated that farm income would show a reduction of about 12 per cent from last year, but pointed out that this would be less than half the drop experienced in 1921 and added that it should not prove an insurmountable obstacle to trade recovery. Unofficial information reaching Wall street regarding mail order sales has been a little more favorable of late.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to ease. Sterling cables slipped off a little early in the day, but returned to $4.87⅛, unchanged from yesterday. The peseta again sagged.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Corn led an upward flight of grain values today. Authoritative estimates that United States wheat, oats, rye and barley supplies this season lumped together with corn were $3,000,000 bushels short of the actual disappearance of these grains last season did much to bring about the soaring of prices. It was also pointed out that in addition to the shortage of grain, there have been immense losses in potatoes and other root crops as well as sorghums, and forage, and that wheat and rye were approximately 50 cents under prices of a year ago with corn and oats 10 cents under.

Closing quotations on corn were unsettled, 2 to 2¾ cents a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Wheat closed firm, 1½ to 2 cents up, oats 1¼ to 1⅝ cents advanced, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 27 cents.

Friends of higher prices for corn and other cereals contended that the extraordinary damage to the 1930 corn crop should not be regarded individually, but that all the grain crops this season form one inseparable unit such as never before to a like extent has been the case. Tending further in particular to lift the corn market today were official reports indicating that in important areas the corn crop despite recent rains was not better than a week ago.

Advices regarding the corn outlook in northern Illinois were especially pessimistic, although this region has heretofore been considered relatively promising.

One of the foremost unofficial crop experts in the country went on record today as saying the corn prospect in northern Illinois, even where there has been little firing or imperfect pollenization was surprisingly poor owing to the number of ears with kernels so backward that they could not ripen into merchantable grain. He cited for example the Ruth Hanna McCormick farms, where 100 per cent good farming has been used, and where the most advanced fields showed fully one-third of ears of no be in this backward condition, with kernels only one-fourth of the size they should be at this time. Meanwhile, adding to the buoyancy of the corn market was the fact that corn prices showed better than a ten to one feeding ratio, with hogs to-day quoted at the highest figures reached in a year and up since yesterday as much as 50 cents a hundredweight.

Wheat and oats paralleled the action of corn, but wheat gains were checked by word of better weather in Europe and of good harvest weather in Canada with export demand slow today for wheat from North America, on the other hand, failing in reception of domestic winter wheat attracted notice in connection with increasing reports of enlarged use of wheat as feed for livestock.

Provisions reflected the jumps in hog values and also in grain.

BONDS BARELY MOVE IN LISTLESS SESSION

Closing Weak After Easier Money Rates Fail to Give Stimulation.

CALL FUNDS CUT TO 2

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Easier money rates failed to stimulate activity in the listed bond market today, and high-grade issues fluctuated narrowly, in dull trading. The greatest improvement was among second-grade railroad bonds and some inactive issues which have a good rating.

The buying was for straight bond issues of domestic corporations, and despite the firm trend of stocks, most of the active convertibles and warrant bonds lagged at the close. The foreign market was quiet, and United States Governments were neglected.

The volume of trading fell below the previous days of the week, which have been nothing exceptional. Call money dropped on the New York Stock Exchange to 2 per cent after holding at 2½ since August 11, while the money held unchanged.

Rail Issues Climb.

Improvement in railroad obligations helped many issues, which are more or less inactive. Bonds selling at new 1930 peaks included Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisiana general 5s, Brunswick & Western 4s, Canadian National Railways 4½s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Grand Trunk, Canadian 6s, New York & Connecticut 4s, New York Central debenture 4s, Wabash Des Moines divisional 4s and Kentucky Central 4s.

Scioto Valley & New England 4s reappeared in the trading to rise 2⅜ to a new peak. Seaboard Air Line adjustment 5s dropped 6 points. Cuba Railway 5s and 6s, 4 and 3, respectively, all to new lows.

American Telephone bonds were active in the utility group and sold slightly under their previous highs, ruling steady. Brooklyn Union Elevated 5s and Pacific Telephone 5s advanced 1 point to new 1930 highs. Detroit Edison collateral 5s were active and firm.

Few Industrials Soft.

Fisk Rubber 8s, White Sewing Machine 6s and Lehigh Valley Coal 5s were soft spots in the industrial group. Union Oil 6s were strong, gaining a point, and Childs 5s made another new high.

Amusement warant bonds were weak, Loew's 6s and Pathe 7s receding 1¾ points each.

Renewed interest was displayed in French 7½s, and the bond sold within a small fraction of its recent new high. Belgium 7s were active and firm; Poland 7s, German 5½s and Japan 5½s were in demand.

Barn Is Destroyed By Mystery Blaze

Firemen From Culpeper Respond Quickly to an Alarm Near Winston.

(Associated Press.)

Culpeper, Va., Aug. 20.—Fire of unknown origin this afternoon destroyed the large barn of E. E. England, near Winston, 6 miles south of here. All the contents of the barn, ten tons of hay and fifteen tons of straw, both baled, and a large quantity of rye and wheat were destroyed. Several calves in the barn were burned.

The fire started soon after a hay baling crew left the barn, but as the baler was operated by horse power and none of the operators was a smoker, no one knows just how the blaze started. The loss is only partially covered by insurance.

The Culpeper Volunteer Fire Company made the run over country roads to the fire in sixteen minutes after the first alarm sounded.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

CRUSADERS SELECT ALEXANDRIA HEADS

Dr. John T. Ashton Elected President of the Group Against Prohibition.

SCOTT MADE SECRETARY

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Dr. John T. Ashton has been chosen to head a local chapter of the Crusaders, with John C. Scott as secretary, and plans are being made for an intensive campaign for members throughout the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia. The Crusaders are opposed to national prohibition of liquor and in favor of controlling it by Government regulation, State or national, and pledge themselves to support all reasonable, practical steps in the direction of substituting for national prohibition a program of control which shall be just and intelligent, and which, because it shall be acceptable to the majority of the American people, will be capable of fulfillment.

An executive committee has been selected, consisting of Malcolm Matheson, Dr. Peter Boothe Pulman, Thomas J. Moncure, Gardner L. Boothe 2d, Robert G. Carter, Nelson T. Snyder, jr., John U. Reardon, Urban S. Lambert, jr., Charles W. King, T. R. Harrell, Charles Pickett and C. B. Rollins. An active campaign for membership of the young men throughout this section who, after ten years' trial, are dissatisfied with the results of prohibition, will be instituted. A meeting of the officers and executive committee will be held shortly to formulate plans for the membership campaign and later, probably some time in September, it is proposed to hold a banquet in the interest of the membership campaign. Local headquarters will shortly be established.

According to Dr. Ashton, within the next year the Crusaders, which were organized about six months ago, expect to have units in every city of more than 25,000 population and have set a goal of 10,000,000 members by 1932.

Clarence Sweeley, 21 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Sweeley, of Spring Bank Manor, on the Richmond-Washington highway, is a patient in the Alexandria hospital, suffering from internal injuries received in an automobile accident Monday night near Warrenton. Robert D. Woolf, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll D. Woolf, of 311 South Fairfax street, who was less seriously injured in the same accident, and who was taken to the hospital in Warrenton, left there yesterday for Sperryville, where his mother is visiting.

Sweeley and Woolf were on their way from Sperryville when their automobile crashed into a truck said to be owned by the Hudson Produce Co., of Culpeper, which is alleged to have been parked on the road without a tail light. Both young men were taken to the Warrenton hospital, where Sweeley was found to be the more seriously injured, but was able to be moved later to the Alexandria hospital.

The Chamber of Commerce has received the 200 pounds of rain-making powder ordered recently by Dan S. Hollenga, business manager, from Santa Fe, N. Mex., and which is intended to be sprayed on the clouds from an airplane, in the hope of producing rain. No date for the use of the powder has been set, according to officials of the Chamber of Commerce.

Bernard Haynie, 35 years old, Negro, of Baltimore, was arraigned before Police Justice William S. Snow yesterday morning on a charge of transporting and fined $250 and costs and given three months in jail. Haynie and his brother, Leonard Haynie, were arrested by Sergt. Padgett and Policeman McClary at an early hour yesterday morning in the 500 block South Washington street, in an automobile bearing Maryland license tags, and when the car was searched it was found to contain 5 gallons of alcohol and 2 gallons of gin. Leonard Haynie was acquitted.

Dr. T. Marshall Jones, city coroner, in an investigation yesterday of the death of Alberta Richardson, Negro, who died on Tuesday of burns received when an oil stove exploded at her home, 221 North Henry street, gave a verdict of accidental death.

The body of Philip N. Neff, 24 years old, who was fatally injured Tuesday in an airplane accident at Tampa, Fla., will be brought here today and taken to the home of his widow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Anderson, 113 South Alfred street. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mr. Neff, who was a former Navy flyer, but had recently entered commercial aviation, married Miss Nan Louise Anderson about two years ago. She was in Jacksonville, Fla., at the time of the accident, and is accompanying the body home. Mr. Neff was a frequent visitor in Alexandria, where he was well known.

William J. Dailey, of the Hill Directory Co., of Richmond, who has been in charge of the force of canvassers obtaining names for a new city directory, stated yesterday that the work, which has been in progress for four weeks, is completed, and any firm or person not interviewed is asked to communicate with Mr. Dailey, room 13, Smith Building.

The Sunday School of the Methodist Protestant Church will hold a picnic today at Dripping Springs, the bus to leave at 10 a. m., and return at 8 p. m.

Pennsboro Is to Issue $40,000 in Road Bonds

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 20.—Complete figures of the voting in a special election held yesterday at Pennsboro today showed that the proposal to issue $40,000 in bonds for extension and improvement of its waterworks system has carried by 107 votes more than the 80 per cent majority required by law.

The work will be done at once.

Slain Man Is Identified.

Baltimore, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Mystery of the identity of a man known as Andy Clemmons, who was found on a street corner Sunday night with his throat slashed, was partly cleared today with the announcement by police that he was Anthony Klimcak, 57, who came to this country from Poland in 1891. In his pockets was found more than $1,100. Police said they learned he had two sisters in Wisconsin.

ROAD CONGRESS TRIP COVERS VALLEY PIKE

Members Attending Capital Session Will Travel to South.

PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

Richmond, Va., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The old Valley Pike of the Shenandoah, famous in history and rich in legend, will be traveled this fall by members of the Sixth International Road Congress, who plan a trip from Washington southward after the congress is over.

Meeting in Washington on October 6 to 11 at the invitation of the United States Government, the congress will spend six days in studying and discussing all phases of highway construction and maintenance, with parralleling discussions on traffic and administration. Meetings are to be held at Constitution Hall.

Plan Day in Virginia.

All day Friday, October 10, is to be spent in Virginia. During the morning the delegates will travel to the Experiment Station of the United States Bureau of Public Roads at Arlington. A picnic luncheon will be served under auspices of the American Organizing Commission at Mount Vernon, and in the afternoon the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway will be inspected.

Saturday, October 11, the delegates are to spend in Maryland, with an inspection of the Naval Academy at Annapolis in the morning, a reception and luncheon tendered by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, and recreation during the afternoon.

Route of Journey.

The trip through Virginia, to begin following the close of the congress, will carry the delegates from Washington to Warrenton, Sperryville and New Market, thence down the Valley to Natural Bridge, over to Lynchburg, then to Roanoke, Rocky Mount and into North Carolina. It is planned to continue the trip through North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, and then to Detroit and Niagara Falls.

Henry G. Shirley, chairman of the Virginia State Highway Commission, is expected to attend the congress with other State highway officials. Mr. Shirley is one of seven members of the American Organizing Commission of the congress.

The other members are Wilbur J. Carr, of the Department of State; A. J. Brousseau, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; H. H. Rice, of the Highway Education Board; Robert Hooper, of the American Automobile Association; Thomas R. Taylor, of the Department of Commerce, and Charles M. Upham, of the American Road Builder's Association. Mr. Shirley represents the American Assoication of State Highway officials, of which he is a member, on the commission.

Services Are Held For Dr. Reverley

Body of Virginia Pastor Is Taken to Timber Ridge for Interment.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 20.—The body of the Rev. Dr. John Gibson Reverley, 58, who died in a hospital here, following amputation of a leg necessitated by an infection, was taken late yesterday to Timber Ridge, Rockbridge County, Va., for interment. Representatives of Winchester Presbytery took part in funeral services.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Kennedy, of Birmingham, Ala.; four sons, John, Robert and Hughes Reverley, all graduates of Hampden-Sidney College, and William Reverley, at present a student here, and four brothers and one sister.

Born and reared in Rockbridge County, Dr. Reverley received his education at Washington and Lee University and Union Theological Seminary, and received the Ph. D. from a Western university. He served a brief pastorate at Birmingham, Ala., but the remainder of his ministry was given to churches in the Synod of Virginia. He came to the Capon Ridge, W. Va., group of Presbyterian churches in 1922.

Institute for Teachers Opens in Martinsburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 20.—The annual institute for teachers in the State schools in this county opened here today to continue three days, with Miss Bessie D. Kilmer, county superintendent, in charge. A number of teachers from other counties were included in the 175 registering for the sessions, which are required for all who will teach this year.

Instructors here include: O. G. Wilson, Fairmont, superintendent of city schools there; J. H. Rohrabaugh, Clarksburg, superintendent of city schools there; Dr. W. R. Cameron, head of the county health unit here, and Mrs. Katherine Moore, physical director.

SUPERVISORS REFUSE U. S. RIGHT TO LAND

Fairfax County Chiefs Are Adamant in Regard to Highway Dispute.

CHEST CLINIC TO BE HELD

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors at a special meeting yesterday morning again refused to convey the county-owned property at the entrance of the Mount Vernon estate to the Federal Government. They offered instead to representatives of the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, headed by Capt. St. Julien Wilson, who has charge of the construction of the George Washington Memorial highway, a perpetual easement to use this land for park, road or parkway purposes only. On October 7, 1929, the county supervisors gave the Federal Government an easement to use a small tract of land near the entrance of the estate to use in the development of the plaza but did not give them the use of the right of way of the county road which goes to the main gate of the grounds.

When this was discovered Capt. Wilson and his associates began to insist that the county convey all the property to the Government by an absolute deed. They even implied that if the supervisors did not do this they would start condemnation proceedings, as they desired to erect a lunch and rest room where the right of way is located. This they could not do until the Government had an absolute title to the land. Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Farr of Fairfax County, legal adviser to the supervisors, stated that he questioned the right of one governmental agency to condemn the property of another governmental agency and promised to fight condemnation proceedings to the fullest extent. He stated that he would do everything in his power to prevent any such encroachment against a State's rights.

After much wrangling Capt. Wilson still insisted that it was absolutely necessary that the Government have the title vested in it because the site selected was the most logical place for the building.

Commonwealth Attorney Farr asked Capt. Wilson why he insisted on the county conveying all the property when, as a matter of fact, all that it was necessary for them was just the land the building occupied. This was finally admitted by him as being correct, and added that it seemed that the board was splitting hairs. At this point County Engineer F. Novell Larkin, of Fairfax County, threw a bombshell into the meeting, which placed the Government's representatives at a decided disadvantage, so that they were unable to continue their line of argument.

Several maps prepared by the Bureau of Public Roads were exhibited at yesterday's meeting, which showed the completed layout of the plaza and the land in question. These maps were drawn to scale showing all roads, parking spaces, sidewalks and the location of the buildings. This map is like the ones the engineers are following in making their locations, according to the statement of Capt. Wilson in his argument to the supervisors. County Engineer Larkin was examining these in regard to the county's land with an architect's scale when he announced that, according to the plans, the building as shown on the plan would not be on the county's right of way, but, instead, the right of way would run through the land in the rear of the proposed building. Capt. Wilson then stated that he could not give the exact location of the building, but that he was told by the engineers doing the construction work that the building would be on the right of way owned by the county. The board then asked him to give them the exact location of this building before they would act definitely on the question of transfering title. They also stated that inasmuch as the county had had to purchase this land they could not give this land to the Government, but with the Circuit Court's approval they could be authorized to exchange or sell the land under the law.

The supervisors then assured Capt. Wilson and his associate that they would pass a resolution closing the present county road to the entrance and substitute the road built by the Federal Government. Then, if the proposed building is not located on the road right of way, the Bureau of Public Roads then agreed to submit the plans for the exact location of the building and a copy of a formal contract between the county and the Government for the use of this land by the Government for park, road and parking purposes in keeping with the plans of the plaza and to run as long as the Government maintains this land for such purposes.

These plans are to be submitted at the next meeting of the supervisors on September 3. At that time they expect to settle this matter definitely.

The second of the free chest clinics will be held today in the health office at Fairfax, by a specialist from the State Health Department. Dr. Robert E. Feagans, county health officer, and Mrs. Fannie Lou Seamons, county health nurse, are urging all persons that have any suspicion that all is not right with their heart and lungs to attend and have this examination made free of charge.

The clinic for white persons will be held from 9:30 in the morning until noon. The colored clinic will be from 2 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the same office. These clinics are conducted by the State Health Department in conjunction with the county Board of Health.

The meeting of the Fairfax County Firemen's Association, which was scheduled to take place tonight in Falls Church, has been postponed for one week so as not to interfere with the meeting of the Northern Virginia Odd Fellows Association.

The Northern Virginia Odd Fellows Association will hold its meeting tonight in the Odd Fellows Hall in Falls Church. The Falls Church Lodge, I. O. O. F., and the Laurel Rebekah Lodge, No. 44, will act as hosts. The committee on refreshments is headed by Mrs. J. R. Royston, assisted by Mrs. Carrie Harman, Mrs. Cora Abbott, Mrs. Lillian Groves, Mrs. Marie Groves, Miss Margaret Kimball, Miss Jessie Kerns and Miss Bertha Fisher.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Columbia Baptist Church, at Falls Church, will hold its meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Stanbaugh, on Great Falls street. A luncheon will be served at noon by Mrs. H. H. Anderson, Mrs. C. A. Berger and Mrs. U. S. Knox to the members and a few of their friends. The business session will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County Home demonstration agent, will give a demonstration this morning on frozen desserts at a meeting of the Oakton 4-H Club in the Oakton schoolhouse. This afternoon she will attend a meeting of the Home Demonstration Club at Navy, where she will give a demonstration on the preparation and canning of fruits and vegetables. Tomorrow morning she will visit the 4-H Club at Vienna and make another talk concerning frozen desserts. Saturday she will be in her office in the courthouse at Fairfax.

Salesman Expires Suddenly on Train

Charles Leskovits Identified as Resident of City of New York.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 20.—Charles Leskovits, aged about 55, whose home was established, by identification cards found on his body, as 126 West Forty-ninth street, New York City, died of heart trouble on the eastbound Baltimore & Ohio National Limited between Cumberland, Md., and this city this morning, and the body was taken off here and held for disposition by his widow.

Death was held due to natural causes by an examining physician here. Train officials said he had boarded the train at St. Louis and was suffering some time before he expired.

He left his berth to go to the club car, where he died, praying to die. He was a salesman, his business connection being Lees Bros., 112 West Thirty-eighth street, New York. He was a member of the Elks, and a telegram from the Memphis (Tenn.) Lodge reached here inquiring about arrangements.

RITCHIE TO DELIVER FIRE CARNIVAL TALK

Governor's Speech Tonight Will Follow Parade at Upper Marlboro.

GAS HEARING DUE TODAY

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie will attend the annual carnival of the Upper Marlboro Volunteer Fire Department tonight and address the gathering. The speech will follow a parade starting at 6 o'clock through the streets of the town to the Marlboro Fair Grounds, where the carnival is being held. A supper also will be held, with speeches by other prominent men.

The carnival started yesterday and will continue through Saturday. A baby show was the principal attraction last night.

A prize will be awarded the best dressed woman appearing on the grounds Friday night, while on Saturday night the most popular girl will be chosen.

B. Wesley Cranford is chairman of the general committee. Other members are J. L. Fisher, J. Paul Smith, Samuel J. Wyvill, W. B. Posey, William P. McCormick.

The Maryland Public Service Commission will hold a hearing today at its office in Baltimore on the proposed extension of the gas lines of the Washington Gas Light Co to Seat Pleasant, Capitol Heights and Tuxedo. The president of the gas company, George A. G. Wood, and Vice Presidents Fraser and Woodhead will appear at the hearing.

The extension will require the construction of 96,000 feet of gas mains at a cost of $133,000 and is expected to benefit about 1,100 families. Lateral extensions also will be made which will reach 500 more homes inside the District line. The extension is part of a $600,000 program of expansion in Maryland and Virginia.

Four more typhus cases have been reported to the office of the Prince Georges County health officer, two in Hyattsville and two in Upper Marlboro. This makes a total of ten cases in the county this year. Dr. Hooton, the health officer, has not as yet completed an investigation of possible sources of infection.

Republicans May Choose Goetz for State Senate

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 20.—Republicans of the Fifteenth District, who failed to nominate a candidate for the State Senate at the August 5 primary, intend to offer the nomination to Col. George B. Goetz, wealthy Jefferson County harness manufacturer, according to reports which are being circulated in the Jefferson-Berkeley-Morgan-Hampshire District.

If Col. Goetz accepts the nomination, he will face Robert White, of Romney, former prosecuting attorney for Hampshire County, in the fall election. The executive committee of the G. O. P. has the authority to name Col. Goetz, due to the failure of any Republican to file for the primary.

ATTENDANCE LARGE AT ROCKVILLE FAIR

Crowd Double That of Last Year; Victors at Flower Show Announced.

BABIES' CONTEST TODAY

The second day of the seventy-seventh annual Rockville Fair closed last evening with the announcement by the fair officials that the gate receipts this year had been, so far, double those of last year.

With the promise of continued fair weather, the fair officials declared themselves confident that the show this year, despite the farm depression and drought, would be one of the most successful in the history of the organization. The cattle show was rated by the judges as the finest in fifteen years.

The baby show will be the big event of this morning at the fair grounds. Judging will begin at 10 o'clock.

Results of the flower show, which this year has been one of the main attractions of the fair, were announced yesterday.

Veterans' Bureau Use Of Reserves Is Urged

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Assignment of all Medical Corps reserve officers to the United States Veterans' Bureau for 15 days' active duty anhually to relieve delay in acting upon compensation claims was proposed by C. M. Jones, State service officer and member of the national executive committee of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, in a letter to President Hoover.

The plan, Jones said in his letter, which he made public today, was worked out by the executive committee of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, to meet congestion in Veterans' Bureau regional offices, "brought about by the recent liberalization of laws affecting World War veterans."

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA, going from room to room, was busy with pad and pencil; jotting down notes.

"What're you doing now?" I asked, wondering.

"Taking inventory," she said, a worried look on her face.

After office hours, when I came home, she was still at it. "Did you find anything missing, Luella?"

"Did I find anything missing? We're practically wiped out!"

"What d'ye mean, wiped out?"

"Just that. Burglars have been amongst us."

"No!"

"Yes!"

So it seemed. The list was appalling. While on vacation, some one raided the house. What we jokingly called the wine cellar had been despoiled. The insides of the radio were missing. Luella lost seven dresses and a fur coat. Most all my winter raiment had vanished.

"Anything else?" I asked, as she read out the list.

"Unless I'm mistaken," she sighed, "the silverware is gone, too!"

"Gone to, where?"

"It isn't in the sideboard, anyway."

* * * *

IT occurred to me, then, that Luella had given me the silverware to take somewhere; down to the office, to put in the safe, or over to her Aunt Minnie's, or some place—I just couldn't remember; but the fact was recalled.

"Didn't you pack it in a basket, and give it to me to take some place?"

A strange light dawned in her eyes: "You're right," she snapped, "I did give it to you. What'id yuh do with it?"

What did I do with it? There was the question.

Luella grew suspicious: "You didn't pawn the silverware, did you?"

She hit the nail on the head. That's just what happened, but it couldn't be told now; that all her precious wedding presents were down at "Old Uncle Ben's."

"Answer me," shouted Luella: "What did you do with the plate silver?"

"Let's see, now——," I fumbled, stalling for time.

Luella was exasperated: "This is certainly the limit," she commented. "A man takes out the family silver and doesn't even know what he did with it."

"I—— I——"

"What did you do with it?" she demanded.

"Well, if you must know the truth," I confessed, "I— I——"

"I know the truth now," she devined, "you pawned it, didn't you?"

Caught, all I could do was bow my head in shame.

The problem now is to get back the family treasure.

PROSPECTS GLOOMY FOR VIRGINIA APPLES

Report Shows Supply Will Be Less and Prices May Take Drop.

CROP OVER U. S. LARGER

Richmond, Va., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The August report on farm prices issued by the United States Department of Agriculture is not encouraging to Virginia apple growers, whose prospects have been estimated by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service to be 1,000,000 barrels under last year's production.

A supply of apples for the Nation 4,000,000 bushels in excess of last year's is forecast by the Department of Agriculture for a total of 146,000,000 bushels. Decreases in the North Central and South Atlantic States, says the report, have been more than offset by increased production in the North Atlantic and far Western States.

With special reference to Virginia, the report says that here, where prices appear to depend very largely on the national and local supply, it would seem that the considerably reduced production would sustain prices above last year's level. "But since business is subnormal," the report points out, "the full influence of reduced local supplies may not materialize. The shortage is liely to be reflected more toward the end of the 1930-31 season than in the next few months."

For the country as a whole, the report says, the larger apple crop is likely to bring a smaller income than last year's because of the lower level of food prices in general and because of the reduced purchasing power of consumers in this country and abroad.

Farm prices from June 15 to July 15 declined 10 per cent, the report goes on, the greatest monthly decline in the last 20 years, except for the months of November and December in 1920, when the post-war deflation was in full swing.

"Practically all commodities included in the index contributed to the decline," says the report. "Grain prices dropped 13 per cent, fruit and vegetable prices 10 per cent, meat animal prices 10 per cent, cotton and cottonseed 14 per cent, dairy products 3 per cent and poultry products 2 per cent. Some of these price declines appear to be related to the further reduction in business activity and in the buying power of consumers which took place in July, and others to increased marketings and crop conditions in July.

"Since July 15 there has been some recovery from the unusually low levels, particularly in grains, hogs, butter and eggs. The reduced production together with the lower level of farm prices is resulting in a greatly reduced cash income from this season's marketings."

Catholic Women Reelect President

Birth Control and Service Control Hit at Parley in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Mrs Sophia Catherine Wavering, of Quincy, Ill., has been reelected president of the National Catholic Women's Union, it was announced today, and Willibald Eibner, of New Ulm, Minn., reelected president of the Catholic Central Verein of America.

The election was held yesterday at a session at which the women's organization adopted resolutions opposing birth control and jury service for women.

"Unreasonable efficiency methods by which one worker is required to do the work of two" and the refusal of employers to hire persons over a certain age were condemned in resolutions approved at the closing session of the verein today.

Other resolutions condemned the practice of married women entering commercial and industrial life, when their husbands are steadily employed at adequate wages.

Bedford Man Shot Dead In Quarrel With Wife

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., Aug. 19.—Peter Bryant, 52, colored, was shot and killed by his wife, Easter Bryant, at their home at Goode, Monday. There was trouble between Easter and her stepson, Cleveland Bryant, over a silver spoon, and the father of the young man intervened, trying, it is said, to stop the quarrel. The father and son became engaged in a fight, and Easter ran out of the house with a gun and shot, she said, to kill the son. The load from the gun entered the body of the father, however, and he died almost instantly.

The Negro woman was arrested and given a hearing before Ray Wilkes, justice of the peace, and sent on to the grand jury. The accused was allowed bail, L. C. Booth furnishing bond for $5,000.

ROSSLYN BUSINESS GROUP ORGANIZES

B. W. Spille Leader of New Association Formed in Arlington County.

WATER-EXTENSION BOON

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Meeting last night in the Arlington Trust Bank Building at Rosslyn, organization of the Rosslyn Business Men's Association was perfected with election of B. W. Spille as president. Other officers are Joseph L. Crupper, jr., vice president; Alan B. Proske, treasurer, and N. R. Pond, secretary.

Members of the board of directors are Mr. Crupper, David R. Collins, J. V. Davis, L. W. Douglas, John E. Fowler, L. H. Greathouse, C. W. Healy, Mr. Proske, Mr. Spille and Fred N. Windridge.

The object of the organization is advancement of the commercial and industrial interests of the Rosslyn section of Arlington County.

Stressing the need of such an organization, leaders in the movement pointed to the rapid business advancement that has been made in the Rosslyn section during the past two years. Several enterprises of national character are located in this section, which is served by two trunk line railroads. The receipts of the Rosslyn postoffice, it was stated, exceed in volumn the total receipts of the entire remainder of the county.

Extension of the county water system into the East Falls Church section of Arlington County, it was learned last night, is affording much relief to citizens residing just outside of the limits of the town, where many wells have gone dry as a result of the continued drought. The water department is busy keeping up with applications for house connections, which are being filed with the department daily.

"A question that should be given serious consideration with the rapid development of Arlington County is the establishment of a more adequate police, and that policemen will not be subject to call 24 hours," declared Sheriff Howard B. Fields last night.

Records show that under the administration of Sheriff Howard B. Fields, enforcement of the prohibition law in Arlington County has not been equalled in any other county within the State, and it is freely stated that the force should be increased.

Sheriff Fields has on his force eight full-time men, subject to call 24 hours every day, and, with two main highways leading from Washington to the South and carrying more traffic than any other State roads, it is impossible to give the county the police protection it needs, it is held.

Sheriff Fields appreciates the need of more men and has made many attempts to have the county board of supervisors provide them. He is helpless now to relieve the long hours the men are called upon to work.

Many believe the county should have twelve men, working eight-hour shifts. With the extra part-time men whom the sheriff has, it is considered that the county then would have a modern police force.

According to records in the county clerk's office, Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth filed 46 additional suits for the collection of delinquent real estate taxes yesterday.

Mr. Gloth has, including those of yesterday, filed a total of 840 suits for collection of delinquent real estate taxes of 1927 and before. In accordance with provisions of an act of the General Assembly, the suits are all filed in the name of the Commonwealth.

Expressing appreciation at the decision of the judges at the annual parade given last Saturday by the Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association, in having been awarded the $25 cash prize for having the best decorated float, Mrs. R. E. Kendrick, president of the ladies' auxiliary of the Falls Church Fire Department, returned the check to Chairman John R. Moesburg, asking that it be accepted as the auxiliary's donation to the carnival fund, to be used to aid sick and injured firemen and their families in case of death.

Correcting an impression that appears to be general in the county that the commission form of government and the commission form with a county manager are one and the same, members of the committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation point out that there are three forms being studied, incorporation, commission form, and the county manager with five persons elected at large to form a county commission or board. In the commission form, the commissioners, five in number, also are elected at large.

The committee will meet in joint session with committees from the Arlington County Bar Association and the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce tonight at the home of William D. Medley, Rucker avenue, Lyon Village. Final reports will be submitted by subcommittees and a vote taken on which form of government is best for Arlington County.

It is generally understood that the committee will favor the county manager form, with the election of five persons to constitute a county board.

The committee's report will be submitted to the federation at its September meeting. It is hoped to hold a special election on the question in November.

PRISONER IS DYING FROM GUARD SHOTS

Occoquan Inmate Slashes Official and Is Felled by Two Bullets.

SECOND MAN ALSO HIT

Shot twice by a guard whom he had slashed with a knife, a colored prisoner who was held at the District Workhouse, at Occoquan, is dying at Gallinger Hospital. The condition of the guard is said to be not serious.

In the first attack on the official the colored man, Harry Moore, 43, knocked the gun from the guard's hand. It was handed back to the keeper by another prisoner who ran to the rescue of the guard, John A. Tyers.

Tyers fired once, but did not stop the rush of his attacker. His second bullet, lodging in the man's hip, felled him. The first bullet went completely through Moore's body, near the heart, and struck another prisoner, Arthur Templeton, in the head. Templeton was not badly hurt.

The melee started when Tyers went to a dormitory early yesterday morning to line the men up to march to work. Moore struck him on the head with a blunt instrument, felling him. As he dropped, the gun he had drawn slipped from his grasp. The name of the prisoner who returned it was not learned. Tyers arose, and Moore rushed at him again, drawing a knife.

In spite of the two shots, Moore succeeded in slashing the guard on each side of the neck and on the scalp. Both men were taken to Gallinger Hospital, where doctors were working on the colored man in an attempt to save his life.

Moore was sentenced to 360 days for assault on another colored man. It is said that he attacked the other man with a knife in the rear of Center Market last April.

Furniture Firms In Virginia Unite

Bassett and Martinsville Companies Agree on $5 000,000 Deal.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Aug. 20.—The stockholders of the Bassett Furniture Co., of Bassett, and the W. M. Bassett Furniture Corporation, of Martinsville, this afternoon adopted by unanimous vote a plan of consolidation by which a holding corporation, called the Bassett Furniture Industries, Inc., is to be formed to acquire the common stock of the present companies and to thereby control them in their future operations. The consolidated companies will have an invested capital of about $5,000,000, representing the present value of the assets of the combined companies without any increase for good will or earning ability.

The new combination will operate six large modern factories, producing between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 worth of furniture a year.

The combination will represent the formation of the largest furniture factory in the South and one of the largest in the country. J. D. Bassett, pioneer of the furniture business in Virginia, is to be president of the new company.
